

The Fredericton L5 Society chapter, one of a hundred chapters worldwide, is looking for new members who want to take a hand in colonizing space. At the Tuesday meeting the group will be looking at two National Aeronautics and Space Administration productions entitled Apollo 16: Nothing So Hidden and Four Room Earth View, the story of Skylab. Both these films have outstanding footage including the lunar rover hot-dogging on the moon's surface and extravehicular activity around Skylab in low Earth orbit. Also the National Exhibition Center is still showing 'Exploration of the Planets' a selection of 31 of NASA's most significant and visually stunning photographs of the sun, the planets and their moons until Wednesday, September 21st.

If you have questions about space on the L5 Society call Alan Hildebrand at 363-2050.

I THINK WE'RE IN TROUBLE GUYS

DON'T LET IT BOTHER YOU. LOTS OF FIGHTERS HAVE SWORDS THAT ARE SMARTER THAN THEY ARE.

NOT ONLY IS IT A +2 OVERCOAT BUT IT PROTECTS ME FROM BECOMING CHEESECAKE.
