

The seconde Relation.

the flood of the Sea runneth, so swift, that it cannot possibly be swifter. That day we came to S. Laurence his Cape, which is 45. degrees and halfe towards the South, we named it S. Pauls Cape, it is at 47. degrees, and a quarter. The Sunday following, being the fourth of June and Whitson-day, we hadde notice of the coaste lying East Southeast distant from the new found land aboute 22. leagues: and because the wind was against vs, we went to a Haven, which we named S. Spiritus Port, where wee stayed till Tuesday that we departed thence, sayling along that coaste untill wee came to S. Peters Ilandes. There found along the saide coaste many very dangerous Ilands and Shelves, whereby we all in the waye East Southeast, and West Northweast about 23. leagues into the Sea. Whilst we were in the said S. Peters Ilandes we met with many ships of France and of Britaine, we stayed there from S. Barnabas day, being the 11. of month, until the 16. that we departed thence and came to the Cape of Ras, and entred into a Port called Rogaoso, where we took in freshwater, and woud to passe the sea: there we leste one of our boates. Then upon Monday, being the 19. of June, we went from that Port, and wyth suche good and prosperous weather we sailed along the Sea, in such sorte, that upon the 6. of June. 1536. we came to the Port of S. Malo, by the grace of God, to whom we pray, here ending oure Navigation, that of his infinite mercie he will graunte vs his grace and fauoure, and in the end, bring vs to the place of everlasting felicitie. AMEN.

Here foloweth the language of the Country, and Kingdomes of Hochelaga and Canada, of vs called Newe Fraunce:
