

SUBSCRIBERS.

We are prepared to receive names for the subscription list of next year for the Wesleyan. We will send the paper from this date to any subscriber till 1st of January, 1874, at $2.25.

THE BOOK ROOM.

The Executive Book Committee met on Friday afternoon last. The principal matter under consideration was the sale of the Conference property in Argyle street, and the occupation of other premises.

The Book-room will consequently be removed to 125 Granville Street, on the 1st of October, where we hope to use our new advantages for the benefit of our brother ministers and the community at large.

THE RECEPTION MEETING AT BRUNSWICK STREET.—After singing and prayer by Rev. John Reed, the meeting was addressed by the President of the Conference. He expressed gratitude for journeying mercies.

He briefly alluded to the Newcastle Conference. They had heard men from all quarters of the great mission field, men eminent for learning, piety and good works.

The business which our Conference had entrusted to them was cordially taken up. A committee of the best men was appointed to take our union measures into mature consideration.

After a few words of introduction, each of the young men spoke in turn. Their remarks were confined to a line of thought familiar to our readers from reports of ordination services.

Several conclusions were easily reached in listening to those brethren. The importance of a change of heart, so conclusive as to beyond temptation or cavil, was at the root of their education.

Dr. Pickett spoke briefly. He confirmed much that Dr. Stewart had said of the English work and our own prospects. The impetus given by Halifax laymen to Home Missions, and the connection of that work with the present meeting, were happily presented.

THOMAS MILLER IN HALIFAX.—This noble veteran in the Christian service was with us on Monday evening last, at a meeting in Temperance Hall, he and Mr. McBurnie of the New York Y. M. C. Association, delivered addresses. There was much in common with their own American meetings.

THE CHILDREN'S FUND IN THE IRISH CONFERENCE.—A new scheme is on trial in the Emerald Isle,—that scheme of Methodist conflict and conquest. This is the report in their Minutes.—

The rate of appointment shall be £25 per minister, and it shall be laid upon both circuits and mission stations; the balance required shall be contributed by the Home Mission and Contingent Fund.

Should this sum be more than the allowances for the children of ministers stationed not later than the first week in October, January and April, respectively, for the first three quarters, and immediately after the meeting of Conference, for the last quarter.

American visitors, if not their own public speakers, will be especially grateful to them. Mr. McBurnie received several eulogiums at the meeting.

DEPUTATIONS.—The Conference in Ireland has a feature of missionary operation which commends itself strongly to our judgment. A minister for each District is appointed by the Conference to attend the Missionary meetings.

We are pleased to find the fine article of Prof. Prentice, reviewing Arnold's book, copied in full into the columns of the Provincial Wesleyan, and to read the deserved tribute of praise given in the editorial columns to this vigorous and keen writer.

We can assure our brother editor that the omission was only noticed by us after publication. Of course the Herald is forever shedding light on its more youthful contemporaries; and it could afford to shine, like other sons, without acknowledgment or praise.

Correspondence.

BAIE DE VERTE CIRCUIT.

DEAR MR. EDITOR.—It has been my intention for some time past to communicate a few items of Church intelligence for insertion in your Conference organ, and your recent excellent editorial on this particular subject, has produced quite a stimulating effect upon my mind.

The Church Chronicle closes an article, professing to treat upon our recent strictures, in this language:— "The Church Chronicle defends confession to the Priest."

REVIEWING THE SITUATION.—The organ of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada, referring to the remarks of Dr. Neiles before the Wesleyan Conference touching Union says:—

These admissions, endorsed with "great cheerfulness" by the British Conference, are no small tribute to the wiser policy of our own communion, and the necessity that always existed for Confederated Annual Conferences, and for Episcopal Methodism in Canada.

The history of Methodism, after the death of Wesley, gives no support to the above opinion. He ruled during his life as a General Superintendent; but he made careful provision for the subsequent regulation of Methodism in a way which secures every safeguard under an annual election of chief officers.

The imputation thrown upon the Wesleyan Conference of seeking to "check-mate" (we believe the word means some move which defeats an opponent and ends the game) the Episcopal, is very ungenerous.

THE ADVOCATE thus concludes:— "If the sentiments published in the Provincial Wesleyan shall be ratified in the final action, we hope there may be a call for the Union Committees of the bodies, free to act, for the purpose of union."

THE CHILDREN'S FUND IN THE IRISH CONFERENCE.—A new scheme is on trial in the Emerald Isle,—that scheme of Methodist conflict and conquest. This is the report in their Minutes.—

The rate of appointment shall be £25 per minister, and it shall be laid upon both circuits and mission stations; the balance required shall be contributed by the Home Mission and Contingent Fund.

Should this sum be more than the allowances for the children of ministers stationed not later than the first week in October, January and April, respectively, for the first three quarters, and immediately after the meeting of Conference, for the last quarter.

trust in thee." Although his body was weakened by disease, and almost deprived of the power of speech, yet his intellect was strong and his mind vigorous to the last.

DEPARTURES.—The Conference in Ireland has a feature of missionary operation which commends itself strongly to our judgment. A minister for each District is appointed by the Conference to attend the Missionary meetings.

We are pleased to find the fine article of Prof. Prentice, reviewing Arnold's book, copied in full into the columns of the Provincial Wesleyan, and to read the deserved tribute of praise given in the editorial columns to this vigorous and keen writer.

We can assure our brother editor that the omission was only noticed by us after publication. Of course the Herald is forever shedding light on its more youthful contemporaries; and it could afford to shine, like other sons, without acknowledgment or praise.

Correspondence.

BAIE DE VERTE CIRCUIT.

DEAR MR. EDITOR.—It has been my intention for some time past to communicate a few items of Church intelligence for insertion in your Conference organ, and your recent excellent editorial on this particular subject, has produced quite a stimulating effect upon my mind.

The Church Chronicle closes an article, professing to treat upon our recent strictures, in this language:— "The Church Chronicle defends confession to the Priest."

REVIEWING THE SITUATION.—The organ of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada, referring to the remarks of Dr. Neiles before the Wesleyan Conference touching Union says:—

These admissions, endorsed with "great cheerfulness" by the British Conference, are no small tribute to the wiser policy of our own communion, and the necessity that always existed for Confederated Annual Conferences, and for Episcopal Methodism in Canada.

The history of Methodism, after the death of Wesley, gives no support to the above opinion. He ruled during his life as a General Superintendent; but he made careful provision for the subsequent regulation of Methodism in a way which secures every safeguard under an annual election of chief officers.

The imputation thrown upon the Wesleyan Conference of seeking to "check-mate" (we believe the word means some move which defeats an opponent and ends the game) the Episcopal, is very ungenerous.

THE ADVOCATE thus concludes:— "If the sentiments published in the Provincial Wesleyan shall be ratified in the final action, we hope there may be a call for the Union Committees of the bodies, free to act, for the purpose of union."

THE CHILDREN'S FUND IN THE IRISH CONFERENCE.—A new scheme is on trial in the Emerald Isle,—that scheme of Methodist conflict and conquest. This is the report in their Minutes.—

The rate of appointment shall be £25 per minister, and it shall be laid upon both circuits and mission stations; the balance required shall be contributed by the Home Mission and Contingent Fund.

Should this sum be more than the allowances for the children of ministers stationed not later than the first week in October, January and April, respectively, for the first three quarters, and immediately after the meeting of Conference, for the last quarter.

trust in thee." Although his body was weakened by disease, and almost deprived of the power of speech, yet his intellect was strong and his mind vigorous to the last.

DEPARTURES.—The Conference in Ireland has a feature of missionary operation which commends itself strongly to our judgment. A minister for each District is appointed by the Conference to attend the Missionary meetings.

We are pleased to find the fine article of Prof. Prentice, reviewing Arnold's book, copied in full into the columns of the Provincial Wesleyan, and to read the deserved tribute of praise given in the editorial columns to this vigorous and keen writer.

We can assure our brother editor that the omission was only noticed by us after publication. Of course the Herald is forever shedding light on its more youthful contemporaries; and it could afford to shine, like other sons, without acknowledgment or praise.

Correspondence.

BAIE DE VERTE CIRCUIT.

DEAR MR. EDITOR.—It has been my intention for some time past to communicate a few items of Church intelligence for insertion in your Conference organ, and your recent excellent editorial on this particular subject, has produced quite a stimulating effect upon my mind.

The Church Chronicle closes an article, professing to treat upon our recent strictures, in this language:— "The Church Chronicle defends confession to the Priest."

REVIEWING THE SITUATION.—The organ of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada, referring to the remarks of Dr. Neiles before the Wesleyan Conference touching Union says:—

These admissions, endorsed with "great cheerfulness" by the British Conference, are no small tribute to the wiser policy of our own communion, and the necessity that always existed for Confederated Annual Conferences, and for Episcopal Methodism in Canada.

The history of Methodism, after the death of Wesley, gives no support to the above opinion. He ruled during his life as a General Superintendent; but he made careful provision for the subsequent regulation of Methodism in a way which secures every safeguard under an annual election of chief officers.

The imputation thrown upon the Wesleyan Conference of seeking to "check-mate" (we believe the word means some move which defeats an opponent and ends the game) the Episcopal, is very ungenerous.

THE ADVOCATE thus concludes:— "If the sentiments published in the Provincial Wesleyan shall be ratified in the final action, we hope there may be a call for the Union Committees of the bodies, free to act, for the purpose of union."

THE CHILDREN'S FUND IN THE IRISH CONFERENCE.—A new scheme is on trial in the Emerald Isle,—that scheme of Methodist conflict and conquest. This is the report in their Minutes.—

The rate of appointment shall be £25 per minister, and it shall be laid upon both circuits and mission stations; the balance required shall be contributed by the Home Mission and Contingent Fund.

Should this sum be more than the allowances for the children of ministers stationed not later than the first week in October, January and April, respectively, for the first three quarters, and immediately after the meeting of Conference, for the last quarter.

LETTER FROM G. O. H.

DEAR BROTHER: The weather since the storm has been beautiful. The destruction of the grain—anticipated immediately after the hurricane—will not be very great, unless it be near the shore, where the salt spray was more injurious than the wind.

Our metropolis of late has been abundantly supplied with intellectual and spiritual reports. First the Sabbath School Convention, fraught with instructive experiences and wise suggestions from aged and youthful workers in this department of christianity.

The motion was to the effect:—1. That a Committee be appointed to sit during the year to obtain legal advice as to whether laymen take part in the proceedings of the Conference; (2) If allowable, to consider under what regulations they should be admitted; (3) If not allowable, to prepare a plan for the better regulation of the Committees of Review.

The relation of communicants to the Church was the subject of conversation. Confessedly it was closely involved in the spiritual prosperity and future progress of the Methodist Church.

Our Financial District meeting took place on the day and in the place intimated by the notice which appeared in the Wesleyan of the 20th ult. viz. in P. E. Island. All the Brethren in the District found their way to Charlottetown, where, after a brief visit to take part in the opening exercises of the beginning of the present term in our flourishing Academy here, we hastened to enjoy the delightful fellowship peculiar to Methodist preachers.

The circular from the Presbyterian body respecting the Antigonish riot, was brought before the meeting, and an expression of sympathy, similar to that conveyed in the resolutions on that subject by the Truro District meeting, was elicited.

I hope whenever any young men arrive from England, the President will direct one to this district in order that the want for ministerial help at Egmont Bay may be supplied.

Miscellaneous.

THE NEWCASTLE CONFERENCE.—The British Conference recently closed at Newcastle, has been probably one of the most important and influential in the annals of Methodism.

Nothing is more natural than that members of the Church of England, looking anything for that name, should look with wistful and envious eyes at the numerous and the prosperous body claiming John Wesley as its patriarch and apostle.

The British Conference recently closed at Newcastle, has been probably one of the most important and influential in the annals of Methodism. The profound impress it produced upon the public mind is indicated by the following paragraph from an able article in the Times:—

Nothing is more natural than that members of the Church of England, looking anything for that name, should look with wistful and envious eyes at the numerous and the prosperous body claiming John Wesley as its patriarch and apostle.

The British Conference recently closed at Newcastle, has been probably one of the most important and influential in the annals of Methodism. The profound impress it produced upon the public mind is indicated by the following paragraph from an able article in the Times:—

Nothing is more natural than that members of the Church of England, looking anything for that name, should look with wistful and envious eyes at the numerous and the prosperous body claiming John Wesley as its patriarch and apostle.

The British Conference recently closed at Newcastle, has been probably one of the most important and influential in the annals of Methodism. The profound impress it produced upon the public mind is indicated by the following paragraph from an able article in the Times:—

Nothing is more natural than that members of the Church of England, looking anything for that name, should look with wistful and envious eyes at the numerous and the prosperous body claiming John Wesley as its patriarch and apostle.

strengthened by what they have seen, and felt among us for greater toil and endurance in their various fields of labour.

Our metropolis of late has been abundantly supplied with intellectual and spiritual reports. First the Sabbath School Convention, fraught with instructive experiences and wise suggestions from aged and youthful workers in this department of christianity.

The motion was to the effect:—1. That a Committee be appointed to sit during the year to obtain legal advice as to whether laymen take part in the proceedings of the Conference; (2) If allowable, to consider under what regulations they should be admitted; (3) If not allowable, to prepare a plan for the better regulation of the Committees of Review.

The relation of communicants to the Church was the subject of conversation. Confessedly it was closely involved in the spiritual prosperity and future progress of the Methodist Church.

Our Financial District meeting took place on the day and in the place intimated by the notice which appeared in the Wesleyan of the 20th ult. viz. in P. E. Island. All the Brethren in the District found their way to Charlottetown, where, after a brief visit to take part in the opening exercises of the beginning of the present term in our flourishing Academy here, we hastened to enjoy the delightful fellowship peculiar to Methodist preachers.

The circular from the Presbyterian body respecting the Antigonish riot, was brought before the meeting, and an expression of sympathy, similar to that conveyed in the resolutions on that subject by the Truro District meeting, was elicited.

I hope whenever any young men arrive from England, the President will direct one to this district in order that the want for ministerial help at Egmont Bay may be supplied.

Miscellaneous.

THE NEWCASTLE CONFERENCE.—The British Conference recently closed at Newcastle, has been probably one of the most important and influential in the annals of Methodism.

Nothing is more natural than that members of the Church of England, looking anything for that name, should look with wistful and envious eyes at the numerous and the prosperous body claiming John Wesley as its patriarch and apostle.

The British Conference recently closed at Newcastle, has been probably one of the most important and influential in the annals of Methodism. The profound impress it produced upon the public mind is indicated by the following paragraph from an able article in the Times:—

Nothing is more natural than that members of the Church of England, looking anything for that name, should look with wistful and envious eyes at the numerous and the prosperous body claiming John Wesley as its patriarch and apostle.

The British Conference recently closed at Newcastle, has been probably one of the most important and influential in the annals of Methodism. The profound impress it produced upon the public mind is indicated by the following paragraph from an able article in the Times:—

Nothing is more natural than that members of the Church of England, looking anything for that name, should look with wistful and envious eyes at the numerous and the prosperous body claiming John Wesley as its patriarch and apostle.

The British Conference recently closed at Newcastle, has been probably one of the most important and influential in the annals of Methodism. The profound impress it produced upon the public mind is indicated by the following paragraph from an able article in the Times:—

Nothing is more natural than that members of the Church of England, looking anything for that name, should look with wistful and envious eyes at the numerous and the prosperous body claiming John Wesley as its patriarch and apostle.

THE "TIMES" ON THE WESLEYANS.

The Nonconformist, in its first issue, says:—"It is said among the Unitarians that the Times at length come to recognize Wesleyanism in its undiluted state as a great gain."

Our metropolis of late has been abundantly supplied with intellectual and spiritual reports. First the Sabbath School Convention, fraught with instructive experiences and wise suggestions from aged and youthful workers in this department of christianity.

The motion was to the effect:—1. That a Committee be appointed to sit during the year to obtain legal advice as to whether laymen take part in the proceedings of the Conference; (2) If allowable, to consider under what regulations they should be admitted; (3) If not allowable, to prepare a plan for the better regulation of the Committees of Review.

The relation of communicants to the Church was the subject of conversation. Confessedly it was closely involved in the spiritual prosperity and future progress of the Methodist Church.

Our Financial District meeting took place on the day and in the place intimated by the notice which appeared in the Wesleyan of the 20th ult. viz. in P. E. Island. All the Brethren in the District found their way to Charlottetown, where, after a brief visit to take part in the opening exercises of the beginning of the present term in our flourishing Academy here, we hastened to enjoy the delightful fellowship peculiar to Methodist preachers.

The circular from the Presbyterian body respecting the Antigonish riot, was brought before the meeting, and an expression of sympathy, similar to that conveyed in the resolutions on that subject by the Truro District meeting, was elicited.

I hope whenever any young men arrive from England, the President will direct one to this district in order that the want for ministerial help at Egmont Bay may be supplied.

Miscellaneous.

THE NEWCASTLE CONFERENCE.—The British Conference recently closed at Newcastle, has been probably one of the most important and influential in the annals of Methodism.

Nothing is more natural than that members of the Church of England, looking anything for that name, should look with wistful and envious eyes at the numerous and the prosperous body claiming John Wesley as its patriarch and apostle.

The British Conference recently closed at Newcastle, has been probably one of the most important and influential in the annals of Methodism. The profound impress it produced upon the public mind is indicated by the following paragraph from an able article in the Times:—

Nothing is more natural than that members of the Church of England, looking anything for that name, should look with wistful and envious eyes at the numerous and the prosperous body claiming John Wesley as its patriarch and apostle.

The British Conference recently closed at Newcastle, has been probably one of the most important and influential in the annals of Methodism. The profound impress it produced upon the public mind is indicated by the following paragraph from an able article in the Times:—

Nothing is more natural than that members of the Church of England, looking anything for that name, should look with wistful and envious eyes at the numerous and the prosperous body claiming John Wesley as its patriarch and apostle.

The British Conference recently closed at Newcastle, has been probably one of the most important and influential in the annals of Methodism. The profound impress it produced upon the public mind is indicated by the following paragraph from an able article in the Times:—

Nothing is more natural than that members of the Church of England, looking anything for that name, should look with wistful and envious eyes at the numerous and the prosperous body claiming John Wesley as its patriarch and apostle.