Che family Who are Rich !

Who are the rich ?- the favoured few Whose hands their dazzling treasure h With luxury dock their halls, and strew Their paths with gold ?

No; for the wealth so proudly got, Is borrowed all : the fatal bond May grant it to the grave, but not An hour beyond.

They are the rich, whose treasures lie In hearts, not hands-in heaven, not he Whose ways are marked by pity's sigh, And mercy's tear.

No borrowed wealth, no failing store : These treasure of the soul remain Its own ; and when to live is o'er, To die is gain.

Who are the poor ?- the humble race Who dwell where luxury never shene-Perchance without one friendly face, Save God's alone.

No ! for the meek and lowly mind, Still following where the Saviour trod, Though poor in all, may richly find The peace of God.

They are the poor who, rich in gold, Confiding in that faithless store, Or tremble for the wealth they hold, Or thirst for more -

Whose hands are fettered by its touch Whose lips no generous duty pleud ; Go, mourn their poverty, for such Are poor indeed !

has bat a small surface, comparatively, to act at upon; therefore plants grow alowly where the entire soil is one complete eled, or is little elec but lumps. PALL PLOWING. Frost-freesing and thaving of a soil, exerts a very important influence in securing the com-plete pulverisation of all soils. But when a soil has been plowed several monthe before the time of frost it becomes consolidated, and the frost will not exert half the influence, in its more thorough pulverisation, than it would were it bat recently plowed. For this reason, plowing early in autamn-where thorough pulverisation is the chief object --will not be as effectual as late plowing, or even plowing in the winter. If the rais and frosts of winter can be in operaties, when a soil is run-ning together, after it has been plowed, the pul-werisation will be more than this, the more omplete the pul-verisation will be under any other circumstances. And more than this, the more complete the pul-verisation is, the donger that soil will remain And more than this, the more complete the pul-verisation is, the donger that soil will remain
