International Bible Lessons for Tomorrow—Jesus and the Sabbath—12, 1-18.

Golden Text—"It is lawful to do well on the Sabbath day."

Here are two Sabbath day incidents in our Lord's ministry—one a necessary work, the other one of mercy. As usual, Scribes, Pharisees and hypocrites, religious fault-finders, were around, and shocked to see His hungry disciples, whom no one invites to a Sunday dinner, trying to satisfy themselves by rubbing out the ears as they went through a grain field; Jesus defends them by quoting a grave breach of the law, by David and his men eating the consecrated bread to satisfy their hunger; also the fact that the priests labored on the Sabbath, and more than any other day, yet were blameless, because they were in the service of the temple, while these disciples were in the service of the Lord of the Temple and of the Sabbath. Many religious people, who are in the spirit of these fault-finders, but not in the spirit of Christ, now condemn all who do not keep the Sabbath day holy, although the Lord of the Sabbath attends with all those who assemble in His name, and worship Him in spirit and in truth, and feeds those who hunger and thirst after righteousness, and heals those who are withered on the first day of the week than ever He does on the seventh, which He would not do if they were not doing His will. But let us ever remember that Jesus, the Son of God, is Lord of every man and every day, as well as the Sabbath or the first day of the week. He always meets His children when they are in the path of duty, of truth and righteousness, to bless them. It is quite right to keep the Sabbath as a day of rest, but it is wrong to keep the letter of the law and violate its spirit at the same time.

"Let no man, therefore, judge you in meat or in drink, or in respect of a feast day, or of a new moon, or of a Sabbath day, where the spirit of the Lord is there in liberty."—Col. 2, 16, and Cor. 3, 17. This is Lent.
