CUSTOMS OF THE TURKS. Here is a whole volume concerning the customs, manners, and habits of the Turks, contained in a single paragraph:

The Turks abhor the hat? but uncovering the head, which with us is an expression of respect, is considered by them disrespectful and indecent. No offence is given by keeping on a hat in a mosque, but shoes must be left on the threshold; the slipper and not the turban is removed in token of respect. The Turks turn in their toes; they write from right to left; they mount on the right side of their horse; they follow their Copy of a Letter from J. Noble, Esq., Muyor of Boston, Lincolnshire. guests into a room and precede them on leaving it; the left hand is the place of honour; they do the honours of a table by serving themselves first; they are great smokers and coffee drinkers; they take the wall, and walk hastily in token of respect; they beckon by throwing back the hand, instead of throwing it towards them; they cut the hair from the had, but leave it on the chin; they sleep in their clothes; they look upon beheading as a more disgraceful punishment than strangling; they deem our short and close dresses indecent; our shaven chins a wark of effeminacy and servitude; they resent an inquiry after their wives as an insult; they commence their wooden on leaving it; the left hand is the place of To Professor Holloway, insult; they commence their wooden AN EXTRAORDINARY AND RAPID CURE OF houses at the top, and their upper apart-ments are frequently finished before the houser ones are frequently finished before the lower ones are closed in; they eschew pork as an abomination; they regard dincing as a theatrical performance, only to be looked at and not mingled in except by slaves; their mourning habit is white; their sacred colour, green; their Sabbath day is Friday: an interment follows immediately on death. The deaths of the women are not registered—those of the women are not registered—those of the men are. Marriages are registered, and with the marriage the woman is virtually struck from existence, so far as the government is conserned. She is not known officially to the government of Turkey. Her 'lord' or husband does of Turkey. Her 'lord' or husband does with her as pleases him best."

OUR CHANGING CLIMATE. The following beautiful passage by shington Irving, might almost make a warded to Professor Holloway for publication, by Mr. B. Dixon, Chemist, King-st., Norwich. Washington Irving, might almost make a November day cheerful:—" Here let me say a word in favour of those vicissitudes of our climate which are too often made tu subject of exclusive repining. If they amony us occasionally by changes from hot to cold, from wet to dry, they give us one of the most beautiful climates in the world. They give us the brilliant sunshines of the South of Europe with the fresh verdure of the North. They float our summer sky with clouds of gorgeous tints or fleecy whiteness, and send down cooling showers to refresh the panting earth and keep it green. Our seasons are full of sublimity and beauty. Winter with us has none of its proverbial gloom. It may have its howling winds, and chil-November day cheerful :-- "Here let me It may have its howling winds, and chilling frosts, and whirling snow-storms; SURPRISING CURE OF A BAD BREAST, NERbut it has also its long intervals cloudless sunshine, when the snow-clad earth gives redoubled brightness to the day—when at night the stars beam with intensest lustre, or the moon floods the whole landscape with her most limpid radiance. And then the joyous outbreak of our spring, bursting at once into leaf and blussom, redundant with vegetation, and vociferous with life! and the splendours of our summer—its morning voluptuousness and evening glory—its airy palaces of sunlit clouds piled up in a deep azure sky; and its gusts of tempest of almost tropical grandeur, when the 'srked lightning and the bellowing thunder-voiley from the battlements of heaven shake the sultry atmosphere! and the sublime melancholy of our autumn, magnificent in its decay, withering down the pomp and pride of a woodland country, yet reflecting back from its yellow forests the but it has also its long intervals cloudless pride of a woodland country, yet re-flecting back from its yellow forests the golden serenity of the sky! Truly, we may say that in our climate, the heavens declare the glory of God; and the firma-Busions declare the glory of God; and the firmament showeth his handiwork. Day unto Bite of Me day attereth speech, and night showeth

"To commend these works is suprimous; they have not mith aniceral approbation from the British press and public. That the periodical press, representing so great a variety of religious and political opinion, should have so generally noticed them, and that too with high commendation, is a circumstance exceedingly wave, if not altogether unparaletied. "They have charms for the merely literary man, and they will obtain a hearing for example of the man and they will obtain a hearing for example of the excluded." The Ritor's Journal.
