Thrilling Scenes. BOERS BEATEN AGAIN.

Cape Town, Oct. 21-Midnight.-Gens. White and French have carried the Boer position at Elandshaagte, which is between Ladysmith and Dundee.

on. Oct. 22.—At 2 o'clock this morning the war office posted this from Gen. Sir Archibald Hunter:

"Ladysmith, Oct. 21-8:45 p.m.-Gen. White rode toward Elandslaagte 2:30 p.m. The force under Gen. French left here at 4 a.m. by road and rail to Modder's Bridge. By 2 p.m. it had been gradually strengthened to the following total: Fifth Lancers, a squadron of the Fifth Dragcon Guards, two field batteries, the Natal Field Battery, the Devonshire Regiment, half the Manchester Regiment, half the Gordon Highlanders, the Imperial Light Horse and two squadrons of Natal volunteers. I remain here in defense of Ladysmith with the Gloucester Regiment, half the with the Gloucester Regiment, half the and a squadron of the Fifth Dragoon Manchester, half the Gordon Highland-Guards charged thrice through the reers, a mountain battery and 500 Natal volunteers. I learn by telephone from an armored train a mile this side of Elandslaagte that at 5 p.m. the en-The enemy's number this morning was estimated at 1,000 and another 1,000 is expected to arrive during the after-Gen. White's intention was to reopen the railway to Dundee and return here with his troops tonight. "At 7:45 p.m. a report was received by telephone saying we had carried the enemy's position, capturing their camp, equipment, horses and wagons. The cavalry are in pursuit. The operators on the instruments say we have some wounded, but no details yet. I expect Gen. White will be late, so I'M wire for him."

Elandslaagte is a small station on the railway about midway between Glencoe station and Ladysmith. The Boers oc-cupied the place on Thursday or Friday, and cut the railway in order to prevent British troops being sent either way between Ladysmith and Glencoe.

GEN. WHITE'S REPORT. London, Oct. 22.—The war office this afternoon published the following dispatch from the general commander

Although desultory fighting took place early in the day, while reinforcements, sent out later on ascertaining the enemy's strength, were arriving from Ladysmith, the real action did not begin until 3:30 p.m. At that hour the Boers held a position of very exceptional strength, consisting of a rocky hill about a mile and a half southeast of Elandslaagte station. "At 3:30 p.m. our guns took a position on a ridge 4,100 yards from the Boers, whose guns at once opened This fire was generally well-durected, but somewhat high. In a few minutes the enemy's guns ceased firing, and our artillery was turned on the mounted Boers, who had engaged the Imperial Light Horse and who at once fell back. After the artillery preparations, our infantry advanced to the attack supported by our in the second position. The Devonshires held the enemy in front, while the Manchester Regiment and the Gordon Highlanders turned his left flank. "The Boer guns, although often temporarily silenced, invariably opened fire again, on the slightest opportunity, and were served with great courage.

A STUBBORN FIGHT. "After severe fighting our infantry carried the position. This was accomplished at 6:30 p.m., the enemy standing his ground to the last with age and tenacity. The Fifth Lancers treating Boers in the dark, doing considerable execution.

Jan Kock and Piet Joubert, nephew of Commandant-General Joubert: One goods train with supplies for the regiment was recovered. Our loss, I regret to say, was heavy. It is roughly computed at 150 killed and wounded. "The collection of the wounded over a large area in the dark and the arrangements for sending them in have thus far occupied our time and atten-tion. A full list will go to you later. "Our wounded and those of the enemy are now arriving by trains. Besides Boers we have many Hollanders, Germans and other prisoners of mixed nationalities.

"The behavior of our troops and of the colonial forces was admirable." DETAILS OF THE BATTLE. Cape Town, Oct. 22.-The news of Gen. French's victory at Elandslaagte has just been published here. It caus-ed great enthusiasm, and the people left the churches in order to get de-tails of the fighting. Schiel, a former German officer, who was leading a section of the Boers in the engagement, was taken prsoner. The Boers, although driven from their guns, returned again and again, whenever opportunity occurred. The high ground near the left of the enemy's position was occupied at the com-mencement of the action, the British creeping along the crest, and making a wide circuit. The infantry attack was directed against the right of the enemy's position, the infantry coming quickly into contact with the Boers, who at that point occupied a strong footing, which they held resolutely,

A FLANK ATTACK was made by our troops, who advanced with great dash, and, in spite of heavy losses, carried the main posi-tion with a rush just as the light was failing. The ground traversed by our troops was rough and stony, and the capture of the position was a fine feat of arms. The cavalry lapped well around and inflicted severe loss upon the enemy. It was highly important to strike a severe blow, as the Orange Free States are known to be concentrated northwest of Ladysmith in con-siderable strength. The flank attack was gallantly delivered by the Manohester Regiment.

The wounded are being attended to in the principal church at Ladysmith, which has been converted into a hos-

Dispatches received from the front regarding the capture of Elandslaagte show it to have been a brilliant feat of arms. The Boers were strongly entreanched, and fought with their wonted bravery. > THE LOSSES. Cape Town, Oct. 22-11 a.m.-The latest dispatches from the front say that the Boer losses at Elandslaagte were considerable, and that the British lost about 100 men killed and wounded. A large number of Boers were injured.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT. A Ladysmith dispatch says: At an early hour our forces moved out by road and rail. It was computed that there were 1,200 Boers, with Maxims, covering their front and occupying a well-chosen position at the base of a sugar-loaf shaped hill, some little distance south of Elandslaagte. On both flanks were strong commandos and three big guns strongly posted and commanding a wide sweep on all sides, leaving an opening for retreat. A British armored train, supported by two trainloads of infantry, immediately on approaching the enemy's position, was shelled by the Boers. lery was at once brought up, and drove the Boers from their guns, making a series of brilliant dashes into the valley and up the successive heights to get near the Boer main position.

THRICE SILENCED. Thrice were the Boer batteries in this left and en-though the Boers fought with great pluck and determination, each time our guns moved, and raining shrapnel and Maxim bullets against our advance. At 4 o'clock a tremendous artillery duel was in progress. Two Boer guns, splendidly placed, were stubbornly fought for two hours and a quarter, while the Boers endeavored to come into contact with our men on the right and left. A SUPERB DASH. At 6:15 the Gordon Highlanders, half of the Manchester Regiment and the Imperial Light Horse Guards advanced and stormed the enemy's front. A bayonet charge was sounded, the rear artillery on both sides suddenly ceased, and our men, the Devonshires leading, made a superb dash against the Boers. Twice were they checked by the terrible fusillade. Once the advancing brigade quivered for a moment, but then, with a ringing, roaring cheer, the whole of our force hurled itself forth like an avalanche and swept over the kopjes, bayoneting the Boers. The Boers were OVERWHELMED AND ASTOUND-ED. They paused, then retreated, then raised the white flag and surrendered. Some broke and ran, pursued by the Fifth Lancasters, who charged through and through them. It was quite dark by this time, but the slaughter must have been great. The Gordon High-landers say that the storming of Dargai Ridge was mere child's play compared with this attack. The Boer loss must have been very heavy.

One of the captured Boers told me that if he had known English soldiers could shoot as our men did he would never have come. heavy rain, heavier than any I have ever seen, fell immediately afterwards, making a pitiless scene on the battlefield, where many lay dying. The Devonshire Regiment captured three flags during the fight. It is reported that Piet Kruger, who was wounded and captured, had succumbed. A and captured, had succumbed. A bugler boy of the Lancers, only 13 years of age, shot six Boers with his revolver. On his return he was carried shoulder high around the camp. While the Gordon Highlanders were bringing in the wounded last night a sharp fire was opened on them by some Bers from hiding.
