

APPOINTMENT OF CITY CLERK DISCUSSED IN CIVIC CIRCLES

Not Satisfactory to All of the City Fathers—Mr. Baker's Ability Recognized.

The action of No. 1 committee in recommending Mr. Samuel Baker, principal of St. George's school, for the position of city clerk of London, does not meet with undivided approval in municipal circles, though, of course, no one insinuates that Mr. Baker is not thoroughly qualified for the office or that he will not make a good city clerk in all respects. The point being debated is whether the committee was warranted in going over the head of a competent man, such as Mr. J. J. Bell, who has served the city faithfully for many years, in order to secure a clerk, thereby not alone depriving Mr. Bell of a promotion, but also of the staff under him in the city hall, including Mr. Arthur Jolly and Mr. Geo. T. Tamm.

While Conservative aldermen do not hesitate to declare that the Conservative Club took no hand in the appointment, the denial is accepted conditionally as being made for strategic reasons. It is felt by all that the Conservative Club has practically declared that the candidate shall be, though one man who was picked out by the club in the first place had to be dropped in order that certain of the aldermen might not be tempted to bolt the ticket for once. Thus Mr. Baker's selection was the result of a compromise.

The club, it was understood, was at first favorable to Mr. Bell's appointment, and it was intended that Mr. Alf McCoubrey should take Mr. Arthur Jolly's place in the assessment commissioner's office and Mr. Jolly should take Mr. Bell's place in Treasurer Pope's office. But the leaves and fishes could not be divided so as to give all aspiring Conservatives a meal, and moreover, one of the city hall officials is credited with putting up an able-bodied objection to his being made a vehicle for the carrying out of Conservative Club plans. The result was that another conference took place, and that the club agreed that it would be better to drop Mr. Bell altogether, and appoint an outsider. Then the club named Mr. Flock as the favorite. But the force of objection to having strung of their own to pull, balked in the harness and refused to play him to any great extent. Other names were brought forth, and finally a truce was framed and Mr. Baker was selected on the compromise, he being acceptable to the club. Ald. Stevely, when seen today, made it plain that in his fight for Mr. Bell, he has nothing to say against Mr. Baker.

"I consider the principal of St. George's school a man well-qualified for the position," said "though I do not think he is as well qualified as Mr. Bell, who has performed the work off and on for years."

Mr. Baker was born in England, and came to Canada when quite young. For some time he taught school in Westminster and Belmont, and then he was appointed to the principalship of the old Park street, now Chesley avenue, school in October, 1890, he was transferred to St. George's school, and has taught there ever since. His teaching experience covers a period of 28 years.

Mr. Baker's salary as principal of St. George's school is $1,000 per year. At what amount his salary as city clerk will be placed is not yet settled, but some of the aldermen appear to think $1,100 will be sufficient. Mr. Edwards was started at $1,200 per year, however, and it is not likely that Mr. Baker will be asked to accept any less. This amount does not, of course, include the salary of the city clerk, which will be up to $250 per year. Mr. Baker is decidedly a home man, though he takes a deep interest in all municipal matters. He resides at 799 Waterloo street.

KING USES HOSE

Emmanuel Helps His Peasants to Fight the Flames.

Rome, Nov. 18.—Twice within the last few days the King of Italy has acted as an amateur fireman during fires which broke out near the Castle of Racconigi. Late the other night he reached the castle of a fire at a farm situated in the royal estate, and without delay Victor Emmanuel III. jumped into his automobile and started for the scene of the conflagration.

When he reached the farm he at once took command of the peasants, who, until then, had been fighting the fire without system or method, and as they seemed slow to understand he personally took the hose until the arrival of military assistance.

When one of the soldiers was injured by the falling of a wall the King carried him back to the castle in his own auto, and when the soldiers and firemen returned to the palace they found a sumptuous supper, which the King had prepared for them.

The next night the King was again called out of bed by the alarm of fire on another farm, but this time the flames were soon extinguished.

STUDENTS WERE MUCH INTERESTED

Election of Officers for Normal
School Literary Society—A Debate in View.

There was great excitement at the Normal School when the results of the election of the literary society officers were made known. Nominations were received two weeks previous and much canvassing had been done in the meantime. The day of election all the students filed into one room, where they marked their ballots. When this was done they retired to the hall, leaving a special committee to look over the ballots. The results, which were soon made known, were very much to the satisfaction of all, as was shown by the rousing cheers which greeted the names of the successful candidates for honors.

Honorary President—Col. Leys. President—Mr. Burgess. Vice-President—Miss Fawkes. Secretary—Miss Ella Dickie. Treasurer—Miss Margaret McKenzie. Critic—Mr. Whiddon. Historian—Mr. Gaynor. Poet—Miss Pettit. Executive Committee—Misses Bella Campbell, Cora Campbell, McCabe, Messrs. Dryburgh and Loucks. The society intends to accept the challenge of the Western University for a debate very shortly. It would be accepted at once, only it came before the society was thoroughly organized. Arrangements are being made for a literary meeting to be held in the near future. There will be some
