THIRTY-EIGHT DEAD TAKEN FROM STAG CANON MINE

[Canadian Press.] Dawson, N. M., Oct. 24. — Two hundred and twenty men were still entombed early today in Stag Canon mine, No. 2, where an explosion occurred Wednesday afternoon. Twenty-three miners have been taken out of the mine alive and 38 dead have been recovered. None of the rescued can throw light on the cause of the explosion or the location of the miners yet entombed. With the exception of Jose Fernandez (the miner taken alive from the sixth chamber east, last night), none of the rescued men were working near the section of the mine where the explosion occurred. Fernandez has not recovered sufficiently to talk of the disaster, but Government and mine officials hope that he soon will be able to tell something definite concerning the cause of the explosion, inasmuch as he was taken from the mine more than four thousand feet from the manway, the point near which the explosion was most violent. The first of the Government rescue party was expected early today. It has been delayed in leaving Pittsburgh, Kansas, whence it was ordered. The second Government crew from Rock Springs, Wyo., is expected to arrive later in the day. Because so few of the men taken from the mine have had need of resuscitation, the presence of the cars has not been so urgent. Oxygen tanks and helmets have been in constant use since the explosion. The air in the outer entries has clarified, and it is reported that scarcely any traces of black damp can

Was Caught in Niagara Whirlpool While Trying To Make Trip Through Rapids—Little Boat Nearly Drawn Down Scores of Times.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 23.—Peter W. Langgard, who claims he lives in Copenhagen, Denmark, shot his way through the rapids of Niagara in a motor-boat at 3 o'clock this afternoon, to gratify moving picture promoters. His trip through the rapids was beautifully made, and was better than that made by Captain Larsen in a similar craft. However, when Langgard reached the great whirlpool he was helpless, as his engine had become disabled in the wild waters of the Gorge. This made him a prisoner on the bosom of the great maelstrom, and night settled over the rocky canyon and river as he drifted about.

In Great Peril.

For nearly three hours Langgard endeavored to clear the propeller of the driftwood that clogged it by leaning over the stern and the boat, but the debris was so tightly jammed between the flanges and the hull that he could not remove it, and the careening of the boat when it was sucked into the centre of the whirlpool made it necessary for him to do nearly all his efforts to keep it from overturning.

Was Sucked Down.

Time after time the prow of the little craft was sucked down into the swirling waters and the stern was lifted high in the air. To the hundreds that lined both shores at dusk it seemed that Langgard must lose in the end. When the boat overturned he would lean out over the stern, and, by balancing, would swing it out into a narrow circle outside the heaviest point of suction, only to be swung back to the danger point a few minutes later.

Search Lights.

When darkness closed in over the Gorge, headlights were taken from trolley cars, and in their dim light the crowds watched Langgard's fight for life. In the meantime the fire brigade had been summoned, and several unsuccessful efforts were made by the firemen to send out a rope attached to a float. Shortly before 3 o'clock Fred Preston volunteered to swim out with a lifeline attached to his wrist. Langgard by this time was exhausted, and lay still in the bottom of the boat, which bobbed around in the vortex like a cork. The crowd, then numbering nearly 1,000, cheered when Preston struck out for the rescue. Half-way out his lifeline became entangled in driftwood, and he was compelled to return to shore.

Reached the Boat.

On the second attempt he reached the side of the boat. He was afraid to climb into the craft, which then was half-filled with water. Clinging to the side of the boat, he called out to the rescuers to pull him in. The swinging of the boat around the whirlpool made the task of putting pressure on the line at the right moment most difficult. A pull at the wrong time would have torn Preston away or overturned the boat. The length of the water-soaked line also added to the difficulty of the rescue. Aided by instructions called out by Preston, the boat was finally manœuvred out of the danger zone and was slowly drawn ashore. Preston was given a great ovation by the crowd.

DUBLIN STRIKE MAY COLLAPSE VERY SHORTLY

An Unusual Police Court Case Arises Out of Attempted Act of Charity.

WAS REALLY A BLUNDER

Plan To House, Feed and Educate Strikers' Children in England.

Dublin, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Lucille Rand, daughter of Henry T. Gage, formerly United States minister to Portugal, was arraigned in the Kingstown police court today on the charge of kidnapping two boys under the age of 14 and trying to remove them to England, without the consent of their parents. This is the outgrowth of the plan of the Socialists and others to provide homes for the Irish children in England during the strike of the Transport Workers' Union. Mrs. Rand was particularly interested in the attempt yesterday to send a crowd of them to England.

Blocked by Priests.

This was frustrated through the efforts of Roman Catholic clergymen, and after the rumpus a warrant was issued against Mrs. Rand. The father of the boys, who is alleged, Mrs. Rand is trying to abduct, testified that he had not given his consent to Mrs. Rand to take the boys. He did not even know that the boys were going to England.

Mrs. Montefiore, a prominent society woman, testified to the high social position of Mr. and Mrs. Rand and their charitable intentions. Mrs. Montefiore asked the magistrate to commit her instead of Mrs. Rand, who, she said, was acting in her behalf.

Mrs. Rand was allowed to go on her own bail and the case was adjourned to Oct. 26.

Mrs. Montefiore, who is a well-known Socialist writer, was arrested this evening on a charge of abduction.

Great Excitement.

The deportations of Irish children who are to be educated in England has created a tremendous excitement in the city. It completely overshadows the labor crisis. The philanthropic efforts to house and feed in England the hungry children of the strikers might not be objected to if it had been planned in co-operation with the Roman Catholic Church, but the scheme is wholly in the hands of the Socialists, and the clergy vehemently oppose it.

Some profess to believe that the unexpected situation growing out of the attempted deportations of Irish children may lead to a collapse of the strike and the unconditional resumption of work.

Lashed Boy With Ends of Harness

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Windsor, Oct. 24.—William Barry, of West Sandwich, was fined $25 and costs for lashing a boy, after his wife had described what she calls his "accidental" use.

She testified that Barry often whipped his 3-year-old stepson, Archie, flaying his bare back with heavy harness ends. Once, she said, he struck the boy with a strap that had a buckle on the end. The blow caused blood to flow from the boy's ear, she said.

Another of her husband's "eccentricities," according to Mrs. Barry, was to refuse to give milk from their own cows to his family. He would feed the cows, she said, into garbage pails. She also asserted he had given her only 38 since last July.

Barry denied his wife's accusations, in which she was backed by the Children's Aid Society.

PAST THAT NOW.

"Is he very important?" asked Wigson. "Well, he's getting on in the world," said Bigson. "He no longer finds it necessary to start a quarrel with a waiter in a restaurant to attract attention."

KENT MOURNS MRS. T. MARIS

Woman of 95 Was Pioneer Doctor, Nurse and Missionary.

WAS BURIED AT TILBURY

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Tilbury, Oct. 23.—The funeral took place here today of the pioneer doctor, nurse and missionary of Kent and Essex Counties, Mrs. Thomas Maris, who died on Tuesday at the age of 95 years. She resided in Cambridge, England, the place of her birth, until 41 years old, when she, with her husband and family of three, embarked for Canada. Settling in the backwoods of what is East Tilbury Township today, she saved the dangers of the pioneer with hardihood and resource. She became doctor, nurse, surgeon and missionary to the community for miles around.

Many early settlers can tell of her life of inspiring service and sacrifice, and of the many sick cared for by her. Among the survivors are two sons, George, of Chatham, and Ebenezer, of Tilbury, and one daughter, Mrs. Thaddeus Bens, of Tilbury.

CHINA GIVES IN

Agrees to Recognize the Autonomy of Mongolia at Once.

[Canadian Press.] London, Oct. 24.—The Times' Pekin correspondent says that the Russian minister and the Chinese foreign minister on Thursday practically reached an agreement which will recognize the autonomy of Mongolia. Russia, the correspondent adds, will acknowledge China's suzerainty, while China will undertake to refrain from colonization of military occupation of the country. The difficult question of geographical limits is, however, the correspondent concludes, still to be negotiated.

MORE BOILERS ARE NEEDED TO HEAT VICTORIA HOSPITAL

Expert Blames the Garbage For the Present Lack of Steam.

NEW BOILERS NEEDED

Many Sewer Petitions and Deputations Appear Before Board of Works.

The shortcomings of the heating system installed in connection with the Victoria Hospital were aired—or steamed—at the meeting of the board of works Thursday night. With a full head of steam on, Mayor C. M. R. Graham launched forth an avalanche of arguments at H. P. Elliott, engineer in charge of the installation, as to why the plant should not do all that it is supposed to do. The engineer reported two weeks ago that Victoria Hospital could not be adequately heated unless $7,000 were expended in installing two boilers to keep up the required amount because of coal fires. Instead of trusting to the single boiler that is now in use in the incinerator and which can only supply a fluctuating head of steam because of the varying type of garbage fuel that is used to operate it.

Blames Garbage.

Thursday night he declared that his only object in recommending the boilers was his objection to seeing a job only half done. He admitted that a certain amount of steam could be utilized, but he went into the technicalities of the case to show how it was impossible to supply any stated amount because of the fluctuating heat values of the garbage.

In answer to a question from the mayor, he stated that it would be possible to keep a fuel fire under the one existing boiler, but that it would be a wasteful system, as the boiler had never been built for coal fires. He also imparted the information that the original plans of the construction of the plant provided for the two extra boilers that he now is recommending.

No money is now available for the construction of these boilers, and the only relief will be the instruction of both hospital and incinerator engineers so that the best possible results can be obtained from the present inadequate system.

Sewer Petitions.

Sewer petitions and deputations seemed to predominate last night. A deputation from Ridout street south, between Craig and Bruce, another from Regent street, another from the Cove road, and two or three others, appeared asking for sewers. Under the new Ontario regulations, even these short sewer extensions have to be approved by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board before they can be legally put through. However, every effort will be made to have the necessary bylaws ready for the next session of the council in order that the work can be completed this fall.

No action was taken on the request to amend the sign bylaw to enable illuminated signs to be shut off at 10 p.m. instead of 11 p.m. The committee refused to consider the requested change.

On recommendation of the building inspector, tenders will be called for the construction of a cement block garage for city automobiles. The approximate cost of the garage is $350.

TWO SUFFOCATED

Children Were Left Alone While Mother Went to City.

[Canadian Press.] North Battleford, Sask., Oct. 24. — Two colored children, aged 16 and 28 months, respectively, were suffocated by smoke in a shack off Railway avenue, North Battleford. The mother, Mrs. Mark Daniels, left the children in a perambulator apparently asleep, while she went up to the city. Short-

BRILLIANT ARTISTS AT WOMEN'S MUSIC CLUB

Mrs. Innes-Taylor, Mrs. Helmer-Vining and Mrs. Gerard-Barton Please Large Number.

In spite of the inclemency of the weather, a large number of members attended the opening concert of the Women's Music Club held Thursday evening in the assembly hall of the Normal School.

The musicale was a splendid success from every standpoint, the entire program being a rare treat to the appreciative audience. Many encores were called for, to which the artists responded with delightful selections.

Mrs. Abbie Helmer-Vining, pianist, is an artist whose reputation is already known to London music lovers. Her work last night exceeded all expectations for beauty of tone, dramatic intensity, dignified rhythm and tone balance. Her playing of the Chopin Sonata, Scherzo in B flat, and the great A flat Polonaise, revealed the beautiful interpretations that only a true artist can feel and conceive. She also played a delightful little composition of her own, a thing of poetic beauty, and with a charming rhythmic flow, which won instant recognition from her audience.

Mrs. Kathryn Innes-Taylor, soprano, possesses a resonant voice of wide range and sweeter tone. Her singing was marked by expressive accent and clarity of enunciation. Her charming personality is reflected in her work, and with the first clear note she became a married favorite with her audience.

Particularly good was her excellent interpretation of the triplet of Modern French Songs. They were extremely difficult in their construction, and only an artist of Kathryn Innes-Taylor's ability could give them such perfect rendition. Another selection which won instant approval was "The Chrysanthemum" by Paul Heise. Her group of four Japanese songs arranged by Dathousie Young, showed the wide range of her voice, while her rendering of "The Chimes" was all that could be desired.

Mrs. Gerard Barton, as accompanist, was beyond criticism. Particularly in the Japanese numbers her brilliant work was pronounced, while her work in the other vocal selections was pleasing in the extreme.

That Mrs. Barton is perhaps the most poetic and intelligent pianist in Canada today was evidenced by her performance last evening.

During the evening large bouquets of chrysanthemums were presented by the club to Mrs. Innes-Taylor and Mrs. Helmer-Vining.
