

BLOOD FROM HIS MOTORCYCLE BY A GERMAN SHELL

Roy Clinger in English Hospital After a Remarkable Experience
CARRYING DISPATCHES

Explosive Struck 40 Feet Behind Him and Fall Injured His Knee.

Mrs. A. H. Clinger, 43 Ridout street, has received a letter from her son Roy, of the Canadian Divisional Ammunition Park, who wrote from a hospital in Portsmouth, England where he is suffering from a wound in his knee, received when he was hurled from a motorcycle on which he was carrying dispatches by a shell which burst close behind him.

His letter, which is as follows: "Dear Mother: No doubt you will wonder at this letter of mine coming from England, but the truth is I have been sent here to the hospital after getting a fall and injuring my knee. Now don't worry when I tell you how I received it. During the battle of Ypres (pronounced Epray), where the Canadians made their name, I was blown from a motorcycle which I was temporarily riding on account of how busy we were. The captain had put me on an extra machine we had there. We had many dispatches that the boys who had cycles could not take them all, so I went out to assist.

Shell Fell Behind Him. "While I was passing through Poperinghe, a town that was being bombarded, a large shell fell just behind me. The only injury I received was to be hurled from my motorcycle and thrown on the cobblestones, badly bruising my knee and tearing some of the ligaments leading from it. I considered myself extremely lucky in getting off that night, because the shell fell within 40 feet of me. The doors, walls and windows all around me were perforated with pieces of the shell, but remarkably neither my machine nor I was touched by any, so as soon as I got up and saw my machine was all right you can bet I did not wait any longer than I could help before I started on my way. I was blown from a motorcycle which I was temporarily riding on account of how busy we were. The captain had put me on an extra machine we had there. We had many dispatches that the boys who had cycles could not take them all, so I went out to assist.

Worked for Three Days. "I carried on and worked for three days more with my machine, and then it got so swollen and sore that I went to the hospital. From that first hospital I have been moved to another at least every 36 hours, and I have been unable to write until I got here yesterday.

"We have been having quite a grand time in France and Belgium. When there was not a battle going on we always found time in the evening to have either a concert or a game of baseball.

"We can all speak French fluently now, but strange to remark those uneducated French people don't understand us at all. It certainly is a remarkable language.

Used Running Shoes. "The Canadians certainly paid very dearly for the honor they attained; they fought in places where the French used running shoes and ran as fast as they could.

The letter from Roy was supplemented by one addressed to Mrs. Clinger from the Red Cross Society, in which she was informed that her son was in the hospital as the result of a broken kneecap.

IT'S MARY ALLINSKI
Woman With Jokebook Name and Steve Stiffen Pay Fines.

Mrs. Mary Allinski and Steve Stiffen were today fined $5 and costs each by Police Magistrate J. C. Judd when he found them guilty of committing an assault on Mrs. N. Mendenburg.

The trouble arose over chickens. Mrs. Allinski's chickens strayed on Mendenburg's property and laid their eggs there. The parties came in court and an argument over who owned the eggs, and as a result the case proceeded to "heat up" the complaint with the result that the chickens were fined, and all involved in the case bound over for $25 to keep the peace.

(Continued From Page One)

HOPELESS AT TRODE

Fusion of sectors made necessary marches and counter-marches under French artillery fire. "The way from Souchez to Ablain is unpracticable," the captain wrote, "exposing us to incessant artillery fire. Ablain, like Souchez, is nothing but a heap of rubble. Our guide is unable to lead us further, and the situation is desperate. Our men decamp at each shell which falls, and it is necessary to threaten them with court-martial.

Now Hopeless. Reinforcements failed to arrive, further difficulties arose, and Capt. Stievart wrote that the situation was hopeless. The last page of his diary was written at 10 p.m. of May 20. In it the captain said: "The bombardment today completely destroyed what remained of our trenches. The men have been without support for three days. It is impossible to hold this position with such a feeble force. I ask that an officer be sent here to report on the situation. I ask again that the 4th company of the 11th Regiment be placed at my disposal. The artillery fire of the enemy is frightful, especially that of the heavy guns. We can hear the projectiles of this artillery coming slowly through the air.

The End. "Every man is watchful and tense, and he wonders where this particular shell is going to fall. The parapets tremble and a cloud of earth and pieces of shell rain down on us. How long must we remain in this rat-trap? I believe now that my nerves are gone. The fire of the enemy has attained its greatest violence. Indescribable."

Here the tragic notes of Capt. Stievart come to an end. This diary, says the eyewitness, indicated the "great success" of the French army and infantry. At the same time, it shows the superhuman efforts Germany is demanding of its army, and this even before the participation of Italy, which, on a new front, will hereafter take part in the siege of German and Austrian fortresses.

HURLED FROM CYCLE BY GERMAN SHELL

Roy Clinger in English Hospital After a Remarkable Experience
CARRYING DISPATCHES

Explosive Struck 40 Feet Behind Him and Fall Injured His Knee.

Mrs. A. H. Clinger, 43 Ridout street, has received a letter from her son Roy, of the Canadian Divisional Ammunition Park, who wrote from a hospital in Portsmouth, England where he is suffering from a wound in his knee, received when he was hurled from a motorcycle on which he was carrying dispatches by a shell which burst close behind him.

His letter, which is as follows: "Dear Mother: No doubt you will wonder at this letter of mine coming from England, but the truth is I have been sent here to the hospital after getting a fall and injuring my knee. Now don't worry when I tell you how I received it. During the battle of Ypres (pronounced Epray), where the Canadians made their name, I was blown from a motorcycle which I was temporarily riding on account of how busy we were. The captain had put me on an extra machine we had there. We had many dispatches that the boys who had cycles could not take them all, so I went out to assist.

Shell Fell Behind Him. "While I was passing through Poperinghe, a town that was being bombarded, a large shell fell just behind me. The only injury I received was to be hurled from my motorcycle and thrown on the cobblestones, badly bruising my knee and tearing some of the ligaments leading from it. I considered myself extremely lucky in getting off that night, because the shell fell within 40 feet of me. The doors, walls and windows all around me were perforated with pieces of the shell, but remarkably neither my machine nor I was touched by any, so as soon as I got up and saw my machine was all right you can bet I did not wait any longer than I could help before I started on my way. I was blown from a motorcycle which I was temporarily riding on account of how busy we were. The captain had put me on an extra machine we had there. We had many dispatches that the boys who had cycles could not take them all, so I went out to assist.

Worked for Three Days. "I carried on and worked for three days more with my machine, and then it got so swollen and sore that I went to the hospital. From that first hospital I have been moved to another at least every 36 hours, and I have been unable to write until I got here yesterday.

"We have been having quite a grand time in France and Belgium. When there was not a battle going on we always found time in the evening to have either a concert or a game of baseball.

"We can all speak French fluently now, but strange to remark those uneducated French people don't understand us at all. It certainly is a remarkable language.

Used Running Shoes. "The Canadians certainly paid very dearly for the honor they attained; they fought in places where the French used running shoes and ran as fast as they could.

The letter from Roy was supplemented by one addressed to Mrs. Clinger from the Red Cross Society, in which she was informed that her son was in the hospital as the result of a broken kneecap.

IT'S MARY ALLINSKI
Woman With Jokebook Name and Steve Stiffen Pay Fines.

Mrs. Mary Allinski and Steve Stiffen were today fined $5 and costs each by Police Magistrate J. C. Judd when he found them guilty of committing an assault on Mrs. N. Mendenburg.

The trouble arose over chickens. Mrs. Allinski's chickens strayed on Mendenburg's property and laid their eggs there. The parties came in court and an argument over who owned the eggs, and as a result the case proceeded to "heat up" the complaint with the result that the chickens were fined, and all involved in the case bound over for $25 to keep the peace.

(Continued From Page One)

HOPELESS AT TRODE

Fusion of sectors made necessary marches and counter-marches under French artillery fire. "The way from Souchez to Ablain is unpracticable," the captain wrote, "exposing us to incessant artillery fire. Ablain, like Souchez, is nothing but a heap of rubble. Our guide is unable to lead us further, and the situation is desperate. Our men decamp at each shell which falls, and it is necessary to threaten them with court-martial.

Now Hopeless. Reinforcements failed to arrive, further difficulties arose, and Capt. Stievart wrote that the situation was hopeless. The last page of his diary was written at 10 p.m. of May 20. In it the captain said: "The bombardment today completely destroyed what remained of our trenches. The men have been without support for three days. It is impossible to hold this position with such a feeble force. I ask that an officer be sent here to report on the situation. I ask again that the 4th company of the 11th Regiment be placed at my disposal. The artillery fire of the enemy is frightful, especially that of the heavy guns. We can hear the projectiles of this artillery coming slowly through the air.

The End. "Every man is watchful and tense, and he wonders where this particular shell is going to fall. The parapets tremble and a cloud of earth and pieces of shell rain down on us. How long must we remain in this rat-trap? I believe now that my nerves are gone. The fire of the enemy has attained its greatest violence. Indescribable."

Here the tragic notes of Capt. Stievart come to an end. This diary, says the eyewitness, indicated the "great success" of the French army and infantry. At the same time, it shows the superhuman efforts Germany is demanding of its army, and this even before the participation of Italy, which, on a new front, will hereafter take part in the siege of German and Austrian fortresses.

THE FRENCH BATTLESHIP "PARIS"

The picture shows the Paris steaming at full speed with her nose almost buried in the water.

Admiral's vessel of the Dreadnought type, is supposed to be assisting in the operations against the Dardanelles. She has a displacement of 23,500 tons, carries twelve 12-inch guns and a crew of 900, being very heavily armored.

Admiral's vessel of the Dreadnought type, is supposed to be assisting in the operations against the Dardanelles. She has a displacement of 23,500 tons, carries twelve 12-inch guns and a crew of 900, being very heavily armored.

Admiral's vessel of the Dreadnought type, is supposed to be assisting in the operations against the Dardanelles. She has a displacement of 23,500 tons, carries twelve 12-inch guns and a crew of 900, being very heavily armored.

Admiral's vessel of the Dreadnought type, is supposed to be assisting in the operations against the Dardanelles. She has a displacement of 23,500 tons, carries twelve 12-inch guns and a crew of 900, being very heavily armored.

Admiral's vessel of the Dreadnought type, is supposed to be assisting in the operations against the Dardanelles. She has a displacement of 23,500 tons, carries twelve 12-inch guns and a crew of 900, being very heavily armored.

Admiral's vessel of the Dreadnought type, is supposed to be assisting in the operations against the Dardanelles. She has a displacement of 23,500 tons, carries twelve 12-inch guns and a crew of 900, being very heavily armored.

Admiral's vessel of the Dreadnought type, is supposed to be assisting in the operations against the Dardanelles. She has a displacement of 23,500 tons, carries twelve 12-inch guns and a crew of 900, being very heavily armored.

Admiral's vessel of the Dreadnought type, is supposed to be assisting in the operations against the Dardanelles. She has a displacement of 23,500 tons, carries twelve 12-inch guns and a crew of 900, being very heavily armored.

Admiral's vessel of the Dreadnought type, is supposed to be assisting in the operations against the Dardanelles. She has a displacement of 23,500 tons, carries twelve 12-inch guns and a crew of 900, being very heavily armored.

Admiral's vessel of the Dreadnought type, is supposed to be assisting in the operations against the Dardanelles. She has a displacement of 23,500 tons, carries twelve 12-inch guns and a crew of 900, being very heavily armored.

Admiral's vessel of the Dreadnought type, is supposed to be assisting in the operations against the Dardanelles. She has a displacement of 23,500 tons, carries twelve 12-inch guns and a crew of 900, being very heavily armored.

Admiral's vessel of the Dreadnought type, is supposed to be assisting in the operations against the Dardanelles. She has a displacement of 23,500 tons, carries twelve 12-inch guns and a crew of 900, being very heavily armored.

LONDON BOYS IN 18TH ARE NOT FORGOTTEN BY GIRLS THEY CAN'T FORGET

Military Postman At Sandling Has To Bend His Back To 150-Pound Burden When Mail Arrives From Canada.

Pte. Fred. Young, of the 18th Battalion, sends the following letter to a member of The Advertiser editorial staff: Sandling Camp, En Route to Berlin, May 16, 1914.

Dear Friend.—Probably the most interesting event to Canadians in England this week was the memorial service in St. Paul's, London, for the fallen Canadians at Ypres. The 18th was represented by Major Gordon Ingram and Capt. (Dr.) Hale, both over 6 feet tall, and both London men. Our "O Canada" will soon be as familiar to Britishers as the National Anthem.

The bombardment of Southern by Zeppelins was of interest to the boys as that place is about the same distance from the camp as Sarnia is from London. British aeroplanes fly over our camp, singly and in pairs, quite frequently, and backed by the bright blue of English skies, make a pretty sight.

Read it in "The Tiser." Our field kitchen and horses have arrived, and we are ready for the trail again. The London boys were sorry to hear of Mr. Cooper's death, and while we knew "Ches. Butler" had been wounded, we did not know he was in Lady Gibson Hospital till we saw it in "The Tiser."

The anti-German riots in London have furnished the pictorial papers with lots of material. There doesn't seem to be many Germans around these seacoast towns.

We are certainly encamped in rural England. The thrushes and larks that have been unfamously beat the bugler at sounding "Reveille" had their schedule badly upset this morning between 3 and 4 a.m. by the buglers of the 51st (Kingston) Battalion playing that regiment are still represented here by a 7.

Backing "K. of K." I wrote of Government control last week. It seems to be extending. A workman who is found drinking when he should be at his work making Government necessities is arrested, fined or sent to jail. The man in khaki cannot get a drink until 2 p.m. Posters are displayed in every "pub" bearing Kitchen's appeal for sobriety, with a footnote stating that the proprietor of the "pub" is backing "K. of K." to the hilt. If a Tommy approaches the bar displaying the "Ten barrooms in a night" sign, he is politely informed by the barmaid: "No more beer here."

Any objection to his decision is promptly and effectively ruled out by the military police. We had a route march through the town of Hythe last week, accompanied by the brass and bugle bands. If it did not help to stimulate recruiting in that town, then the Hythe are more than probably hard to rouse.

We get "The Tiser" regularly now and the London men thoroughly appreciate them. Thanks for sending them. No forgotten by girls. That the boys are "not forgotten by the girls we can't forget" can be vouched for by the military postman. He claims that he has to adjust his back to one hundred and fifty pounds' burden every time the Canadian mail arrives.

No doubt there will be big issues decided in this war before this reaches you. We are all mighty glad we have got this far on the trail. Yours, as ever, FRED. YOUNG.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Where Armies of Italy and Austria Clash

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

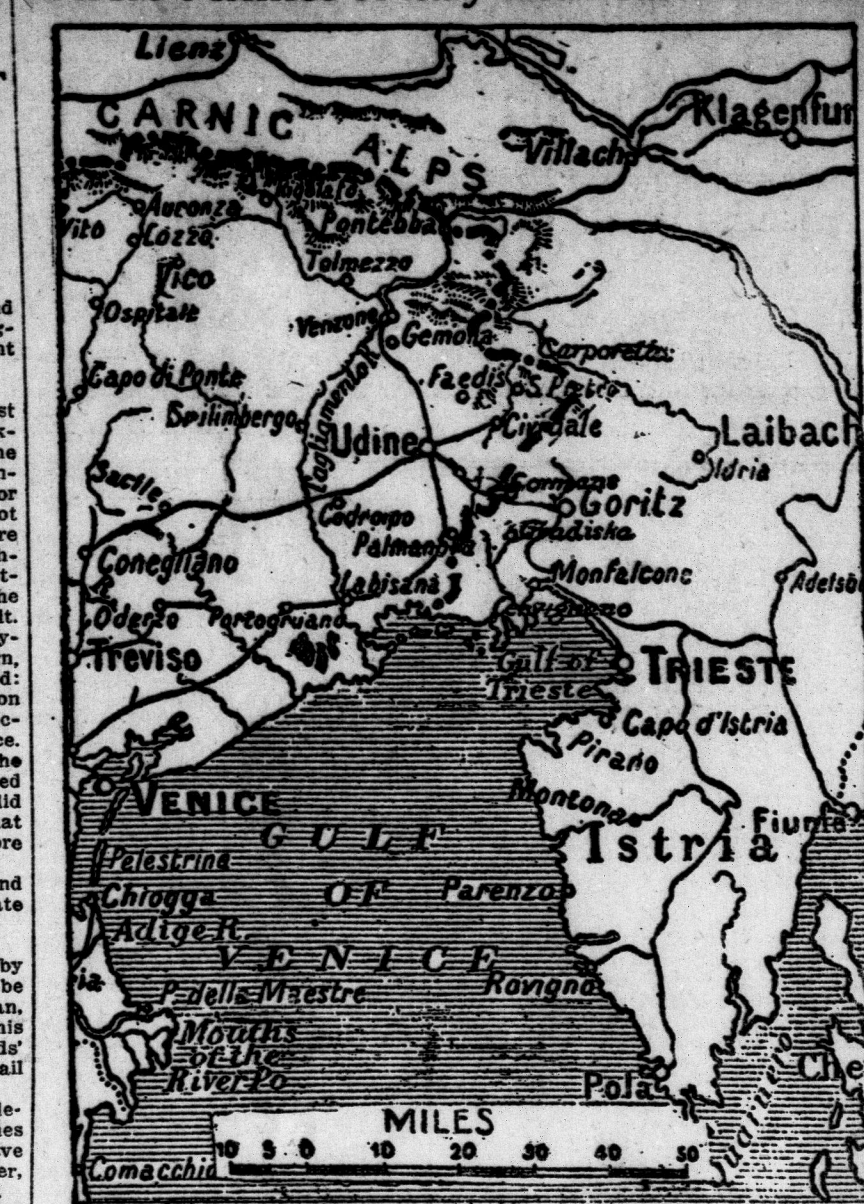

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

Map showing the Alpine border line between Italy and Austria, where the Italians have pushed across the frontier from the province of Venice toward Trieste.

NEWS Hosiery

FOR MEN — MADE IN LONDON

We have them in cotton, lisle, silk and wool and silk in all colors.

GRAHAM BROS.

For Flag Day

1 1/2x2 inches, Silk, British, Canadian, Russian, French and Belgium flags. 5c dozen. Six dozen 25c, postpaid.

PEEL'S RICHMOND STREET, CITY.

Strand Cafeteria

384 RICHMOND STREET. Hot lunch at all hours. Dinner special after 11 o'clock a.m.

Kodak Supplies

Films, Plates, Etc. Argo Paper. Developing Done. Work Guaranteed. HAY'S STATIONERY OPPOSITE DOWLER'S.

thorough holiday, and postmen have half the day free.

GETS VERDICT OF $100.—Archibald Toles, of Canada, was awarded $100 and interest in his suit against the Canadian Farmers' Mutual Life Insurance Company by the jury in the county court this afternoon. Toles's horse was struck by lightning and killed last fall, and the owner carried insurance upon it in the Canadian Farmers' Company, which disputed payment. The case of Mrs. Edith Cummings against Robert Gash, a plasterer, whom she is suing for damages, alleging that plastering was improperly done in her house, was commenced this afternoon.

WEDDING BELLS

GILMORE-WINNETT. Miss Stella E. Winnett, daughter of W. H. Winnett, 124 King street, and John Gilmore, son of the late James Gilmore, M.P., of 430 King street, were quietly married at the home of the bride which was at 124 King street, at 2 o'clock on Tuesday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. J. Thomas, pastor of the Dundas Centre Methodist Church. The couple were unattended, and left at 5:30 o'clock on the C.P.R. for a honeymoon to the Pacific coast. When they return, they will reside on King street.

The bride wore a wedding gown of satin charmeuse and carried orange blossoms. The bridesmaids wore blue silk faille with tulle hat, faced with blue to match. A diamond necklace set in platinum was the gift of the groom to the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. A. W. Winnett, of Kingston, brother of the bride, and young son, Miss Cullen, of Woodstock, and Mrs. E. J. Gray, of London, and Mrs. Buffalo, were among the out of town guests.

SMITH-COOK. A quiet wedding was solemnized on Tuesday evening by Rev. W. R. McIntosh, of King Street Presbyterian Church, when Miss Eliza Cook, of this city, became the bride of William Smith, of London. The ceremony took place at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Thomas Wyatt, 63 York street, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. A very wedding request was served later in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will live in London.

EADE-MILLIE. A quiet wedding was solemnized on Tuesday evening by Rev. W. R. McIntosh at the home of Leonard D. Eade and Miss Grace Millie, both of this city. Rev. W. R. McIntosh officiated, and the ceremony took place at the home of Leonard D. Eade, of Preston, brother of the groom.

McKAY-HODGINS. A quiet ceremony was solemnized by Rev. W. R. McIntosh at the home on Tuesday, June 1, when Miss Phoebe Hodgins, of this city, was united in marriage to James McKay, a T. T. driver. Mr. and Mrs. McKay will live in London.

HARRISON-FRIEND. A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Friend, 772 Colborne street, on "June Day," when their youngest daughter, Verbera Harrison, was married to Mr. William Harrison, formerly of London, now of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. McCann, assisted by the Rev. A. J. Thomas, M.A., before an altar beautifully decorated with white satin ribbon and floral wreaths.

The blushing bride was given away by her father and was beautifully gowned in broad silk trimmed with net and wearing a beautiful lace collar which is an old family heirloom. She also had the conventional bridal veil with orange blossoms and carried a beautiful bouquet of orchids with lilies of the valley and fern.

The bridesmaid, Miss Blanche Friend, looked perfectly charming in a dress of embroidered net over pink silk and carried a beautiful bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Edgar G. Quanta played the Lochran wedding march before the ceremony, and during the signing of the register the Mendelssohn wedding march.

After hearty congratulations had been tendered the happy couple the party adjourned to the dining-room, where a dainty dejeuner was served. The happy party was decorated with white satin ribbon and white roses.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a handsome piano, to the bride a gold watch and a diamond bracelet and to the best man a handsome tie pin.

Among the guests were the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Friend, of London, Mr. and Mrs. Mason, Stratford, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Friend, of Toronto.

The happy party left for the honeymoon at 4:25 P.M. on Tuesday, June 2, in the King's birthday, observed only in this city by the closing of business houses will be open as usual. It was decided not to cut off one delivery of mail at the request of the postmen. In many other cities June 3 is a

AN APPRECIATION. Miss Florence Widden wishes to thank her many friends for their kind and co-operation during the recent Advertiser campaign.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET. (Reported by J. M. Young, Broker.) Chicago, June 2.

Wheat.—Open. High. Low. Close. July.....$15.00 15.07 15.07 15.00

Sept.....14.75 14.82 14.82 14.75

Oct.....14.50 14.57 14.57 14.45

Nov.....14.25 14.32 14.32 14.20

Dec.....14.00 14