A second shooting match took place at John Oulcott's, Eglington, yesterday, between John Forbes, Woodstock, and C. Cockburn, Toronto. The stakes were $100 a side, and the conditions, Forbes to shoot at 33 birds while his opponent shot at 30. The scores were not brilliant on either side and in the last twelve birds the Woodstock man went all to pieces, killing only two out of the lot. Cockburn won by 18 to 15.

At the Little Rock, Ark., telephone exchange lately a call came in from a residence for a feed store. "Hello!" "Hello! What is it?" Rev. W. L. Grew, a methodist minister of Somerset county, Penn., is credited with breaking with a repeating rifle two ordinary glass drinking goblets thrown into the air together before either talls to the ground. He cuts one of the goblets in twain at the stem, lowers his rifle to his hip to throw out the empty shell and reload, and then breaks the globe of the other. He admits his inability to break both at the stems. Another thing he does is to shoot through the mouth of a popbottle thrown up in the air and knock the bottom out. The bottle is thrown so that at every revolution the mouth is presented to him.
