The Christmas Idea.

The store follows the leadership of childhood and adds o the enthusiasm of Christmas. The first floor is like a pse of Fairyland for the youngster, and everybody is inted in the one great store that commands the trade in loliday goods. Each year the preparation is on a bigger le, and as persistently each year success is more emphatic.

illecting great quantities of the best things for the Holiday son and stripping prices of all extravagance is part of our n for larger usefulness. And the shopping crowds come bers adopted legislation in wheat for ause of that.

We think we've got the best Christmas idea. Magnifint displays and tempting novelties crowd the interest at ev- is allowed to be imported under what is termed "temporary admission," by turn. During this short time we haven't been idle. What planning, thinking, designing, aye, dreaming, our clothes architects have had. And now, as the result of their labors, we have the finest clothing stock in Canada-all our own build.

Owing to the lateness of the season in occupying our new premises, we find we have over 1200 Overcoats which we are compelled to clear out within the next two weeks. To accomplish this we will have to crowd six weeks' selling into two. And here's how we'll do it: Commencing Thursday Morning, at 8 o'clock, we place our entire stock of Overcoats on sale. Every garment will be red-tagged, with reduced price marked in plain figures.

lightful Social Affair at the Confederation Building. The Lorne Football Club held their annual ball in the large room of the Confederation Life building yesterday evening, and it proved an immense suc-cess, over 120 couples being present. Dancing commenced about 9.30 and was continued with very great spirit until an early hour this morning. Sup-per was served continuously from 11 o'clock in one of the ante-rooms. The committee consisted of the following gentlemen: Dr. Hood, Messrs. R. H. Easson, C. J. Meek, B. G. Winans, W. D. Eby, W. J. Morrison, J. H. Wat-son, A. G. Langtry, C. H. Hood and the indefatigable and ever courteous H. G. Wade as secretary. The Large patronesses were Mesdames of dollars annually to teachers: it was an obstacle to the progress of education among those speaking English, and to the spread of that language among other nations. The commission further reported that the printing of books was rendered more expensive.

A book printed according to the revised system of spelling would cost $5, whereas one printed in the ordinary 2.50 system would cost $6. One-sixth of the ost would be saved in all writings the manuscript of books and periodicals, records of courts, deeds, wills .50 and all legal documents. Hon. W. E. Gladstone has looked into the intricasies of English ortho-
