

give his just proportion "as God has prospered him," because his fellow members may not be doing so. Proportionate giving is individual duty, and each must answer for himself. And let no congregation defer to give increase because others may not have done so. Neither let any wait till it can accomplish all that is desired. Any advance is praiseworthy compared with no advance; and every advance will be most beneficial to the pastor, and certainly blessed to the people.

Notices.

We have sent a number of copies of the January and February Nos. of the Register to those who have been acting as Agents last year and requested that they would deliver them to those who paid for the present year, so that they would return to the office what was not needed. We would now urge upon them to forward their orders and payment for the present year immediately, as after the present month, with the exception of the number allowed to each minister, and for distribution in destitute localities, none will be published above what is ordered. We must also insist that payment be forwarded in advance. We regret to say that in some instances where orders were received for the Register last year, the amount has not yet been forwarded. This has made the balance against the Register for last year greater than it should have been, and the consequent strain upon the funds of the church greater than its conductors desired. In our present No., our readers will find a wood cut representation of the mission premises. This will enhance greatly the value of the present issue, and may occasion an extraordinary demand. This consideration, along with the cheering fact that the January issue is now exhausted, while orders continue to come forward, has induced us to print 200 copies additional for February.

X. B.—Agents who have not sold, and have no immediate prospect of sale for the extra Nos. sent last month, will oblige by an immediate return of the same to the general agent.

The Committee of the Presbytery of Pictou for the Superintendence of Students of Philosophy will meet at the Hall, West River, on Tuesday, 2nd March, at 11 o'clock a. m. Those students residing within the bounds of the Presbytery purposing to attend the classes at the ensuing session, are required to come prepared to give in their exercises, and those desirous of admission at the first time are required to attend for examination in order to their being certified.

A special meeting of the Board of Domestic Missions will take place at Shubenacadie on 3rd February at 11 o'clock, a. m.

The Theological Seminary of the Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia will open at West River on Wednesday 3rd March at 11 a. m. It is hoped that all students who design to attend this session will be forward on the day of opening, and prepared to present the Presbyterial certificate of their character and standing;—agreeably to a standing order of the Board of Superintendence.

Wm. McCULLY, Convener.

ANOTHER VACANCY.—At a meeting of the Presbytery of Pictou held at Tatamagouche on the 31st December last, the Rev. Robert Blackwood's demission of the charge of the congregation of Tatamagouche and New Annapolis, for some time before the Presbytery was accepted and his pastoral relation to it dissolved.

CALL.—At the same meeting a call from the congregation of Mabou & Port Hood was laid upon the table of Presbytery, which had come out unanimously in favor of the Rev. James Waddell of River John. The Rev. James Bayne was appointed to preach at River John and intimate this to that congregation and summon them to appear for their interest at the meeting of Presbytery to be held at New Glasgow on the 28th January.
