

The October issue of the Canadian Practitioner and Review contains a very interesting article by one of Western Ontario's prominent physicians on the successful use of

in the treatment of lobar and pleuro-pneumonia.

The series of cases reported on merely confirms the results received from the administration of Pneumolytic Serum by other able physicians in Canada and the United States, and we have confidence in recommending Pneumolytic Serum for the treatment of all forms of Pneumonia.

A reprint of the article referred to and other interesting information regarding Pneumolytic Serum, gladly sent on request.
