A laborer recently employed by Messis. McMullen, while engaged in tearing down an old house in Carey's Lane, Cork, found a stock of arms. Under the landing on the staircase about a hundred small swords were carefully stored. They were almost entirely eaten away with rust. Their practical finder sold them for old iron.

A memorable event in the history of Catholic Wexford occurred after the last Mars in the Franciscan Church, Wexford, on Sunday, May 24. Brother James Doyle, the first lay brother professed since the Reformation, made his solemn profession, taking the final vows of poverty, chastity and obedience as a lay brother of the Order of Franciscan Friars Minor. The Very Rev. S. B. Hore, O. S. F., officiated, and was as isted by Fathers P. A. Corish, O. S. F., and O'Hanlon. Father Hore delivered an appropriate sermon.

After the recent fatal accidents at the fire in Westmoreland street, Dublin, the authorities have been most energetic in testing the fire escapes. They have all been "weighed in the balance" and all been found wanting, none of them bearing the tests imposed on them at all satisfac-torily. People are clamoring for a better fire organization. not before it is required. It appears that the captain of the Dublin brigade is nearly eighty years of age, having retired on a pension from the police force over twenty-seven years ago, after a service of thirty old years. The brigade of Montreal have been held up as examples for the Irish metropolis to follow.

The census shows that Dublin with its suburbs has only increased about 3 per cent. during the decade, the population in 1881 being 339,161, and this year 350,559, an increase of only a trifle over 5000. Belfast has jumped from 208,122 in 1881. to 273,055 in the last return, an increase of over 31 per cent. The de-crease in Ireland for the ten years is close on a quarter of a million, or 9 per cent. The population for 1891 is given at 4,706,162. The actual increase of population in the ten years was 267,653, but this was altogether neutralized by the emigration for that period, which amounted to 768,105. Three millions and a half are returned as Roman Catholics, being 75.4 per cent. of the population. The only religious denomination showing a marked increase is the Methodist Church, which has increased at the rate of 13 per cent.

Dublin is likely to have one of the finest theatres in Europe. It is proposed to convert the Leinster Hall, which stands on the side of the old Royal on Hawkins street, into a theatre. The his loss. We shall not here resound all Royal, which had the name of being one of the most commodious theatres in the world, was burned down a number of years ago. A scheme is on foot to revive the Royal, by re-constructing the Leinster Hall, and the eminent architect, Mr. C. J. Phipps, has drawn out plans. These designs are after the Frankfort Opera House, which is said to be the most perfect place of amusement in Europe. The stage will be of vast dimensions, with a curtain line of sixty feet. There is ample room in the Leinster will accommodate considerably over that number. Thirteen exits and entrances will be provided, and the stage will be shut off from the rest of the nouse by a curtain of iron, three inches thick. The galleries will be constructed of iron and concrete. The Rev. T. L. Murray, P.P., of Innis-carra, died after a brief illness, on May 24. He was born in Researbery, South Cork, in 1800. He began his studies for the ministry in 1825 during the Penal Laws' struggle, and after a successful career in Maynooth College was ordained curacy of Sherkin Island; he was station-ed at Middleton during the terrible famine years of 1846-47-48, and until 1851. when he was made pastor of Glounthane, near Mallow. He was next appointed parish-priest of Inniscarra. Father Mur-ray took an active part in O'Connelly pricet in 1830. His first mission was the Repeal agitation, and was a personai friend of the great Liberator. At the starting of the National League move-ment he was elected president of the believer in the capacity of the Irish people for self government, and one of his dearest hopes was that he would live to witness the triumph of the Irish cause. He was so thoroughly convinced of the right of his country mentorule themselves, and felt so deeply the wrongs which they had borne, that he often declared, if the slightest probability of the success of an armed rebellion against English rule ex-isted, he would be willing, old as he was, to join the patriot army, and do what in him lay to aid it. He was buried on changed his portfolio. May 26, from the parish church in Clog hroe, where the Solemn Mass of Re-quiem was celebrated by the Rev. M. Callaghan, with the Revs. P. Leahy, deacon, and D. Brown, subdeacon. Bishop McCarthy, of Cloyne, occupied the throne. The assistants at the throne were Canon and S. Sisk. The interment was in the chapel grounds.

OBITUARY.

The death is announced of Rev. Mother St. Joseph (nee Mary Ann O'Brien), for 33 years a nun of Jesus and Mary convent, Levis.

The very sudden and untimely death of Mr. Lewis Sullivan was indeed a great shock to his many friends in Kingston, says the Freeman. He complained of being ill about a week ago, but so far re-covered as to be able to be out again on Thursday, when a relapse set in and which terminated fatally. He was a nephew of Hon. Dr. Sullivan and Mr. W. H. Sullivan, of this city, and was a very efficient and popular officer in the Inland Revenue department. The funeral, which took place on Sunday afternoon, was largely attended, the Catholic Literary Association, of which deceased was an active member, preceded the hearse, with six of their number acting as pall-bearers. The officers of the Inland Revenue department followed the chief mourners. At St. Mary's Cathedral the solemn Libera was chanted by Rev. Father Carey, the full choir being present. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, among them being a pillow bearing the words "At Rest," from his brother officers of the Revenue Office, anda wreath of immortelles from the members of the C. L. A.

Charlottetown.

In his first pastoral leter, the Rt. Rev. James Churles McDonald, D. D., the new Bishop of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, writes thus of his predecessor, the lamented Bishop McIntyre : "The people of the neighboring provinces, and even those of more distant parts, with whom he had any relations, could not but feel sensible of the great loss we have sustained. But how much more afflicting must it be to you, the faithful members of his spiritual flock, who have had the great alvantage and blessing of living over thirty years under his episcopal rule. During this long period of time he fultilled with the greatest zeal the duties of a most vigilant and charitable pastor. His paternal tenderness towards his clergy, his love for the members of his tlock, his zeal and solicitude in the discharge of his pastoral duties, his extensive works begun and finished in the diocese for the good of religion-all these give him a title to our highest respect and esteem, the praises of our illustrious predecessor. But time, which destroys all things else, shall not erase from your grateful re-membrance his inexhaustible charity, his ardent zeal his sweet and courteous manners."

Of himself he says : "One single thought alone consoles us. It is, that God is often pleased to manifest His power by the most feeble instruments, and to confound the great and strong through the ministry of the weak, in order that all the glory may be rendered to His infinite Hall building, as Drury Lane, the Lou-don theatre, could be conveniently built inside of it. The seating capacity of the old Royal was 2300, and the new theatre will accommodate considerably over that God, who is infinitely rich in mercy, has this is bosh. In the first place, Irishmen they had long been obliged to renounce have every reason to regard Lord Duf-it. He was confident that henceforth the Government would greatly profit by their capability. The speech, undoubted-ly inspired by the Emperor, produced a profound impression, and consternation reigned among the Extremist party. After a few minutes' absolute silence, the old Opposition party broke out in loud applause, the first ever given to Taafe.

REIGN OF TERROR.

Torrible State of Affairs at Port-au Prince.

NEW YORK, June 19.—A letter from Port-au-Prince, dated June 8, says there was at that time a reign of terror there, which had then lasted for nearly a fortnight. Men were being executed every day by the score in the squares and streets of the city and nobody knew when or how the massacres would end. On May 30, Hippolyte's soldiers entered by force the Mexican consulate and lragged out of the house General Souli, Mr. Rossier, Leger Cauvin, recently Minister of Justice under Hippolyte, and Cauvin's brother. These men were shot under the cathedral walls. The diplomatic corps demanded an audience of the President. Mr. Tweedy, acting consul for the British Government, demanded by what right the President had broken one of the most solemn obligations of one government to another, and wanted to know what security the other consular houses had. The President lost his temper and said: "Is this the way to talk to me---the President of this country ?" Saying this Hippolyte turned his back and bounced out of the room. Finally I.s. Cheud, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, induced the President to return, and an apology was made. The French consul accepted it. The German consul said that though personally he would accept the apology, he would cer-tainly report the affair to his Government. The English consul supported his German associate. Hippolyte was much frightened over the turn of affairs. The consuls then retired but the affair is not expected to end there. The letter also says that the real leaders of the insurrection have not been captured. Only the rank and tile have been made prisoners and ruthlessly shot. Generals Sully, Grettier and Bedar have escaped to the woods and are expected soon to be heard from in some northern city, as these former pratizans of Hippolyte are tired of his crueity and government, and his downfall is only a question of weeks. With regard to Hippolyte's madness, there is nothing strange in the story. Some years ago, when a refugee in Jamaica, he went raving made and was for some time confined in the Kingston asylum and was even placed in a strait jacket.
