brooke, in the Eastern Townships of Lower Canada. While there he was struck by the spectacle of the great out-flow of French Canadians across the Vermont frontier into the New England States; and in a series of letters published in the Quebec and Montreal papers called the attention of the Government and clergy to the consequences of this drain on the vital energies of the Provinces. Public meetings thereupon were held in the great cities; and a Home Colonization Society was formed headed by the patriotic Bishop Bourget of Montreal. The Governor-General, Lord Eigin, and the then Prime Minster, Lafontaine, entered heartily into the movement thus originated. Six hundred thousand acres of land were handed over by the Government around Lakes Megantic and St. Francis for a first experiment of home colonization, the British Government contributing thirty thous-sand pounds sterling in aid of his experi-The clergy everywhere took up this course as one essential to the welfare of the Province. CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

How Father Strubbe Waylald the Man Who sold Beer to Minors.

Father Strubbe, of St. Ann's Church not only preaches temperance but works for temperance. His locality at one time was considered the worst in the city for drunkenness and violation of the license laws. Thanks to the energectic measures taken by the Father this unenviable reputation is now a thing almost of the past. A well-known public official, who is a member of Father Strubbe's church, says he has known the pastor to go to certain workshops on pay day and bring to their homes men who have been in the habit of spending their salary in saloens. Such a course must in the nature of things be a great help to the cause of temperance.

Father Symble this morning took a walk around a region in his locality that he has long suspected harbored breakers of the liquor license laws. The suspected ones were as wise as scrpents; and were up to every dodge to outwit both their priest and the Provincial Police. Patience, however, has its reward, as was proven in Father Strubbe's case ; for about nine o'clock this morning he saw Lie Golden Jubilee of the Right Rev. a barefooted ragged looking boy coming Judge Cross to the Grand Jury.

The September term of the Court of ¿ucen's Bench, criminal side, was opened Thursday morning by Judges Cross and Justice Cross read the following address to the grand jurous :—

The judges of the Queen's Bench have just lost a late ithistrious colleague in the person of the late Hon. Mr. Justice Church, who departed this life on Tues-day morning, the 30th ult. A gentleman equally distinguished at the bar as a egislator and on the bench, he held many important offices with much advantage to the interests represented and great credit to himself. He occupied the highest positions under the premier-ship in the Provincial Ministry, and al-ways with signal advantage to the department administered. His loss will be greatly felt, and its severity will bear hard on his bereaved wife and family, who have our heartfelt sympathies.

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE GRAND JURY

"Gentlemen of the Grand Jury, a learned author remarked that grand jurors are constitutional public censors; that the country relies upon them as such; and that except for their presentments, public abuses, nuisances and oppressions might continue and escape with impunity.

How grand jurors can take up all questions of public morality is further dwelt upon. His Honor then continues, Modern legislation has, however, much diminished the necessity for the exer-cise of many of the Grand jurors functions by creating such offices and duties as that of inspectors of penitentiarics and the like, so that the action of grand jurous, in this regard, is less strictly followed than formerly, and would almost Mgr. bernard C Relliy Sordination to the said of effect of the priesthood will be collated on the 5th of September in the Cathodral of New York. A Brilliant Event.

On Wednesday evening last a most pleasant and brilliant reception was given to our esteemed fellow-townsman, Mr. J. J. Gethings, of the C. P. R., and late President of the St. Ann's Young Men's So-If Gothings, of the C. P. R., and late President of the St. Ann's Young Men's Society. Mr. Gethings recently joined the order of the "Benedictines," and had the happiness to lead to the altar an accomplished and popular young lady, in the person of Miss A. McCarthy. On Wednesday evening, when the young couple returned from their wedding trip they were met by the St. Ann's Young Men's Society who, with land and torches, ac-Society who, with band and torches, accompanied them to their residence. There an illuminated address was presented to Mr. Gethings and a purse of one hundred dollars. Tokens of esteem-they were also mementoes of the happy relations that always existed between the late president and the members of that prosperous and splendid society. After hearty congratulations on all sides, the newly married couple were fully launched, as the poet sings:

"Out on life's mystical ways:
Where joining the hands of each other,
They shall move through the stillness and noise,
Dividing the cares of existence,
But doubling its hopes and its joys,"
