

have as yet been accepted. Calfskins are dull and slow of sale in view of weakness and lack of demand in American markets. As the season advances, deliveries are increasing, but there is as yet little accumulation of stock. The season in sheepskins is now well over, and prices remain nominally unchanged. Tallow has for some months been very dull and prices low. On April 1st dealers reduced quotations $\frac{1}{4}$ c. For rough tallow dealers now pay $1\frac{1}{4}$ c. and for rendered $4\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. There is an accumulation of stock in the country and an absence of demand resulting from the use of substitutes.

SEEDS.—The long-continued winter weather has had a demoralizing effect upon the market. Jobbers have, in consequence of delay in the opening of the spring season, been compelled to sell staple seeds at lower prices, while growers have also had to submit to reduced prices in order to find a market for their produce. Red clover at outside points would command $4.50 to 4.60, while alsike is selling at a range of $3 to 4.20 per bushel. Jobbers quote to buyers: Timothy, $1.80 to 2.40; alsike clover, $3.50 to 4.75; red clover, $4.75 to 5.10. Flax seed remains dull and the market very quiet. English seed markets are quiet, with staple seeds in abundant supply and light demand.

WOOL.—An increased number of enquiries have come to hand this week as to prospects for the clip of 1896. As yet it is too early to predict concerning values, for even with open spring weather but little movement in the season's clip can be expected before the Queen's Birthday. Pulled wools are quiet and prices lower. We learn from the circular of Messrs. Helmut, Schwartz & Co. that the next three series of London sales have been fixed to commence on Tuesday, April 28th, with a limit of 325,000 bales on the gross arrivals, 30th June, with a limit of 375,000 bales, and 22nd September without limitation. After deduction of the transit wools, including the old stock, a net total of 270,000 to 280,000 bales will probably be available next series.
