

BY THE SAME AUTHOR

In One Volume, Crown 8vo., price 6s. each

JOSEPH VANCE

Mr. Louis MELVILLE, eminent critic, and author of a notable Life of Thackeray, writes as follows: "It is written from the heart—in its way it is as sincere as Newman's 'Apologia.' Epic in its conception, magnificent in its presentment—this autobiography of a great-hearted man could only be told as it is by another great-hearted man."

ALICE-FOR-SHORT

"A story that grips. . . . You never lose interest in it. . . . It is a remarkable book. To hold us in a curious, insidious way, arrested and concerned—in a word, to play with us and to charm us—this is a triumph which Mr. De Morgan's blended humour and sentiment achieves."—Daily Chronicle.

SOMEHOW GOOD

"Mr. De Morgan is becoming a national institution. We cannot do without him. He is an elderly, wise, humorous observer of life, with a sense of character and a fluent pen."—Times.

LONDON: WILLIAM HEINEMANN,
31 BEDFORD STREET, W.C.