Testerday morning's service in St. Michael's Cathedral was made the more impressive by the presence of Cardinal Logue, primate of all Ireiand, who attended 10.30 o'clock and high mass, and preached the sermon. His eminence arrived early Sunday morn-ing from Montreal on Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co.'s steamer To-ronto. With him was Monsignor Sea-grave of Ireiand. Both were received at the landing by Rev. Father Whe-lan and then proceeded to St. Michael's Palace, where they are the guests of the rector unil Tuesday. Cardinal Logue looks as tho he has passed the allotted three-score-and-ten, but is sprightly in his walk. He has the Kelitic round head, bright, clear eyes, kindly expression, but an upper lip and low jaw which be-speak strength of will and the power to command. CHURCH OF ROME A POWER IS KILLED BY FRIGHT IS LESSON OF CONGRESS Archdeacon Cody Says Protestants Need to Be Roused From Indifference,

<text><text><text><text><text> In an address, whose keynote was moderation, Archdeacon Cody; at St. Paul's Anglican Church yesterday norning, took cognizance of utterances at the recent Eucharistic Congress in Montreal, with particular reference to Rev. Father Vaughan's assertion that Protestantism was a "soulless relig-Protestantism was a "soulless relig-ion." Seldom has the archdeacon de-livered a more scholarly and thought-ful sermon, and, althe he defended the Protestant church with force and feel-ing, his remarks showed no trace of rancor. Interest in the subject was attested by the large size of the con-gregation, some of the listeners being compelled to stand in the vestibule. The rector alluded to the large congre-sation as an encouraging indication that the proceedings at the congress had aroused the adherents of the Pro-testant religion to a wholesome sense of the situation. The text was from St. Faul's words: "We walk by faith, not aul's words: "We walk by faith, not

It should be a great help and warning to Protestants to learn something of the strength of the Roman Catholic com-munion. It was a mistake to under-estimate its influence, for, tho it might have difficulties in France, Spain and Portugal, it was still a power in the world.

world. Another lesson taught was that the Church of Rome appreciated fully the strategic importance of Canada and the British Empire, as a missionary field. No where else was its extension more marked than in Canada, and Procest-ants should be equally alert and vigor-

A third lesson was that Roman Cath-olicism always linked together creed and country. It had never been guity of the common fallacy that it didn't matter what a man believed, never showing that broad kind of toleration based on indifference or laziness. Creed and conduct were bound together. Must Preserve the Young. The congress should teach the Pro-testant church how to enlist the child-ren from their eatilest years. Were Protestants guilty of neglecting the re-ligious education of children in the home, school and church? "If we are neglecting the children, God help the future of Protestantism," averred the speaker. The congress had been marked by outspoken utterances. The faith Pro-testants professed had been emphat-ically attacked. "This has stirred our indifference
