

Orangeade!

The next time you are down near our fountain and feel thirsty, step inside and say "Orangeade" to the Soda Dispenser, then watch him. First he selects a fresh, ripe orange, cuts it in two and squeezes the golden juice into a polished glass, then some cracked ice and sugar (just enough to suit your taste), a dash of lime-juice and some pure, bubbling carbonated water. Then you have a drink and we have a satisfied customer.

It has become one of the most popular drinks at our fountain, so popular that at times we are pressed to supply the demand. Its popularity is due entirely to its own merits.

Try It! You'll Like It! It's a Real Treat!

DOG DAY IN POLICE COURT

In the police court this was Dog Day. Upwards of forty persons' names were called for not having their dogs registered and licenses paid.

There was a strong expression of opinion on the part of the police magistrate that August was no time for dog day. "It should be in May; it is too late now as the damage to our public squares has been all done by these dogs running wild."

Dog day was not without its amusing incidents. Old excuses cropped up again. "I sent my dog to the country for the summer," there are three persons sick at home and I can't afford to buy a license; "It belongs to my wife's sister," "I had a dog in May but he strayed away and never came back," "I had a dog but he died." Some "had been drowned."

Several persons failed to put in an appearance in answer to the summons. The magistrate called the policemen who distributed the papers, took their evidence and fined the absent defendants $5.00, $5 as a payment of their fine for not having dog licenses and fifty cents costs. Warrants will be issued now against the absentees.

In the cases of those who did appear nearly all took out their dog licenses and the fines were not pressed.

The names of those who were in court are: Arthur Morris, Stanley Adams, Joseph Hall, a soldier who said in view of his dog saving the life of a child in Simonds street last year and that the owner was a returned soldier should be exempt from a license; George Gibbons, Fred Fredeau, Michael Curran, Albert Bennett, Robert Wilson, George Harris, Percy March and Arthur Logan. Those whose names were read and who did not appear were: Hugh McGuire, James Young, William Sullivan, John Knives, A. E. Kierstead, W. Oldfield, John McManus, Major Green, John Campbell, Arthur Jones, C. W. Goodwin, Joseph Arthur, Robert Muise, Frank Mason, Peter Murray, John Moore, Albert Winter, C. Robinson, George Fitzgerald, James Wilson and J. Mitchell. Some others came to court later in the morning.

One man living in Millidge avenue said that he wanted some information. He had received a summons and had taken out a dog license two days ago. He asked why he should be taxed by the city of St. John and other people in his neighborhood. Miss Young said she submitted names of several persons living near him who had not been taxed for having a dog. It was shown by the court that several persons living quite near him had been summoned. The magistrate informed the policeman that dogs seen about the streets and especially in the squares without a proper leash should be rounded up and the owners fined.

NO MONTREAL TRAIN BEFORE MONDAY OR TUESDAY IS REPORT

The work of repairing the washouts at Greenville Junction on the C. P. R. main line is progressing very favorably. In one place there is a washout 100 feet long and 40 feet deep to be filled in but practically the heaviest part of the work is finished. Officials today announced that it was not likely that a C.P.R. train would leave St. John for Montreal before Monday or Tuesday evening. The hope of having one haul out on Sunday night has been practically given up.

H. C. Groat, general superintendent of the Atlantic division, is still at the scene of the accident and is overseeing the work.

CASE TO JURY THIS AFTERNOON

Mr. Mullin and Attorney-General Conclude Addresses in Arson Trial

In the supreme court this morning before Chief Justice McKewen, in the case of Joseph O'Brien and John Hughes, charged with having set fire to a summer cottage owned by William J. Crawford, Loch Lomond road, the spectators taxed the capacity of the court room. When the court adjourned yesterday afternoon Mr. Mullin, K. C., senior counsel for the defendants, had not completed his address to the jury and this morning resumed. He said the real prosecutor was County Policeman Saunders and not William J. Crawford. The latter, he said, bore no malice against the prisoners and had in his testimony said that he had always been on good terms with them. Mr. Mullin also criticized the attorney-general for methods adopted in the trial. He said that the whole case was conducted by the master glumbers, and that someone must be made an example of. He also emphasized points regarding the distance between certain places mentioned in the evidence, and said it was impossible to cover them in the time brought out. In conclusion, he said that before the shades of night fell he was confident that the prisoners would walk out of the building free men.

Hon. Mr. Byrne. The attorney-general then arose to address the jury. Through the five hours address of Mr. Mullin, he sat, without showing a trace of feeling, but when he started to speak this morning in a torrent of language he assailed Mr. Mullin. He said Mr. Mullin was the man who had introduced new and novel methods in the case, and in addition had assailed the witnesses, many of whom were reputable citizens. With reference to his challenging the whole array of the jury and objecting to the election of the men by Sheriff Wilson, he said, it was certainly something new and novel. Because a prisoner was a negro, he said, it was not essential that the jury be composed of negroes. He reviewed the evidence brought out during the trial and emphasized points regarding the attitude of some of the witnesses, the distances sworn to by Engineer G. G. Murdoch and the impressions of Lord Justice of the Peace. In conclusion he said: "The Crown leaves this case in your hands, feeling, as the Crown has a right to feel, that you will not be swayed from your duty through an appeal for sympathy or by the tactics of the defence and that you will give it to the consideration which its importance demands."

As the attorney-general's address was not concluded until after one o'clock the court adjourned to meet at 2.30. His Honor Chief Justice McKewen will then give his charge to the jury and the case will rest with them.

RELATIVE OF J. D. HOWE IS KILLED IN WAR

The news that Harold McElwaine has been killed in action has been received by J. D. Howe of this city, who is a relative of the young soldier. Private McElwaine, who was in his twenty-first year, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi McElwaine of Temperance Vale, York County.

HAROLD McELWAIN
Killed in Action.
Year, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi McElwaine of Temperance Vale, York County.

He went across early in the war and had seen much heavy fighting. He was wounded a year ago but recovered and was sent back to the trenches only a while before his death occurred, on July 9. His only brother, Frederick, is in a hospital seriously wounded and in a critical condition. He was through the battle of Vimy Ridge and at the time was officially reported killed. This proved incorrect and it was learned later that he had gone through the engagement without a scratch but was wounded by a bursting shell as he was going to the rear after the battle.

RESCUED FROM DROWNING

Captain John Gilchrist, of 45 Douglas avenue, master of the steamer May Queen, on last Sunday rescued from drowning a young man and woman just below the Highway bridge at Fredericton. Captain Gilchrist was on the deck of his steamer when he was attracted by cries for help. He ran to the side and saw a young man and woman struggling in the water. They had been canoeing and the canoe had overturned. Captain Gilchrist ran for a small boat which was attached to the steamer and in a very short time succeeded in reaching those in the water. It was only with much effort that he succeeded in getting them. Had he not moved so quickly the accident might have proven fatal.
