BROADWAY LIGHTS OUT AT ELEVEN

Fuel Administration Dims Brightness of Great White Way

Washington, Nov. 12.—The hundreds of huge electric signs which won for Broadway the name of "The Great White Way" are to be put under regulation by the government. An order signed by Dr. H. A. Garfield, the fuel administrator, directs that after 11 o'clock at night all of the big advertising signs in New York and other cities must be darkened and that they must not be turned on before 7.45 o'clock in the evening.

Exception was made in the order for signs maintained by small merchants to direct the public to their places of business. If these are not of any unreasonable size they will be permitted to continue lighted while the establishments are open for business, but must be dark with the closing of the shops.

Comrades.
(Elias Liberman in Everybody's for November.)

He was society's lily pet.
Some parlor soul, a degree
That flirted around with the upshot set.
Now we're test-mates, him and me.
I was a grocer's clerk before
My fate got mixed with the infantry.

But they don't need a visitin'-card for war.
In the home o' the brave and the land o' the free.

He used to sneer at me for a simp;
"Lizzie" I called him the first few days.
We didn't get on till, worn and limp,
We found we wuz game in different ways.

Marchin' full tilt for thirty miles
With the sun full glare on him and me
Just leveled us stiff, and it counted paces
For the makin' o' true democracy.

So two guys are comrades now;
I swear at him and he swears at me;
We're gettin' fit for the little row
That's goin' on across the sea.

Unc' Sam drew lots and called us two,
And he ain't so very p.r.i.v. at them.
There's a lot o' work for all to do
And a deuce of a famine in fighting men.

He was society's lily pet.
But now we bunk in the same tepee.
He used to dance with the gilded set;
And it's drill and beans for him and me.

He don't give a darn what I was before,
And I don't give a whoop what he used to be;
All that we know is we're in a war
Hittin' it up for democracy.

Constipation Relieved by Food

MAN was provided with the weapon to fight constipation right in his food. The weapon is the natural waste in the cereals. Any doctor will tell you that the long muscular digestive tube is precisely designed to be incited to action by means of waste, and not by irritating drugs.

The United States Government's Health Service will send you a most interesting booklet written by three well-known scientists. Their experiments show the importance of full-nutrition foods.

REPRESENTATION OF WAGE EARNERS AT PEACE TALK

American Federation Mikes
Demand A: Annual Meeting

REPORT OF EXECUTIVE

Questions Raised By War Occupy Greater Part—The Eight Hour Day—Conscription of Labor—Membership And Finances

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Demand for "adequate and direct" representation of wage earners at the world peace conference is made in the annual report of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, submitted today to the federation in convention here.

The report declares that the world war "must wipe out all vestiges of the old conceit that the nation belongs to the ruler." Questions raised by the war occupy virtually all of the report, and it is left for doubt that the United States government has the unanimous support of organized American labor in the war, and it is asserted with equal emphasis that the vital interests of the average citizen demand that he have a voice in the readjustments to come with the dawn of peace.

Optimism over labor achievements in the last year is tempered with a warning that benefits obtained from emergency opportunities must be based on principles of human welfare and not the result of taking advantage of the nation's necessity. Freedom of expression is urged, and the report says those who abuse the freedom of the press to undermine the nation's free institutions should be punished.

President Wilson's war address to congress is included in the report, with the declaration adopted by the union officials last March when it was seen to be inevitable that the European conflict would spread to America. Under the heading "Labor and the War," the report says:

"Under all circumstances it is the duty of any government to protect its people against wilful and wholesale murder. A people unwilling to make supreme sacrifice in support of the government which undertakes to make that principle good are unworthy to enjoy the privilege of free, democratic government."

The duty of wage-earners in the war is emphasized particularly in the section of the report devoted to "peace terms," which advocates an international agreement to secure peace and the settlement of the present war without "indirective indemnities or territorial changes. The section says:

"It is an imperative duty from which there is no escape that wage-earners as well as all other citizens of this republic support our government in its righteous effort to defend principles of humanity and to establish democracy in international relations. Because we desire permanent peace it is our duty to fight and sacrifice until these purposes can be achieved."

"When nations can send representatives to negotiate peace terms in accordance with this concept, we maintain that the basic provisions of the peace treaty should be formulated with regard to the rights and welfare of the men, women and children constituting the nations rather than the governments of the nations. The government should be only an instrumentality of the people instead of dominating and actuating their lives. This terrible war must wipe out all vestiges of the old conceit that the nation belongs to the ruler or government."

"We hold that the same principles should apply to relations between nations and that secret diplomacy should be replaced by diplomatic representatives responsible to the people of their own country and received by either the parliament of the country to which they are accredited or by a representative of the people, responsible to them."

"Working people have never been properly represented in diplomatic affairs. The future must be constructed on broader lines than the past. We insist, therefore, that the government of the United States provide adequate and direct representatives of wage-earners among the plenipotentiaries sent to the peace congress, and urge upon the labor movements of other countries to take like action."

ation to secure justice and therefore peace in relations between nations. Governments derive their just power from the consent of the governed. No political or economic restriction meant to benefit some nations and to cripple or embarrass others.

"No indemnities or purposes of deliberate desire to injure, but to right manifest wrongs."

"Recognition of the rights of small nations and of the principle 'No people must be formed under sovereignty under which it does not wish to live'."

"No territorial changes or adjustment of power except in furtherance of the welfare of the peoples affected and in the furtherance of world peace."

"In addition to these basic principles which are based upon declarations of the president of the United States, there should be incorporated in the treaty that shall constitute the guide of the new world order and conditions into which we enter at the close of the war the following:

"1. No article or commodity shall be shipped or delivered in international commerce in the production of which children under the age of sixteen have been employed or permitted to work."

"2. It shall be declared that the basic work-day in industry and commerce shall not exceed eight hours."

"3. Involuntary servitude shall not exist except as a punishment for crime, and shall be limited to the period of the sentence."

"4. Establishment of trial by jury."

Considerable space is devoted to the attitude of the council toward problems raised by the war which have been crossing public attention. Chief among these is the much-discussed suggestion for the conscription of labor, concerning which the report says:

"Immediately after the declaration of war by the United States government an agitation was commenced for the purpose of organizing what was to be known as an 'Industrial Reserve.' It was proposed that men in industry should become part of a semi-military organization to be directed and controlled by our military establishment, to the end that those employed in industry could be shifted from one location to another, because of its military feature, the proposition was opposed by the officers of the American Federation of Labor. In the light of the experience gleaned in foreign countries now engaged in war, it appears that the shifting of workers has not only been necessary but vital to the carrying on of the great conflict. Several plans have been proposed, but none thus far has been adopted."

"The Water of Eternal Youth" far has been accepted as a proper solution of the problem. If the war continues for any considerable period, this question will have to be met. The primary agency necessary for dealing with proper adjustment of workers is a national employment bureau, equipped to give workers information of employment opportunities and employers information of available and suitable workers. It is one of the necessary and essential activities of the war that certain industries on occasions are called upon materially to increase production, and, in this event, some plan must be inaugurated to meet the needs of the government."

"The report recognizes the possibility that war conditions may bring about a 'more general advent' of women in industry. Demand is made that equal pay be given for equal work without regard to sex, which the report says can be obtained only through organization of the new wage-earners."

Eight-hour Day.
Urgent recommendation is made by the council that the eight-hour day be extended by administrative authority to all commerce and industry as a war measure. The failure of all concerns to accept the eight-hour basis is declared the cause of more industrial discontent than any other one condition."

The report records that 21 states, aggregating one-third of the voting population of the United States, have adopted the initiative and referendum. Pacifist movements to distract the nation's attention from the business of war are answered by the council in the republication of the declaration adopted by the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy, which met in Minneapolis. Intimidation and deportation of striking wage-earners in the west are denounced.

Finances and Membership.
Financial conditions of the federation were discussed in the report of Morrison, treasurer, which showed total receipts for the year of $412,047.76 and

CHILL STARTS COLD WAS SICK FOUR WEEKS Just Able To Crawl About

Mr. Weldon T. Hawkes, Curryville, N. B., writes: "Last spring I was taken very ill with a severe cold. I got wet and it started with a chill. I was sick four weeks, and was just able to crawl about. People all said I had inflammation of the lungs, and I think I did. I told a friend to get me two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and before the first one was taken my cold and cough were broken up, and the second did its work completely. I am raising a family and I find that it is a good medicine for the children."

There is no remedy that will cure a cold and I find that it is a good medicine for the children. There is no remedy that will cure a cold and I find that it is a good medicine for the children. There is no remedy that will cure a cold and I find that it is a good medicine for the children."

WAS OFF WORK 4 or 5 MONTHS A YEAR WITH CONSTIPATION

If the truth were only known you would find that over one-half of the ills of life are caused by allowing the bowels to get into a constipated condition. When the bowels become constipated the stomach gets out of order, the liver does not work properly, and then follows the violent sick headaches, the sourness of the stomach, heartburn, water brash, etc.

Keep your bowels regular by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. They work known as 'The Magpie' was built engaged in doing his bit by capturing nine prisoners.

"On the night of the 29-30 October, the Belgians again did a brisk business in taking prisoners. After a violent artillery preparation, three detachments of the Belgian rifle corps dashed forward in the German trenches on this sector, 'mopped them up' and brought back a number of prisoners, as well as supplies and munitions."

"To accomplish this operation, the Belgians had to advance more than a half a mile over No Man's Land across a boggy country, cut by overflowing canals and filled with shell holes, and to carry with them a foot bridge weighing six hundred pounds. Protected by a very accurate barrage fire, the Belgians were able to get within eighty yards of the enemy trenches and then at the signal they dashed forward and in twenty seconds were in trench, where they took four prisoners."

"When the second detachment of Belgians jumped into the trench, they found eight more Germans, two of them wounded in a shelter. In another shelter were six of the enemy who refused to surrender and who were killed. When the third Belgian detachment came up, they found only dead bodies in the first line trench, and in the second trench there was no one at all."

"The Belgians returned from this expedition with a great quantity of supplies and ammunition, besides the prisoners."

Trench Raiding By Means of Boats And Portable Bridges

How Belgians Harass Hated German Invader at Night

21 Men Captured by 8—One Party of Raiders Carried Footbridge Weighing Over Six Hundred Pounds

Washington, Nov. 13.—Night trench raiding by means of boats and portable bridges is not an infrequent occurrence in the flooded portions of the front held by the Belgian troops. Stories of such feats are told in a cablegram received here today by the Belgian Legation.

"In order to see what was in the German trenches," says the despatch, "Corporal Jean Leunarts, accompanied by two men, Cornelle Vandembreck and Francois Pasteleux, set out in a small boat on a voyage of discovery across the flooded country. Having satisfied themselves as to the lay of the land, they made a signal to their comrades. The officer in command, Sub-Lieutenant Maurice Antoine, immediately sent forward some patrols and formed a junction with a detachment of French troops. One of the Belgian patrols, consisting of only eight men, made twenty-one prisoners at the farm of Neupharis, east of Blankart Pond. Sergeant Vanhaegen, who led this patrol, has told the story in these words: 'I looked through some of the enemy works on the west side of the stream, but finding no one there, I crossed the German foot bridge to the other side and reached the farm. Posting six of my men around the trench, I took the seventh with me and entered the shelter, holding my Browning in one hand and the Belgian flag in the other, so that the French could recognize us. The German adjutant was taken by surprise and held up his hands. I saw twenty of the enemy and yelled to the rest of my men, who at once jumped over the parapet, and, in a wink, we cleared the whole lot. I then trotted my prisoners safely back about one thousand yards and turned them over.'"

"While these eight men were taking their twenty-one prisoners, Sergt. Guillaume Mellebeck, over at the farm known as 'The Magpie' was built engaged in doing his bit by capturing nine prisoners."

"On the night of the 29-30 October, the Belgians again did a brisk business in taking prisoners. Madison, Wis., Nov. 13.—Suit for $100,000 damages has been filed on behalf of Senator La Follette against the Democrat Printing Company and O. D. Brandenburg, president and editor. The action is based on alleged libels contained in editorial utterances, news dispatches, quotations from other newspapers and magazines, and condemnatory resolutions published in the Democrat and intended to show that the senator was giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

Mr. Brandenburg announced that the paper will say editorially that it welcomes the test afforded by the suit.
