

CASEY AND TEAM HERE TOMORROW

St. Peters to Play Them in Last Clash of Season With Nine from Across Border.

St. Peters and the Neponset All-Stars will meet on St. Peter's Park tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the final game of their series. Fans will be pleased to learn that Dick Casey, who was summoned to his home last Monday, is en route to rejoin the team, probably in time to play in Frederickton this evening, but here sure for Saturday's game. As the season is rapidly drawing to a close fans will be eager to see the local champions and the visiting players clash in their final struggle for honors. Both teams will play their strongest line-up and a good game is expected. The Neponset All-Stars will leave for their home on the S. S. Governor Dingley on Saturday evening.

VALENTINO DENIES IT IS A MONEY QUARREL

Movie Actor Indicates Dissatisfaction With the Art Side of the Industry.

New York, Sept. 7.—Rudolph Valentino, moving picture actor, denied that the matter of money entered into his difficulties with the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. Neither he nor his attorney, Arthur Butler, would say definitely just what caused Valentino to serve notice upon the company that the actor was dissatisfied and wished to be released from the hands of his contract.

The law firm of Guggenheim, Untermyer & Marshall was retained by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, and in a letter to Will H. Hayes, overlord of the movies, announced that they would bring suit against Valentino to restrain him from violating his agreement to perform exclusively in motion pictures for the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation for a period which has about two and a half years to run.

"Pending the hearing of the application, which we are preparing for an injunction pendente lite," the letter ran, "it is important that no producer shall enter into a contract with Valentino in ignorance of the rights and claims of our client."

Mr. Graham was asked whether Valentino was receiving, as reported, a salary of approximately $3,000 a week for his services.

"He's not getting anything like that; $3,000 divided by three would be more like it," he replied.

"I have been dissatisfied with the photography, management and direction—the handling of all my films," Valentino said. "They do not live up to my artistic ambitions."

"I am not interested in their box office value, but only from the artistic viewpoint. Some of the pictures I have made have been great money makers. 'The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse' earned more than $2,000,000; 'The Sheik' earned more than $1,000,000. That picture, incidentally, is my idea of a poor performance. I hate it."

Decisions in Boxing Bout.

The boxing exhibition in the St. Andrew's rink last evening was attended by approximately 700 fans, who witnessed four bouts, two main bouts of ten rounds each and two preliminary affairs of six rounds. None of the bouts went the limit, although the fans witnessed some snappy exhibitions. In the main bout between Kid Paris and Claude Phinney the latter's second was compelled to throw the towel into the ring at the end of the sixth round on account of Phinney's right eye being badly split. His optic was bleeding and was also so badly swollen that he could scarcely see out of it at all. Up to this time both boxers had earned two rounds and two were even.

The other main bout between Battling Christensen and Tommy Williams ended in the fourth round when Williams was awarded the decision on account of Christensen's second rushing into the ring when his boxer had Tommy practically out. The referee started to give the bout to Christensen when he noticed the latter's second in the ring and he then stepped over and held up Tommy's glove signifying his victory.

In the preliminary bouts Mike Collins knocked out Kid Mose, colored, in the second round, while in the other preliminary the referee stopped the bout between Kid Burns and Jack Sullivan and awarded the decision to the former, as Sullivan persisted in stalling and clinching.

The officials in charge of the boxing exhibition last evening were: Judges, James Powers and Daniel Britt; referee, C. W. Ellsworth; timers, Frederick Logan and M. Dolan; announcer, Barney Mooney.

SLEEP DISTURBER PUNCHED.

Stroller Over Roofs Gets Little Sympathy From Teacher or Judge.

The sound of walking on the roof over his head at night caused Fred Unkison, a school teacher of 630 Seventy-ninth street, Brooklyn, to investigate and the result was that he was arraigned in court before Magistrate Geismar, on a charge of assault.

The officials in charge of the boxing exhibition last evening were: Judges, James Powers and Daniel Britt; referee, C. W. Ellsworth; timers, Frederick Logan and M. Dolan; announcer, Barney Mooney.

Harold Wolferman, living next door, was the complainant, and after he had told his story, the magistrate freed Unkison, remarking: "I wouldn't want my sleep disturbed either."

Wolferman stated that he was exercising on the roof of his home and accidentally went over on Unkison's roof. The teacher, he said, jumped from behind a chimney and struck him in the face. Unkison's defence was that Wolferman insisted he couldn't sleep.

"I don't think he was exercising," commented the teacher.

"And I don't blame you," rejoined the magistrate.

WILL PLAY NEW ANTHEM.

Brounoff Has "Addition" to "The Star-Spangled Banner."

New York, Sept. 8.—A new national anthem—not a substitute for "The Star-Spangled Banner," but an "up-to-date addition" to it—will have its first public try-out here next Sunday afternoon in the studio of Platon Brounoff, who composed it. He calls it "America, My Glorious Land." The words are by B. Dahl.

When sung in Washington a while ago by Reussky, a chess player and pupil of Brounoff, "America, My Glorious Land" is said to have made a big hit with the U. S. senate. Brounoff says that he has been a citizen of the United States for the last twenty-five years and a lecturer in the Board of Education for nearly as long.

The Rev. John A. Swetnam of Waterloo street Baptist church returned to the city last night after having spent his vacation visiting many parts of Nova Scotia, including Cape Breton. He will resume his duties as pastor of the Waterloo street Baptist church and chaplain of the General Public hospital. Many friends will be glad to hear of his return.

LIQUOR AND DRUGS SEIZED IN RAID

Ten Persons Arrested as Result of Visit to a Hotel in Theatre District of New York.

New York, Sept. 8.—A raiding party of twenty-eight internal revenue agents, twelve police detectives and two assistant federal attorneys swept down on the Hotel Longacre, in the theatrical district last night, arrested ten persons and seized quantities of narcotics and liquor.

Assistant District Attorney Connolly, who carried a search warrant, said the raid was made as a step in a campaign to put a check to the widespread traffic in drugs in the white light district. While the raid was still in progress Mr. Connolly emerged from the hotel to announce:

"We are finding hypodermic needles, stoves for cooking narcotic drugs and all sorts of paraphernalia all through this place, and we are not through yet." The raid lasted an hour.
