Judgment in Application to Appeal by Thomas Kelly Against Appraisers

Winnipeg, Oct. 7.—Judgment given by Mr. Justice Curran orders Thomas H. Kelly, the contractor, to pay back to the government of Manitoba, $1,207,351.03, the amount decided by the board of appraisers, as having been received by him in over-payments in connection with the contract for the Manitoba parliament buildings, with interest at 5 per cent. from July 1, 1914.

The decision was made upon application to appeal by Thomas H. Kelly against the ruling of the board of appraisers, composed of Robert MacDonald, umpire, of Montreal; S. C. Oxtun, deputy minister of public works, representing the provincial government; and H. J. Eurtz, representing Mr. Kelly.

The contractor had charged misconduct on the part of Mr. MacDonald in that documents were produced before the appraisal board by Mr. Oxtun, which had not been shown to the representative of the contractor. It was also alleged that Mr. Oxtun had acted improperly in presenting the evidence.

Mr. Justice Curran, in his judgment, states that he is unable to find any evidence of legal or moral misconduct on the part of the representatives.

The amounts in the appraisers' report which were questioned in the appeal were $160,000 for repairs already made on caisson foundations; $812,000 for prospective repairs on the foundations; and $34,000 for one-half the expense of the Mathers Royal Commission.

GERMANS EXPECT RATIFICATION BY LAST OF OCTOBER

London, Oct. 8.—The German press forebodes the exchange of documents relating to ratification of the peace treaty in the latter part of October, according to wireless reports received here. This, however, is contingent upon the completion of ratification by Italy, France and Japan, the papers intimate, and they point out that the treaty would thus come into force before the termination of the debate in the United States senate.

LEONCAVALLO'S JOKE

Leoncavallo possessed a fund of humor which once landed him in an awkward predicament. Visiting in a provincial theatre where "Pagliacci" was being performed, he found the stall on his left occupied by a music lover who applauded freely throughout the performance, and as the curtain fell remarked to his neighbor, "What a masterful piece!" The composer, being in the vein for a joke, replied: "Nothing of the kind. Speaking as a professional musician, I can assure you that the opera is one mass of plagiarisms. The cavatina is practically all Berlioz. The opening duet is taken from Gounod. The finale sounds like a bad imitation of one of Verdi's finales, and so on from beginning to end." Leaving the town by train the next morning, Leoncavallo bought a local paper at a bookstall and found therein an article headed: "Confessions of a Plagiarist. Startling Admissions by Signor Leoncavallo." His neighbor was a journalist who happened to recognize the composer.

SEEKS OVERTHROW OF KOLCHAK REGIME

President of First Siberian Duma Issues Proclamation in Vladivostok

Vladivostok, Sept. 16.—(Associated Press).—Ivan Yakusheff, president of the first Siberian Duma, which was dissolved by Admiral Kolchak, head of the All-Russian government at Omsk, last fall, signed and issued secretly on Sept. 5, a proclamation calling for the overthrow of the Kolchak government and the convocation of a popular convention to establish an All-Siberian Constituent Assembly.

The proclamation declares the breaking up of the Western Siberian army was "a result of the inability of the Kolchak government to even organize national defence against the Bolsheviks." It enumerates the tasks of the convention as follows:

The formation of a temporary government responsible to the Zemstvo Congress.

To accept regulations and to draft laws for the convocation of an All-Siberian constituent assembly.

The establishment of civil law and order.

The transfer of local governmental agencies of the power to organize local self-government.

The abolition of restrictive measures keeping peasants from the land.

The restoration of freedom to professional workmen's unions and the enactment of urgent laws protecting workers.

The abolition of the reactionary regime of the army.

A proclamation of amnesty for people participating in recent partisan uprisings.

The proclamation says the time and place of the convention will be announced later, and contends that "as a result of Admiral Kolchak's administration, not a trace is left of the enthusiasm with which the population welcomed the fall of the Soviet power in Siberia."

"The displeasure which began with the announcement of a dictatorship," it continues, "has gradually increased, and in many cases has become an open revolt. Peasant revolts have now traversed all Siberia and show the depths of dissatisfaction felt throughout the country. As means of pacification, the government has taken no steps other than corporal punishment and shootings which in cruelty have exceeded the violence of the Bolsheviks. Occupied with incessant intrigues, the government has shown no statesmanship, and has brought the country to the eve of catastrophe."

It is impossible to say how seriously intended the above scheme is. One leader claims a new regime will soon be established. The Zemstvo group has already organized a press bureau.
