not offered them, thus they have to go through life unappreciated and misunderstood.

One need never gush, but it is wise if one can overcome inherited reticence, to make too much of a mystery of your feelings. Rindly impulses are nothing to be ashamed of, rather the contrary. If your actions are misinterspreted, if your sympathy is out accapted, that is the fault of others and should not discourage a second attempt to give help where perhaps it will be most welcome.

It is all very well to be brave over a sorrow, but being too stoical prevents another soul in trouble from easing their heart in words which would give relief. The bond between those who have suffered is very strong, and to be able to convey one'st sympathy without words is a gift the exercise of which should not be restrained. Then, too, the reserved nature misses so many of the joys of social intercourse and often possesses talents which would give enjoyment to others, if those talents were exercised.

It needs resolution and perseverance to overcome the habits of years, but it is worth it, my friend says, and I believe her.

What do you think about it?

must be brought home to us that such a humane society is deserving of our support.

Apart from sentiment the supply of horses must be kept up and each one that is restored and made fit for service is that much better for our cause.

In letters from the front we read, "I lost my faithful old horse who had been through so much with me." And again, "Leaving Egypt I had to say good-by to my good old horse and while I have another it is not the same to me."

The devotion of the men to their horses is a noted characteristic of the British soldier, while cruelty to animals is on the contrary a distinguishing mark of the Hun.

A branch of the Blue Cross Society has been established in St. John' for some time under the direction of Miss Violet Whittaker. All contributions to the funds are purely voluntary and are sent direct to the treasurer or put in the white boxes marked with a blue cross which are to be found in several of the city stores.

Recently five of the local chapters of the Daughters of the Empire have contributed the sum of $110 to this society of mercy. List of callers at New Brunswick Government Office, 37 Southampton street, Strand, London, W. C. 2, up to 3rd October:

FIRST CONSIGNMENT.

THESE, our little Canadians, born to freedom, to a heritage of happiness, Germany's greed would enslave!

For they were heirs to Canada's boundless wealth—our mines, our forests, our teeming fields—the Hun hungered for these riches of Canada.

In his plans for world power, Canada was not overlooked in the German scheme of plundering the nations.

Doubtless there are to-day in Berlin plans for the apportionment of concessions of Canada's natural resources, plans for the government of Canada, for the policing of our cities, the levying of taxes, for enforced adoption of the German language as was done in Lorraine after 1871, and all he other systems of government by German methods.

And a brutal German soldiery would have enforced those systems by which the people would have been enslaved and every vestige of freedom and independence destroyed.

If Prussian plans had carried the smile would have passed forever from the happy little faces in our homes.

Our boys and girls—heirs to Canada's riches—would have worked as slaves in their own mines, in their forests, their fields and factories.

The fruits of their toil, the wealth of Canada, theirs by right, would have been borne across the seas to fatten the German

While the beast lives, his venom, his gall, his merciless, monstrous ambition threaten our homes.

Canada — young, high-spirited, independent—must stand firm.

Canada must use the wealth the Hun lusts after to crush him to earth.

Canada's strength, the united strength of each and every true Canadian, must raise the shield of protection for the generations to come.

The call will soon come for more of Canada's wealth. It is your money that is needed—every cent that you by cheerful sacrifice and loving self-denial can lend to your country.
