Judge Ritchie For Prohibition

After Presiding Over St. John Court for Thirty Years, Surely None Can be in a Better Position to Intelligently Compare Present and Past Conditions, and Safely and Sanely Advise the Electorate as to the Best Way to Vote Saturday.

Doubtless Judge Ritchie could write volumes concerning local police court happenings during the last thirty years, the great majority because of liquor, the curse of which can be greatly lessened Saturday. In an interview yesterday the venerable Judge said: "You cannot quote me too strongly as in favor of Prohibition, and naturally this means that I am opposed to light wines and beers, which, if successful in securing the majority of Saturday's vote, would of course defeat Prohibition. The closer the Election Day approaches the greater my desire that the present law be retained, and that we go on from point to point better. The Province must first declare for Prohibition, then declare against the importation of liquor, which can be done probably in the course of a few months. That accomplished, and the vendition for medical and church purposes taken over by the Government, which is not at all difficult, as such a law is now on the statute, we will then have a real dry province. But if by the majority vote in favor of light wines and beers the present act is repealed, we will be retrograding—going backwards, and the results I would not answer for. Notwithstanding any assertion to the contrary, I know that conditions are infinitely better than in pre-prohibition days. One must remember that under the old law I instructed the police to assist a man, if he were not too drunk, but now any-one showing the slightest indication of having been drinking must of course be brought before me. Even under these conditions, the arrests have been fewer. I will vote for Prohibition and against light wines and beers, and if my example and influence will help others, who may at the present moment be wavering, to take a similar stand, I will feel that at the age of seventy-seven I will have accomplished something really worth while.—Adv't.

Prohibition A Weakening Force

Inter-Church Forward Movement a Failure in "Bone-Dry" States—Government Established Moral Right to Vote Against Prohibition.

In men whom men condemn as ill I find so much of goodness still; In men whom men pronounce divine I find so much of sin and blot; I hesitate to draw the line between the two, where God has not.—Joachim Miller.

The Prohibitionists do not live in the spirit of this poem. They deny the citizens of New Brunswick the MORAL RIGHT to vote against Prohibition and for light wine and beer on Saturday, forgetting that if it were a sin so to vote that the provincial government would certainly never have granted the plebiscite. The Daily Telegraph editorial of yesterday was very much to the point. It set out a question of what is "Right"; it is a question of what the people want. If the people say they do not want Prohibition and they do want Wine and Beer, that will be the law of the land and the sin will come in violating the law, Not in Framing it.

The Prohibitionists draw their campaign material from the United States. Let us also look there as to the moral effect of Prohibition. Our friends would have us believe that "bone-dry" legislation goes a long way towards producing the millennium. What are the facts of the case?

Take the Inter-church Forward Movement. An effort was made this year in the United States to raise a fund of $46,000,000 from the "Friendly Citizen" class; the total actually raised to date, and it seems likely to be the final total is $4,000,000 or less than one-tenth of the objective. In the churches themselves the original aggregate of denominational objectives was $336,000,000, and of the amount exactly 50 per cent. has been raised. Is it possible that the "dull" voting of legislators by an "hysterical" shrieking minority has weakened the hands of those whose hearts are real? In the spirit of moral and religious

Visitor Here From Venezuela

Karl P. Fletcher, Former Resident of Charlottetown, Here to Interest Canadians in Possibilities Afforded by That Country for Trade Expansion.

Among the passengers on the R. S. M. P. Caraquez Tuesday was Karl P. Fletcher, a former Charlottetown boy, who has been located for the past two years in Venezuela. Mr. Fletcher served overseas with the Canadian Artillery and was also connected on his return from Europe with the British-Canadian Recruiting Mission in the United States.

Since his discharge from the army he has been representing his firm in Venezuela. His present mission is to interest Canadians in the exceptional possibilities afforded by that country for trade expansion and to establish connections with Canadian manufacturers. Besides having extensive personal business interests in Venezuela he has been buying coffee, cocoa, hides, etc. for his firm principally for export to United States. Speaking about the possibilities for trade there Mr. Fletcher said there was no country in the world richer in latent wealth than South America and Venezuela was one of its richest provinces. It is practically undeveloped. Foreign capital has already realized its possibilities and foreign money is pouring in there rapidly. The Germans, never slow in seizing opportunities, have invested millions there. The principal exports of the country are coffee, cocoa, hides and all kinds of valuable hardwood. Asked if he considered the trade possibilities offered by Venezuela better than those of the British West Indies, Mr. Fletcher said undoubtedly they were. The West Indies have already received considerable development and Canadian, American and European firms have had connections established there for years. On the other hand Venezuela is practically untouched; it is a virgin field. Being a Canadian Mr. Fletcher said he would like to see business connections established with Canada and Canadian money invested there.

Mr. Fletcher has travelled all over the country, visited all its principal cities and has gone up to the magnificent Orinoco river to its headwaters to ascending better. The language is Spanish, and he speaks it fluently. He expects to be in Canada for some time, and he said that it was his hope that by the time he was ready to return the Canadian Merchant Marine would have established a regular service between Canadian and South American ports.
