Veteran Journalist is Dead

Lifework of John A. Bowes

St. John, April 7.—Death removed an interesting personality from the life of the community on Saturday evening when John A. Bowes, the well-known journalist and publisher, passed away at his residence on Canterbury street. Mr. Bowes had been in poor health for the past two years, and had been confined to his room since the first of February, but hopes of his recovery had been entertained and his death came rather unexpectedly. Born in St. John 54 years ago, he spent the most of his life here, mainly engaged in newspaper work, and conducting a printing establishment. In 1881 he was married to Miss Hattie Nugent, daughter of the late Robert Nugent, a member of the firm of Holt & Nugent, which carried on a lumbering business in St. John for many years. His wife survives him, but he leaves no children.

Mr. Bowes began his newspaper career when only sixteen years of age. With the financial assistance of his father, A. G. Bowes, he and George Perley started a little paper called the Penny Dip, which informed an interesting career and was noted for the cleverness of its articles, written by the youthful journalist. When about 20 years of age Mr. Bowes went to New York and secured a position on the New York World.

In that city he rapidly made a reputation as a reporter, and covered some important assignments, being sent by the World to Chicago to report the big railway strike led by Debs, and the anarchist troubles which developed at the time of the strike.

After spending several years in New York he returned to St. John and entered into journalistic work here. He worked on the Telegraph as a reporter and city editor for some years, and then established a job printing shop and published and edited the Daily Gazette, which about nine years ago was bought out by the Times. Mr. Bowes then joined the staff of the Times, and continued under the name of the Evening Times.

While publishing the Gazette, Mr. Bowes had, at various times on his editorial staff such well known men as James Hannay, the historian of New Brunswick, and H. L. Spencer, the veteran poet. The old Gazette was regarded as a fine school for newspapermen, and Mr. Bowes, who always took an intimate interest in the members of his staff, enjoys the distinction of having trained a larger number of successful newspaper men than any other editor in the Maritime Provinces.

Among the men whose Mr. Bowes educated in newspaper work were George McLean, now of the New York Herald; Harry A. Woodworth, who was a war correspondent of Collier's Weekly during the Russo-Japanese war; A. R. Fenwick, of the Minneapolis Tribune; John Scott, of the Montreal Gazette; H. H. Macdonald, employed on a paper in Salt Lake city; Wendell Currie, of the Shelburne Gazette; Dr. Oscar Watson, of the New York Sun; Rupert E. Walker, editor of the St. John Standard; A. E. McGinley, news editor of the Standard; Frank McCafferty, city editor of the Times; A. E. Walker, of the Guelph Mercury; and Rev. D. S. O'Keefe, of the New Freeman.

Among other well known men who were associated with Mr. Bowes on the Gazette are J. S. Gibbon, in business here; Walter H. Golding, manager of the Nickel Theatre; H. J. Anderson, formerly manager of the Opera House; F. Maclure Selanders, now publicity commissioner in Saskatoon; Dr. Dacre W. Walker, W. H. Millican and W. M. Campbell, who has gone west.

Mr. Bowes was a great authority on the public affairs of the province and the city. He had a remarkable memory, and he had been in search of information about the political history of the province, students at the U. N. B., and writers, frequently consulted him, knowing that his mind was a very encyclopedia of information.

While he never held public office his powerful intellect, prodigious memory, his comprehensive knowledge of public affairs and his tireless and facile pen enabled him to exert considerable influence on the course of political events, and his friendship was assiduously cultivated by public men.

Although he had been a Liberal for many years, he became a supporter of Mr. Hazen and Mr. Fleming in provincial affairs, and when the reciprocity question came up he gave the support of his pen to the Conservatives in the Federal field.

In addition to his newspaper work Mr. Bowes contributed many articles to magazines, and in 1908 he prepared and published The Ready Reference Book of New Brunswick, a large volume containing a mine of information about the province brought up to date. He also prepared and published for the local government two official year books, filling a long felt want, and indispensable to those wishing a reliable record of the recent history of the province.

Mr. Bowes, shortly after his return from New York, started a job printing business, which he has carried on ever since; latterly he has also been conducting a box factory. Some years ago he published Hannay's History of New Brunswick, and also Hannay's Life and Times of Sir Leonard Tilley. Another interesting book which he published was Archdeacon Raymond's History of the St. John river.

In his younger days, Mr. Bowes' journalistic work was frequently marked by picturesque manifestations of a zealous reforming spirit, but time mellowed the good humor and imperturbable audacity of his youth into a temper genial and serene. A big man physically and mentally, he had a large fund of human kindness, and though usually in the thick of political polemics, delivering shrewd blows with all the strength of his virile intellect, he never carried the heat of political controversy into his personal relations with men, and retained the personal friendliness of good fighters on both sides of politics.

Those who have been intimately associated with him say that his dominant characteristic was his kindly disposition, his readiness to be of service to others. Not a few men who have played a big part in the affairs of the province have owed much to the work of John Bowes. "As an all round journalist he had few equals in the Maritime Provinces, and as a man he enjoyed the esteem of all with whom he came intimately in contact."

The funeral will take place this afternoon from his late residence, 19 Canterbury street. Services will be held at the house at 2:30, and interment will be made at Fernhill.

WEARY OF BEING TARGET, WIFE SAYS

Husband Threw Succotash and Melon Rinds and Locked
Her in Closet.

New York, April 7.—Charging that her husband threw overboard, dishes of Succotash and watermelon rinds at her, Mrs. Mary Doobier, of No. 102 Eight Avenue, Brooklyn, Saturday, applied to Justice Kelly in the Supreme Court for alimony and counsel fees pending trial of an action for separation against Anthony J. Doobier, a real estate insurance broker. Decision was reserved.

Mrs. Doobier alleges that on August 16 last her husband "in a fit of uncontrollable passion and without provocation" hurled a dish of succotash at her. A pair of rubbers followed, which she dodged, she says, and then came a watermelon rind. She alleges that at another time her husband locked her in a bedroom and threatened to choke her. On another occasion, she says, he imprisoned her in a dark closet and she nearly suffocated.

In his answer Mr. Doobier alleges that trouble between him and his wife started when she insisted on giving luncheons at the Waldorf, which he could not afford. He denies mistreating her, and says that she is of a nervous temperament.

SCHOOLBOY VAULTS OVER 12 FT. 6 INS.

Berkeley, Cal., April 5.—Charles Barnstorn, of the University of Southern California, preparatory school, broke the world's intercollegiate record for the pole vault yesterday, clearing the bar at 12 feet 6 1/2 inches. He was a competitor in the Pacific track meet. The former mark was 12 feet 1 inch.

MAY BUILD IN CANADA.

Montreal, April 5.—It is understood that the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company has under consideration plans for building a large plant in Canada, possibly in Windsor, for the purpose of handling the orders in this country. If the plan is definitely decided upon it will involve the expenditure of about $50,000, which will be financed by the company.

The company at present has a plant in Montreal, but it is concerned chiefly with repair work. The proposed new plant would be on a much larger scale and equipped for all branches of the company's business. If the new plant is to be built work will start in the fall.

Mr. Charles M. Schwab is said to own personally not less than 55 per cent. of the company's stock.

BODY RECOVERED.

St. John, April 7.—Washed up high on the shore, the body of John McBay, of Greenwich, who had been drowned, was found early Saturday night near his home on the St. John river, by a party of men who had gone out in search for him. Mr. McBay, the father of a large family, was missed from his home early in the morning. In the afternoon a search was begun and just after supper the body was found on the shore. It is not known here just how the fatality occurred, as particulars of the affair have not yet been brought to the city. Mr. McBay had been suffering from an illness.

OBITUARY.

James B. Webber.

Chipman, April 5.—The death occurred at Briggs' Corner, on March 29, of James B. Webber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Webber, of this place. He had been in poor health for about three years, suffering from tuberculosis.

The funeral took place at Briggs' Corner on March 31, the service being conducted by the Rev. R. J. Plint, of Chipman. The large attendance attested to the late young man's popularity. He was of a kindly disposition and died rejoicing in his family's love. Besides the sorrowing parents, four brothers and sisters mourn their loss.

Jealousy is the offspring of distrust.

U. S. TO ABOLISH THE DUTY ON FISH

Boston, April 6.—Free fish from the Provinces threatens Gloucester, according to a telegram received from Congressman Gardner at Washington. Mr. Gardner says that the Democrats have decided to put fish on the free list, and Gloucester interests state that such action will spell ruin for them.

A feeling against free fish has always pervaded Gloucester, and the announcement met with the strong disapproval of hundreds of the fishermen.

Some fishermen say that if fish are admitted free, all of the Gloucester fishermen will leave for the Provinces. Instead of bringing the fish to Gloucester and paying a duty, they can then bring them in free and will profit considerably by living nearer the fishing banks.

Other dealers say that the small fish dealers who are unable to send vessels to the banks and pay the duty on the fish will be able to compete with the big companies if fish are admitted free.

According to the telegram, all greenfish, fish dried, smoked, pickled, fresh, or in any state of preservation, upon which a duty of three-quarters of a cent a pound is now being paid, will be admitted free. Skinned and boned fish, which now has a duty of one and one-quarter cents, will be cut in the new tariff to one-half cent duty per pound.

Some men do their best and leave others to do those who are second best.

The chap who takes things as they come doesn't get as many as the other fellow.

Douglas, April 3.—Quite a few of our people were in Fredericton on Tuesday last when the draw span of the highway bridge went out. They had their teams with them and these had to bring over Wednesday in the train. The damage to the bridge will affect the people on this side of the river considerably.

A pie social for church purposes was held in the hall here on last Tuesday evening. Those present enjoyed themselves very much.
