

of ceasing to be the instigators and propagators of the popularity of certain proprietaries" and will patronize "ethical preparations"—like theirs, for instance.

This, to say the least, is a very left-handed compliment to the great body of the medical profession, who will not be slow to catch its drift, or fail to enquire wherein consists the "ethicalness" of the methods of the concern who thus sharply takes them to task for preferring a genuine to a spurious article.

Druggists, as a rule, are not much interested in the quibbles of the doctors on questions of "ethics," but in this matter most of them will recognize in the circular referred to, a wail of disappointment and an effort to draw attention away from the methods adopted by its authors to supplant the preparation thus covertly assailed by them with their own imitation thereof.

The time has gone by when either doctor or druggist can be deceived by any such false play. Every member of both professions knows that "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is a preparation of genuine value, manufactured on scientific principles, by reliable men, and introduced to physicians in an ethical manner, solely on its merits, and for these reasons physicians will continue to be "instigators and propagators" of its popularity, just as the druggists will continue to keep in stock an article for which there is a steady demand and a ready sale.—The National Druggist, St. Louis, Mo., November, 1900.

HUNTER M'GUIRE'S OPINION.

The late Hunter McGuire, the most celebrated surgeon of his time in the United States, if not in the world, was asked for his opinion of Antikamnia by Dr. Thos. C. Haley, of Riceville, Va. Dr. Haley, in writing of this circumstance to The Antikamnia Chemical Company, says as follows:

"I recently wrote to Dr. McGuire and gave him my experience with Antikamnia in my own case and that of others. Of myself, I said that I had been using the five-grain tablets for four or five years consecutively and always with great and signal relief to my sufferings. I vouched for it as being the grandest succedaneum for morphia. While I entertained these opinions personally, I still felt that the quantity taken should be justified by consultation. Hence the letter to Dr. McGuire, and I am pleased to hand you herewith his reply."

The following is Dr. McGuire's reply:

St. Luke's Home, Richmond, Va., Nov. 8, 1894.

Thos. C. Haley, M.D.:

My Dear Doctor,—I don't see any reason why you shouldn't continue to take the remedy (Antikamnia Tablets) of which you speak and which has done you so much good. I don't believe it will do you any harm. With kind regards and best wishes. Very truly yours,

(Signed) HUNTER M'GUIRE.
