

Grade Two students at Park Royal Public School learn singing the fun way. Mrs. Kay Pickering leads them in "hand singing"; each note on the scale is represented by a hand signal and the children learn their basic music through this method.

Oh boy, Bunnies at Legion hutch

Bunny girls will entertain at the annual Christmas party for 80 World War I veterans from Sunnybrook Hospital tonight. This annual event is sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary, Branch 82, Port Credit, convened by Helen Robb.

The bunnies include Elsie Milne, Gladys Ainsworth, Pat Milne, Bertha Ashworth, Jean Austin and Vivian Copeland, all of Port Credit. They will serve drinks and entertain with their dance routine. The veterans will also partake of a bus tour and a turkey dinner supplied by the auxiliary.

The beautiful women from the legion, Art Coy, Bob Harrison, Andy Milne, Bruce Copeland, 'Woody' and Jack Fox, MC, will entertain topless.

Special feature of the day's events will be the arrival of Santa, played by Helen Hand, who will give each veteran a brand new dollar bill in an envelope.

Cubs go up

The Grey Pack, First Applewood cubmaster, C. W. Patten and assistant cubmaster K. A. Lewis invested the following boys at a recent meeting: Scott Clack, Steven Parker, Stephen Parkin, Bobby Goodwin, Kelly Smith, Douglas Corner, David Cleaveley and Gordon Dickson.

A going-up ceremony was held in October and Craig Farquarson, David Challis and Peter Bolton were accepted into A and B Troops.

The meetings were attended by groups of interested parents and relatives.

Granddaughter named after grandmother

PORT CREDIT — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kearley, Troy st. were hosts at a family gathering last Sunday following the baptism of their second daughter, Debbie Sandra, at St. Hilary's Anglican Church by Rev. Robert McLennan.

Debbie, who has a sister, Lynn, five, was named for her grandmother. Mrs. Deborah Bickford of Newfoundland, who attended the christening. Also present were her godparents, Kevin and Shirley Pitts, New Toronto; Mrs. Peggy Nicholl, formerly of Newfoundland, her other grandmother, Mrs. Ada Boone of Galt and other relatives.

Sunday was a very special day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Mather, Annapolis dr. Their third child, Paul Evan was baptized at St. Hilary's Anglican Church on the 9th birthday of his older brother, Cam. Paul also has a sister, Cindy.

Twenty relatives attended a family gathering including the godparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Micklethwaite, Georgetown and Bruce Mather, Islington; the grandmothers, Mrs. Grace Micklethwaite and Mrs. Marjorie Mather, Toronto; also Paul's great-grandmother, Mrs. Harry Long, also of Toronto.

When three-months-old Allyson Ann McFarlane was baptized recently at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, she wore a dainty long white nylon and lace christening gown with matching coat and bonnet, white satin slippers and frilly white socks, all the gift of her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ann Hill of Etobicoke.

First child of Mr. and Mrs. Ian McFarlane, Seneca ave., Allyson also had a christening cake, made by her mother.
