MARKET REVIEW AND FORECAST

TORONTO, Apr. 19.—There is a general tendency to predict better prices for the remainder of the spring and summer months. This optimistic view seems to be based almost entirely on the prospect of greater country demand. The high price ruling for cheese is used as a basis for talking up the high price that the farmer is receiving on all his products. As a matter of fact, however, cheese is practically the only product that will be marketed in any quantity for some months yet. But because of the high prices, milk will sell for city trade at practically the same prices as last year, but the chances are, will be cheaper. Live stock are away down below what they were at this time last year. There is a chance, however, that farmers will buy on the expectation of what they will realize from their crops when harvested. It will be well to go cautiously, however, as if the war ended, the returns realized will not be up to expectations.

What has again advanced oats are up, other grains normal, dairy produce strong and live stock as a whole somewhat below quotations of last week.

WHEAT

The situation is strong. The increased acreage in the United States may not yield as large a crop as was harvested last year. It is evident that Canadian farmers are to no position to increase their crop over 50 per cent, and it is not to be expected that European countries will produce a normal crop. Quotations are accordingly advanced, but already they have exceeded the willingness of foreign countries to decline, and a decline may be almost expected.
