teen years, they must either remain on the farm with no more education, or else are sent to town or city before their characteristics and habits are formed. Often they grow up thinking as the town boys do, "that it is too slow for them on the farm."

too slow for them on the farm.

Who is to blame for this state of affairs. Should the intelligent farmers affairs and look into this matter, of Ontario not look into this matter, and see that they stand on an equal and see that they stand on an equal basis with the city people for the education of their families? At least some of the country young people should be able to board at home, and get a good High School education at the same time. They might not enjoy all the advantages of town life, but I am sure that they would not have the temptations all around them that there are in towns. around them that there are in towns,

Where is there a true mother on the farm, but feels lonesome at the thought of John or Mary leaving home so young to go to a higher school? Her heart goes out with them, and if she could have her way a great many she could have her way a great many temptations of town life would be done away with before they left the home. Why could there not be a firstcome. Why could there not be a first-class college and first-class teachers provided for each county, and in some nice part of the country instead of the towns?

Would we not receive help from some of our best town people to build such a school? Perhaps they would like to send some of their young peop-le to such a school. Would it be an impossibility to have a van to go around in the mornings and gather the children and leave them at their homes at

If the young girls would stay on If the young giris would say the farms instead of going to towns and cities to stand behind counters all day, there would not be so many overworked mothers on the farms.—

Eating for Strength.

The greatest pleasure to be derived from eating is the pleasure one gets in the knowledge that his food is giving him greater strength and vitality.

Because of this fact there is a constant increase in the consumption of Quaker Oats; every time the strength making qualities of Quaker Oats have been tested by scientific investigation or by experiments in families it has been found to be a food without an equal.

It builds the muscles and brain without taxing the digestive organs; it costs so little anyone can afford it, and it is so carefully prepared and packed that it is absolutely pure and clean. A Quaker Oats eating family is always a healthy family.
