IRELAND'S STRUGGLE.

Four hundred and fi'ty delegates of the National Lesgue of Great Britain met at Manchester on the 28th ult. Mr. O'Connor was re elected president. In a O'Conor was re elected president. In a speech Mr. O'Conor says the report for the year showed satisfactory progress, but it appeared to him that the 2,000,000 Irishmen in Great Britain ought to show more enthusiasm for their country's cause. Instead of 34,117 members the association ought to have at least 250 000

The Liberals are exulting over the smallness of the Conservative majority in the Sleaford division of Lincolnshire, where the Tories expected their Cabinet candidate, with the aid of the much-vaunted Unionist strength, would com-pletely distance the Gladstonians. As it turned out, the assistance given to Mr. Chaplin by the Unionists was merely nominal, and scarcely worth considering as a factor in the contest. The Conservative majority only exceeded by seven the majority which Mr. Chaplin obtained at the general election, and as the influence of a Cabinet Minister is almost always greater than that of a private member, the Conservatives are reminded that the increased majority arising out of his influence as a member of the Govern-ment, together with the strength derived the Liberal Unionist support, its precisely to the change of three and a half votes.

William O'Brien, M. P, editor of the United Ireland, who is confined in Galway gaol, is slowly regaining his health.

A little boy named Stephen H-ffernan who was shot by the police in the town of Tippersry in a melee of their making died recently of the wound. The boy had nothing to do with the disturbance, and his death has created much sorro and indignation among the people of the

The Rev. Father O'Dwy er was sentenced at Fermoy to two consecutive terms of imprisonment, of three and two months respectively, on charges of intimidation. The evidence on which he was convicted was that of a police stenographer named Conderan, who swore that he could write one hundred and fifty words per minute, but who being put to the test broke down completely. His excuse was that he was so excited that he could not write his own name correctly. The report of the speeches to which he swore was evidently concocted from newspaper reports and not taken down by himself. The Coercion Court which passed sentence refused to allow a more thorough test than one minute, and after Father O'Dwyer read a paragraph of one hundred and fifty words, at which the stenographer com pletely falled, the Magistrate read slowly one hundred and four words in the minute on which he failed also, yet it was decided that this test sufficiently vindicated that this test summerary vinu-cated the reporter's competency. Nine of Father O'Dwyer's parishioners were sentenced at the same time for being present at the meeting, or for other qually atrocious crimes under the Coer-Their sentence was from two months' imprisonment to six months, after which they were to furnish ball to the amount of £100 to keep the peace for twelve months. The prisoners were then taken to Cork jail by a special train which was in readiness for the purpose of carrying out the cut and-dried sentences.

The Irish police have completely changed their tactics since the visit of the English delegation to the country. Wherever the visitors are near at hand they no longer attempt to prevent public meetings, nor do they break in upon only too glad to have even a poor excuse for proclaiming the meeting.

The day after Mr. Balfour distributed the Catholic chaplain of Derry jail for re-fusing to act as a spy upon Mr. Conybeare, by giving ovidence as to how that gentle by giving evidence as to how that gentle man succeeded in getting his letters to the press, Mr. Conybeare had another letter in the London Star, refuting Mr. Balfour's falsehood that he is cured of the disease he had contracted in his loathsome prison. He is still suffering, and he relates that while he was holding an interview with some relatives and filends including the Rt Hon. Mr. Stanfield he was insolently interrupted and insulted by a warder.

Mr. Conybeare has now been deprived of the privilege of having writing materials in his cell. Such is the punish ment inflicted on a member of Parlia ment whose crime is having given a loaf of bread to a starving woman.

The subscription towards the testimonial to Mr. P. D Sullivan, whose able advocacy of Irish rights places him in the front rank of patriots, has reached the

The fund contributed to indemnify Mr. Parnell in the Special Commission case has been closed. It amounts to £41000. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain predicts that the Gladstonian party will soon break up, and that a new party will effect great reforms in Great Britain and Ireland, that many Gladstonians will join the new party, which will differ greatly both from ultra-Radicalism and fossil Toryism. Of course he means to be the leader of the new party.

new party.
London, Oct. 3.-Lord Hartington, in a speech in Aberdeen last night, justi-fied the attempt to solve the Irish Cath-olic University problem, on the ground that both Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Balfour had declared it to be soluble. While crediting Mr. Gladstone with great services to the country and with unrivalled elequence, he thought the ex-Premier's skill as a tactical leader was less conspicuous. Mr. Gladstone had on three occasions led the Liberals to defeat, and the people were justified in demanding to know where he was leading them now. The adoption of a fresh Irish policy was warranted, not by any demand for repar-ation for past wrongs, but by the bene-fits which would result therefrom now and in the future,

Mr. Chamberlain addressed a meeting at Newcastle yesterday. He taunted the Home Rulers with making no serious effort to meet the dissidents in argument, and said that if the Home Rulers wanted to win the next election they must not call the dissidents traitors and renegades, but must fairly argue and show that men who had committed no fault except that of being unable in twenty four hours, at the bidding of one man, to repudiate all their previous principles, were wrong. If the Glad stonians wished the dissidents to alter their principles they would have to con-vince them that the Liberal policy of the past generation was inapplicable, impos-ible, or ineffectual.

Dublin, Oct. 4 —The sentence of Chas. Conybeare, M. P. for the Camborne Division of Cornwall, who has been imprisoned for three months at London derry for conspiring to oppose the law, expired to day. While he was under going the formalities prior to his dis-charge he infringed on one of the prison rules, and was again placed in a cell.

At 3:30 p. m. Mr. Conybeare was discharged from custody.

MORE LIGHT ON THE FORGERIES

A document has been discovered by the Freeman's Journal, written on the official paper of Mary borough prison and stamped with the official stamp, which is another proof of the complicity of the Government with the Times in the Pigott conspiracy. Delaney, the Invincible now in prison, is the writer, and he reproaches the Government and the doctor to whom the letter is addressed for not keeping their promise to liberate him if he gave satisfactory evidence before the Commis satisfactory evidence before the Commis-sion. He gave the evidence required, but is still under lock and key. The authen tictty of the document is undoubted. Delaney says: "I never thought that the Government would treat me in such a way, or that an Hon. Gentleman like you would allow it after all the promises you gave to me. I have done all which you asked me to do honestly and faithfully and still I am persecuted, not only myself but my poor wife and children." In another part of the letter he says: "You know I have done all that any man could do, both given important information and as a witness."

In view of his doing all that he had been asked to do, it becomes a matter of in-terest to know what he did, which he had been asked to do. Among other things when asked by the Attorney General to name those who were invincibles, he gave several names, but Messrs. P. Egan and Thos. Brennan were not named until the Attorney General asked : "Anybody else Attorney-General saged: "Anybody else?
Mr. Egan and Mr. Brennan were the leaders of it?" Delaney.—"You meaa Patrick Egan, I suppose? Yes."
Attorney-General.—"And Thomas

Brennan? Delaney-"Yes"

Attorney General—"Anybody else?" Delaney—"P. J. Sheridan."

Cross examined by Sir Chas. Russell he reiterated that these three were the recognized leaders, but acknowledged afterwards that he "had never met them at an Invincible meeting."

He further swore that no promise was made to him, and that he did not even know the Commission was going on. He also stated that one Shannon was the only one who had spoken to him about his evidence, and had taken his information;

duced Pigott to awesr that the forged letters were authentic, and to whom Pigott wrote from Madrid for the price of his perjuries. Delaney also identified from personal knowledge three of Mr. Egan's letters as authentic, which were afterwards shown to have been forged by

All this therefore was the evidence which he was requested to give on the promise of Mr. Shannon, Mr. Shannon having shown to his satisfaction that "he was a Government efficial."

HURLBERT - WHELAN CONTRO-

To the Editor of the Montreal Star : SIR—A letter signed J. Beaufort Hurl bert appeared in Saturday's Star. The writer finds fault with a Rev. Dr. Mc. Gregor for not adhering strictly to facts.
I have not the honor of being acquainted I have not the honor of being acquainted with the Rev. Dr. McGregor, who, no doubt, is able to set himself right in the eyes of the public; but of one thing I am certain, and that is, he is not a member of the Jesuit Order. Nevertheless in Saturday's letter he is termed the "Jesuit Dr." Let us adhere strictly to fact.

The amiable correspondent after ad. ministering a rebuke, by means of a quotation from the Vindicator, contin-

"The Jesuit Fathers have from the be ginning of this controversy been con stantly giving the public similar false statements, and then sending them all over the Dominion." This is pure fic-tion, to be ascribed to some unreliable informant, but certainly not to one as scrupulous in matters pertaining to fact as is your correspondent.

Toe statement, however, very naturally has whetted the legitimate curiosity o the Jesuit Fathers, who are anxious to be better informed on a few points : 1. Who are the "Jesuit Fathers," who from the beginning "constantly" give the public, etc.? 2 In what do the "similar false state.

3. After what fashion were these statements disseminated? The fact is that the Jesuit Fathers have shown very little concern in the matter from the be one for a certain class of contemporaries : but the thread bare accusation is based on calumny and misquotation, or on a strange perversion of the meaning of technical expressions and brought up a score of times within a century and as often refuted. Without stooping to im-pugn the good faith of their opponents the Jesuit Fathers have given the public, through the columns of the Star, August 30, a fair statement of what took place at the meeting. Nor have they found at the meeting. Nor have they found fault with the account given in the Montreal Gazette of the same date.

I shall rehearse here the leading features of the abortive meeting of the 29th

tures of the abortive meeting of the 29th August, without insisting on the reasons of the disagreement.

1. Principal MacVicar proposed the Rev. Prof. John Clark Murray of McGill
as a fair and competent fifth arbiter.

2. Father Doherty proposed one who by his training would be qualified to deal with the technical expressions used by with the technical expressions used by moralists, and who had a thorough knowledge of their meaning as accepted in the schools of moral theology. He left the choice of the person to the Rev. Principal MacVicar and Rev. John Scrimeer, but restricted the choice to Laval University, the Sulpician Seminary, or to any other faculty of moral theology in Europe or America. Father Jones concurred in this offer.

3. Both Father Whalen's representstives expressly and repeatedly stated that they did not ask for a Jesuit theo legian.

4. Principal MacVicar adhered to his original proposal,

5 Father Jones asked why a similar latitude in the choice should not be left to Father Whelan's representatives. For instance, that they should choose any by them competent 6. On the answer from Principal Mac-Vicar that the alleged latitude was illusory, and that there was no parity in the two cases, Father Jones proposed to act without adding to their number, requiring each member of the commission to report on the passages which were to be submitted, and then publish under one cover the four reports over their respective signatures. The answer given was that this was deviating from the letter of the conditions laid down by Father The above is a substantially correct but condensed report of the lengthy in-

Since Dr. Hurlbert refers to my letter as correct why go out of the way to assert that false statements were scattered over the Dominion by the Jesuit Fathers? My letter was the only statement which was signed by either of Father Whelan's re-

Professor Scrimger knows, and if necessary no doubt would willingly bear witness to the fact that though under much provocation, we acted throughout in a gentlemanly and Christian spirit, Letters from anti-Jesuit celebrities, mailed by mistake to my address, and intended for our opponents, were delivintended for our opponents, were deliv-ered to his keeping, nor were their contents divalged nor the names of their signers mentioned. Dr. Hurlbert remarks towards the end of his letter that all he ever expected be accomplished by the publication of the proofs of his contention, which he assures his friends will be speedily done, and these proofs will be full and more than suf fictent." I do not pretend to gauge Dr. Hurlbert's expectations, but may assure him in turn that the long and expected disclosures are awaited without undue trepidation.

The Jesuit Fathers must at all events acknowledge their bitter disappointment that after so much ink has been wasted in decrying the theolgians of the Society of Jesus, and in proclaiming them from the housetops to be the inventors and sole pro-prietors of the theory that the end justifies processions and bande playing National tunes. A meeting, however, at which the delegates were to have been welcomed at Duogannon was proclaimed by the magistrates because the Orangemen announced a counter demonstration in the same place. The magistrates were teeming with expamples of the unsavoury maxim, or at least must have opened out a vast field wherein to cull a few choice blossoms. Yours very succeely, OBITUARY.

Thos. Quigley, sr., Biddulph. On Saturday, 5th inst. one of the pioneer Catholics of Biddulph was laid to rest in the person of Mr. Thomas Quigley, sen., at the advanced age of eighty four years. Deceased was father of Rev. Father Quigley, of Raleigh and Ridgetown, who had not the consolation of ministering to him in his last moments. When it was found that his miledy was about to prove fatal the sad intelligence was wired to Father Quigley, who arrived only in time to find him who was his heart's love cold in death. Mr. Quigley was a native of Cloughgordan, Co. Tipper ary, Ireland. In 1845 he emigrated to Canada and settled in the township of Biddulph then an unbroken torsat. For of ministering to him in his last moments Biddulph, then an unbroken forest. For some years he underwent all the hard ships and privations incidental to the lot of the early settler in this country. But after years of patient, honest toil he made for himself and family a comfort-able home. He was a type of the true Irish Catholic, with whom faith and fatherland went hand in hand. He was regarded by those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance as a sincere Catholic and a man of strict honesty and integrity He died fortified by all the consolations of religion. His last moments were moments of peace and his death was characterized by that calm Curistian resignation belonging only to a life of virtue. He breathed his last uttering the words in response to the prayers for the dying which were being recited by those around him, "Have mercy on us." The tuneral obsequies took place at St.

Patrick's Caurch, and the large procession which accompanied his remains to the tomb was proof of the high esterm in which he was held by all classes,

A Requiem Mass was sung by Rev.

Father Convoliv, who gave a begutiful Father Connolly, who gave a beautiful and touching discourse on the end of man. At the conclusion he paid a well-merited tribute to the virtues of the deceased, whom he said he had known for the pas cleven years and always found a fervent, honest Catholic. Mr. Quigley had five sons and three daughters. His youngest living son is Rev. Father Quigley. His aged widow still survives him. Requiescan

HOTEL DIEU DEDICATION AT WIND-SOR-A NOBLE MONUMENT TO A DEVOTED PRIEST-SERMON BY ARCHBISHOP WALSH. Special to the CATHOLIC RECORD.

The important event of opening an Hotel Dieu in Windsor has drawn the attention of the whole Province to this portion of Western Ontario. A bief sketch of the ceremony will not be without interest. For the sake of order, I may describe the present position of the most progressive and attractive town in Canada The future city of Windsor has a popu-lation of 10 000. It is stituated on the south bank of the River Detroit, directly south bank of the River Detroit, directly opposite the American city of the same name, with which it is to constant intercourse by an admirable ferry system. The assessed real estate valuation is above $4,000,000. A half million of this is exempt from taxation; of the latter the water works, "Holly" system, is elaborate and complete, making Windsor the peer of any city in of the latter the water works, "Holly" system, is elaborate and complete, making Windsor the peer of any city in the Dominion for health and protection of property. It cost about $150,000 There is a fine public market square, town hall, post office and custom house combined, heautiful churches, elegant. combined, beautiful churches, elegant residences, fine educational and charit-able institutions. Of these the high school, Home of the Friendless, and the Hotel Dieu have been erected during the past year. Street cars, electric lights, and miles of paved streets, give the town a modern appearance. The school. Home of the Friendless, and the the town a modern appearance. The Canada Pacific R. R. and the Michigan Central R R, consider Windsor an important town on the line of the great highway of trade from the Atlantic sea-board to the West. The Great Western Division of the G. T. R. R. makes its terminus in Windsor. The local traffic of Essex comes to us by the way of the suburban town of Walkerville, over the Detroit River, Lake Erie, and Essex R. R. A large sum of money is paid annually to hos pitals in Detroit, for the wounded by pitals in Detroit, for the wounded by railroad accidents, as well as for the care given to homeless sick of Windsor. Dean Wagner, with his intuitive char-acter, realized that something should be done towards making Windsor self reliant to care for the sick "within her gates." The lofty pinnacles that ris peavenward from the magnificent build ing blessed on last Sunday, "God's House," under the patronage of St. Joseph, is a noble monument that bears testimony of the magnetic labor of this devoted priest.

two hundred and twenty five feet on Erie St. The building is twenty-five feet back from the curb of either streets. It is of Norman style of architecture, and is one burdred and sixty fest on Quellette Ave. by fifty eight feet on Erie St., including towers. Above the basement it is three stories of red brick, from near Chatham, with mansard roof : the basement is tex feet high, of Anderson cut stone, the walls are four feet thick, and are a model of strength and durability, as a foundation for present and future requirem n's. This portion of the structure will be used Interpretation of the structure will be used for laundry, froning and baking purposes, pantries, kitchen, refectory, laboratory, elevator and toilet rooms. The first floor above the basement, upon which opans the main entrance from Oullette Ave, has fourteen feet cellings, the floors are hard maple, the wood work is done in hard wood finish A corridor from the vesti-bule to the rear of the building is crossed midway by a corridor running through the centre of the building, from north to south, the rooms on this floor being used for parlor, pharmacy, private rooms, con sultation rooms, smoking rooms, closets, elevator and toilet rooms. The second floor, when fluished, will have thirteen feet celling, and hard wood floors. It will be used for temporary chapel, divided into two parts, one for the religious, the other for the patients and guests of the institution. On this floor there will elso be private rooms and rooms for the indigent sick. The third floor, with lofty ceilings thirteen feet in height, will be used by the nuns for community rooms dormitories, and temporary novitlate. At an early date the entire plan of the archt tect will be carried out, by the erection tect will be carried out, by the erection of the chapel proper, and monastery with closter. In the rear of the hospita building, a two story building, forty by fitty feet, with mansard roof has been erected, to be used as an orphanage for colored children.
