The trial of former Judge W. G. Loving for the murder of young Theodore Estes, a sequel to the buggy ride which Estes took with Lovings's daughter, moved rapidly today, and when court adjourned this afternoon, the prosecution had rested and the defense had begun its case. The progress of the trial was remarkable. Before adjournment of the morning session, a jury had been secured, mostly middle aged men, and all but three of them married. The taking of testimony began upon the re-convening of the court and late this afternoon the commonwealth rested its case and Judge Lovings' own defense is the unwritten law had taken the witness stand in his own behalf.

The widespread interest in the case was manifested. A large crowd was present, but perfect order was observed. During the afternoon session eleven witnesses testified for the prosecution. The feature of today's proceedings was the showing of the hand of the defense, which is the "unwritten law" pure and simple, though this phrase has not been used by attorneys of either side. The plea will be that the victim of the tragedy had taken Miss Elizabeth Lovings,

Judge W. G. Loving, father of Elizabeth Lovings

the nineteen-year daughter of the defendant prior to a buggy ride on the evening prior to the killing and had with the aid of drugs maltreated her. In answer to a question asking for his reason in a certain line of examination, Attorney General Lea of the defense replied that it was to show the mental state of the defendant at the time and prior to the killing and the provocation which so affected his frame of mind.

SURVIVOR OF C. I. TELLS OF O'CONNOR

Moncton Man Escaped Injury, Shock—Italian Laborers in the Rail

MONCTON, N. B., July 4.—After escaping death by the margin of an hour, Breard McCready, his nerves partially shattered, has been ordered to his home in this city for a week's rest. He was on the recent C. P. R. wreck near Butler, Ont., in which ten Chinese, Japanese and white men were killed and so fearful were the sights witnessed, and so narrow was his own escape that McCready's nerves were completely upset and collapsed while on guard the night after the wreck. His own escape from death was a narrow one. McCready was one of the guards in charge of a number of Chinese coolies en route from Vancouver to Montreal. Thomas O'Connor, of St. John, was the other guard. About an hour before the wreck, O'Connor went on guard and McCready retired to a car at the rear of the train to sleep. When the collision took place the car in which O'Connor was on guard and in which McCready would have been had the guard not changed, was telescoped and smashed to pieces. O'Connor being instantly killed.

When the high chief ranger called the High Court to order it was nearly three o'clock, as a large group photograph of the delegates in front of the Little Mechanics' Institute took up quite a little time.

The first business was the report read by D. G. Lingley of the special committee on sections 1, 2, and 4 of the H. C. ranger's report, and it was as follows:

"That whenever the summons that will come to all come to our beloved, trusted and honored leader, Dr. Oronohyatekha, on the third day of March last, our beloved order lost all that the word 'leader' implies. Seldom does any other owe so much to a single man as our order owes to our late supreme chief, Great hearted and broad minded, yet loving and gentle as a child, he fell asleep. This High Court desires to place on record its love and appreciation of him in life and its deep sorrow because of his death. Your committee would recommend that this resolution be engrossed on the minutes of the High Court and a copy be forwarded to the supreme executive."

"It is a matter of great satisfaction that the mantle of Dr. Oronohyatekha had fallen upon the shoulders of so able and distinguished a brother as the Hon. Elliott G. Stevenson, who for many years had been the able and trusted
