How a Clerk Worked Up an Excuse That Was Gladly Accepted by His Employer, to Whom He Had Shown

"It's mighty hard for a clerk to snave and polite all the time," said a department manager in one of the big "A clerk is like any other hu nan being, subject to beads hes an indigestion and fits of irritability, and occasionally he will be a little graff without intending it. When I was younger, a few thoughtless words once came near losing me a good job, and the way I escaped b, and fired was rather amusing. It happened like this "I had charge of the men's furnishings counter in a large clothing store and the pay being first rate and chanc of promotion excellent I was naturally anxious to hold on to the job. One morning, however, I was feeling all out of sorts and was just developing an ugly headache. when a man came and asked to see some cravats."

"I could tell from his general appear ance he was from the north, and he had a curt, semisupercilious man that irritated me immediately. If I had been feeling well, I would have kept my temper, but my head was throbbing, and when he pawed over the stock, finding fault with everything nd sneering at my statements as to quality I began to get crusty.

"Finally I couldn't stand it any longer. 'If you really want a scarf,' I said, 'you'll find plenty here that, dare say, are as good as anything you've been accustomed to wear.' Just then I happened to look up and caught sight of a doorwalker standing in a rear aisle and making frantic gestures to me with his hands.

"'if you'll wait a moment,' I said to the customer, wondering what the dickens was up. 'I'll see if I can find something else at the other side.' With that I hurried over to where the floor walker was standing. 'What's the matter?' I asked in a low tone. "'Great Scott, man,' be whispered

During the next five seconds 1 did some quick thinking, and among other things that came crowding into my mind was the fact that the boss had been married only a short time before. That gave me an idea.

"'I'm going back,' I whispered to the floorwalker, 'and in a minute or two you send one of the boys to me with a piece of folded letter paper.'

"'What are you up to?' be asked. "'Never mind.' said L. 'You do ex-
