GRAND JURY'S VISIT TO THE SANTARIUM.

shelter, while most of the cities of On-tario have such. No doubt there would shelter, while most of the cities of Ontario have such. No doubt there would be cases for which this plan would not answer, and these could be sent to reformatories or Industrial Schools, but the great majority of these young offenders could be saved and placed out in homes and be made good citizens.

Had such an organization as the Children's Aid Society dealt with those who filled the Penetanguishene Reformatory,
when they were dealt with by the Judge,
there would have been no prison life for the most of them.

the most of them.

The following places have shelters:
London, Toronto, Brantford, Ottawa, Guelph, Chatham and St. Thomas.

It would be well if the Ontario laws were made clear, so that there could be no doubt that municipalities must proride a shelter where Children's Aid Socitiese are organized—in Hamilton the authorities do not consider that they are obliged to do so.

thorities do not consider that they are obliged to do so.

Our next visit was to the Asylum. There we were met by Dr. English, who personally conducted us. All questions asked were courteously answered. The internal arrangements and management appeared to us excellent. There was a homelike appearance about many departments, while in others it looked almost like a summer resort. We were pleased to hear arrangements were being made for the purpose of providing a separate building for patients afflicted with tuberculosis. The grounds surrounding this institution are large and splendidly looked after. No finer situation could be found on the continent.

looked after. No liner situation could be found on the continent.

The House of Refuge we found in absolute good order. The superintendent, Mr. Rae, has evidently the care and comfort of the old people very much at heart. The view from this institution is wery fine, and the injurates appear to appreciate the surroundings.

With Measure we note the progress being made with the bome for incurables.

This move is certainly one in the right direction.

At St. Peter's Home we found Miss Miller in charge, and this institution is corthy of the support it gets, and a little more. The invades appear a happy lot and are grateful for benefits rethe more. The itemates appear a happy lot and are grateful for benefits received.

Our last visit was to the Boys' Home, and certainly it was not the least. This excellent institution keeps up its good reputation. We found dormitories, school-room, dining-room, etc., right up to date, and one would have to go a long way to find healthier looking boys. Mrs. Hodd was our guide here and Miss Ortton, the head of the school, explained methods there, The singing and recitations given were really most creditable. Justice Teetzel held a session last night and took up the action of Gunby vs. Hemilton & Hawthorne, non-jury, for $2.200 damages for the breach of warranty in the sale of a horse. The statement of claim was that Gunby was one of a party of gentlemen, known as the "Waterdown Syndicate." On or about the 17th of December, 1904, Mr. Gunby was approached by a man named Waterworth, who said he was an agent of Hamilton & Hawthorne, of Simcoe, and that he had a valuable horse for sale. Mr. Gunby interested a number of his friends, and they made a deal with Waterworth to buy a French stallion named "Saturne." for $2.200. One of the contilitions was that if the horse died before certain service hall been obtained the purchasers should pay only $1,000 or the syndicate was to be furnished with another animal worth the same amount. The horse died shortly after the syndicate received jt, and it is alleged by the plaintiffs that it was worthless. Staunton, O'Heir & Morison for the plaintiff, and Ke'ly & Porter, Simcoe, for the defendants.

defendants had received notes for the $2,200. The Judge awarded the plaintiffs

His Lordship took up the action of William Kearney vs. Thomas Barnes this morning, after the horse case. It is a damage action for $5,000 for a peris a damage action for $5,000 for a permenent injury sustained by the plaintiff while in the employ of the defendant. Kearney, who is a teamster, and who lives in Stoney Creek, was working for the defendant in that capacity about the 22nd of August, 1907. He was driving a 22nd of August. 1907. He was driving a team and wagon, loaded with gravel from a pit of the defendant, on the farm of a man named Sanderson. The road to this farm, the plaintiff alleges, was full of pitfalls and stumps. The plaintiff said that he spoke to the foreman about the unsafe condition of the road. On the day he was injured, the wagon dropped into one of the holes, throwing him from his seat. He was taken to the City Hospital and remained there for the control of the contro Gry Hospital and remained there for some time. The defence denies all the allegations and claims that Kearney did not take reasonable care. J. W. Nesbitt, for the defendant, and W. A. Logie for the plaintiff. The case was still on at press time.

Justice Teetzel announced that he would hear argument on the action of Inch vs. City of Hamilton, on Monday morning.

Bargains at Grafton's.

Grafton & Co.'s half-yearly sale continues to draw big crowds to this great clothing store, 20 to 24 James street north. Probably not in the history of this business has better values been offered. The Grafton Co. is well prepared for keen competition, having it own factories and handing its product direct to the buyer. To-morrow a veritable bargain event again takes place. Boys overcoats, worth from $3 to $5, will go for $2.48; men's overcoats, worth from $7.50 to $1.50 to $ for $2.48; men's overcoats, worth from $7.50 to $10, will sell for $5.98. There were fifteen entries, and the following twelve faced the atarter: Baxter, McGill, Rigg, Hammond, Peters, Starea, Stockford, Amis, Peters, McQueen, Robinson, Shay and Goyette. The race was won in admirably style by Gordon Goyette, who was presented with a beautiful lemon squeezer with five admission tickets attached. There was more fun from start to finish than has been seen for some time in such a short space of time.

Begg & Shannon Announce Another Bargain Feast To-morrow.

With the two proprietors working hard, and the assistance of a large staff hard, and the assistance of a large stati of extra clerks, Messrs. Begg & Shan-non's store was not large enough to ac-commodate the big crowds that attended its great see-saw saie, that began on Thursday. The doors had to be locked at intervals, and even then it was a diffi-cult matter to cope with the crowd of anxious buyers. To-morrow this marvel-lous sale will continue, and a larger staff will be on head to give quicker service. lous sale will continue, and a larger staff will be on hand to give quicker service.
