The Secretary briefly stated the object of the meeting, and position of the enterprise, pointing out that by-laws had been duly submitted and published by municipalities interested on the line. He referred to the Toronto and London movement as obviously designed to burk the scheme, and proposing nothing tangible instead thereof, and urging vigor and unity.

This meeting had at arrangement for Township meetings, at which Delegates from the W., G. & B. Railway would be present. The first and second meetings, at Ainslieville, on Wednesday, 30th, at 6 p. m., and at Wingham, on Thursday, 31st, at 1 p. m., had already been fixed. Blank bills had been provided; also 1000 copies of a campaign sheet for distribution among the people.

It was resolved unanimously that Peter Fisher, Esq., of Wingham, be appointed Chairman. The Secretary's appointment was also confirmed.

It was also resolved that meetings be held through the townships as follows: Grey and Morris—at Ainslieville, Wednesday Aug. 30th, at 6 p. m. Turnberry—at Wingham, on Thursday 31st, at 1 p. m.

Lisowel—Saturday 9th, at 6 p. m. On motion of D. H. Hay, seconded by N. M. Livingstone, it was unanimously resolved—that in our judgment the North Perth, North Huron, and South Bruce Railway extension will, as compared with any rival scheme of schemes, best serve the varied interests of the section of country through which it is located, and from its financial resources, is the only one entitled to the confidence and support of the people, and we pledge ourselves to work cordially and energetically to secure the passage of by-laws in aid of its construction, using every legitimate means to carry the project to a successful issue.

Blank bills for public meetings and campaign sheets were distributed among the members of the Committee. It is resolved that the proceedings of this meeting be sent to the Huron papers and Lisowel BANNER for publication. P. FISHER, Chairman. D. D. Hay, Sec'y.

The Cholera has extended its ravages to Hamburg. This is but a step to New York, with which there is constant transatlantic communication by steam. A Roman mob attacked the Vatican, and as dispersed by the military at the expense of several lives.

The body of a young woman, in a state of decomposition, was found in a trunk at the station of the Hudson River R. R. Through a truckman it was traced as having come from the house of one Rosenzweiger a quack doctor, and professional abortionist. The likelihood is that the girl died under his hands. May he have a short shrift and a long rope?

A Leeds Trade Union has got a lesson. The Union compelled an employer to discharge an operative. The operative was the officers of the Union at the Assizes and gets £300 damages. A Hindoo lady has lectured in Madras on the "Human being" acknowledging the superiority of man and the inferiority of woman.

The poppy culture is successful in California, and the product contains more morphin than the opium of commerce. The body of a young woman, in a state of decomposition, was found in a trunk at the station of the Hudson River R. R.

It is Dishonor to have a Tough Hand. The complaints of laboring men that their avocations and themselves are not held in proper respect by those who occupy different spheres in life, are only too well founded. Manual labor is, undeniably, held in comparative contempt. The chief reason of this is that workingmen do not love knowledge, they allow themselves to become mere machines, capable of performing the work that falls to their lot in the line of their daily toil, and of doing little or nothing else. They allow the laborer to usurp the rights of the man. They too often give more thought and more attention to the workman than to the man, until the former becomes the chief part, and then complain because others see them as they see themselves. He who disregards his own rights, and ignores others to respect his own, will not frequently hear, among a certain class, some such remark as this, on the subject of educating their children, "Well, ya-as; John must go to school some more; but Bill's got larin' enough. He can read and write and cipher right good, and that's enough for any 'ommon man." This utterly acknowledging distinction which they would deny; thus helping to lay the foundation for a difference which they curse others for perceiving. This principle is sometimes carried to the extreme and produces its effects accordingly. To possess just knowledge enough to enable him to fight his way through life, is thought to be sufficient for a laboring man, and all knowledge and acquirements that do not bear directly on his line of labor are considered superfluous, though they tend to elevate the soul and to develop true manhood. Surely the ox pulls no better with ribbons on his horns, nor the draft-horse because he was taught to kiss his master. This, we are happy to say, is not the view taken by all laboring men; and we are still happier to be able to say that there is a growing disposition among laboring classes to drive out these erroneous views altogether, but it will take a long time yet to do it. And, during that lengthy, will not laborers have to bear a large share of the blame for their own wrong? There is no disgrace in wearing a plow, an ox, or a spade; but there is something disgraceful in being able to do nothing else. Higher capabilities are placed within men's reach. These are not man's highness, in themselves, bespeak the highest intellectual and aesthetic culture. It is a disgrace that the chief observable difference between the ox and his master should be that the one pulls the plow and the other holds it.

NEWSPAPER BORROWERS.—This wretched class of small parasites is again hit off by our exchanges, as follows: "Of all things contemptible, a man who will read a paper at his neighbor's expense is the most contemptible, especially if that man extorts it his duty to lower papers collectively, and editors generally. They always meet the carrier first, snatch the paper, and after greedily devouring every morsel of news it contains, throw it aside, saying, with a contemptuous curl of the lip: 'What trash! it is really fit for nothing but waste paper.' And yet day after day they seem anxious to gain possession of the paper, and seem as disappointed at its non-arrival as the good paying subscriber, who ever welcomes it as a pleasant visitor. Strange world, this."

DARING BURGLARIES IN LUCAS.—An attentive correspondent writes us that on Saturday morning last, between one and two o'clock, the residence of Mr. R. Oran was entered, and a cash box, containing $418 and several notes, taken from his bed side, scarcely eight inches from his head. The jingling of the box awoke Mr. Oran; he immediately gave pursuit, and compelled the burglar to take refuge under a grain store close by. He then gave an alarm, when three persons came to his assistance. The robber made for the woods, thence escaped. The cash box was found next day under another grain store, containing the notes, but no cash. The same night Mr. Fisher's house was entered, and the sum of $11 taken from a bureau drawer. No clue to the robbers as yet.

BEER LOVING MONKEYS.—According to a recent letter from Darfur in Africa the monkeys of that region are notoriously fond of a kind of beer made by the natives, who use the beverage to capture their animal poor relations. Having placed quantities of beer where the monkeys can get at it, the natives wait until their victims are in various degrees of inebriation, and when they then mingle with them, the poor creatures are too much fuddled to recognize the difference between negro and ape. When a negro takes a hand of one of them to lead him off, some other fond creature clings to the hand of the latter one, another to his hand, and thus a single negro may sometimes be seen carrying off a string of staggering monkeys. When secured, the beer is administered in decreasing quantities, so that they may gradually awaken to the sad results of their spree.

LORD JOHN RUSSELL.—An American paper says: "Anybody who ever saw Lord John Russell will well believe he was destined to reach the age of Methuselah. He's a little waddled, withered, shrunken up old chap, and in his big baggy clothes, reminds one of a hazel nut shelled in its shell. But he is as full of life as an egg of meat, and perhaps the most remarkable proof of this vitality is the vigor in which he habitually uses his nasal organ just before rising to speak. After having taken several sips in an enormous banana handkerchief, he envelops his nose in its folds, applies both hands, and gives such an unapproachable blast accompanied by a spasmodic movement of the whole body, that it seems that his little frame would fly apart in all directions, from the sheer violence of the convulsion. When he sits down he retires beneath the shadows of a monstrous broad brimmed hat, cocks his knees up against the table in front of him, buries his head in his breast, and, to all appearances, becomes the very embodiment of profound resignation.

UNFAILING EYE PRESERVERS. Lazarus, Morris & Co. Celebrated Perfected Spectacles and Eye Glasses.

THE CELEBRATED PERFECTED Spectacles of Lazarus, Morris & Co. were introduced to the public at the Dominion of Canada since the month of March, 1860, during which period they have met with a successful and increasing sale; not only do we imagine that this success is due to the fact that they are adapted to every person on the Continent of America, but also to the fact that they are so simple in their construction, and so easy to use, that they can be worn by those who are unable to wear any other spectacles, and who are unable to see at all.
