Tom and Mary

On the Late Agricultural Exhibition.

(To the Editor Telegram.) Dear Sir—The committee met at 7.30, Mary in the four barrel chair.
Present—Tom, Skipper Frank, Skipper Dick, Aunt Patience and Uncle Nath.

Tom—Well, Uncle Nath, I am glad you are down to-night, and that you will be able to take part in the committee meeting we are going to have, especially seeing that you belong to the district.

Mary—Gentlemen and Aunt Patience. I thought it would be nice to be in the chair, but I found out lately that the chairman cannot take part in the debate and can only keep order, so I hereby leave the chair of the committee and respectfully call Tom to take that position.

Tom—As I have learned by my married life that obedience is always the best, I will submit, so now we will proceed to business.

Mary—In continuing our criticism
on the late Agricultural Exhibition, and the enormous amount of money spent, I hope that all those present will express themselves fully, especially our friends, Skipper Frank and Skipper Richard who were hard workers for the People's Party last election. From all I can learn the amount allocated for that Exhibition was $2,500.00, and I hear that was not sufficient to meet the demands.

A trio of voices shout, Oh! oh!! oh!!!

Tom—Order, gentlemen and ladies.
Uncle Nath—I had a notion there was a goodly sum in the business, as so many people were running after it, but really I had no thought it was so big a sum as that. I would like to know if the train fares for visitors, and the freight on cattle and other exhibits came out of this sum.

Mary—I think not, Uncle Nath. I expect Mr. Reid gave the cows a complimentary ticket. I think I have heard of him doing that before.

Skipper Richard—Gentlemen and ladies, I was, as you all know, a big lever in the last election, and I felt sure that when the party was returned we would see no more poor times. I imagined that within a few months after the election we would have electric Road Boards.—(Elective you mean, Dick, said the Chairman).
That's what I said, Electric Road Boards all over the country, but instead of that we had the worst specimen of a Road Board that ever we had.

Tom—I am sorry to say that our friend, Skipper Richard, is out of order; but as he is also out of sorts on account of political disappointments we will look over it for this time.

Skipper Frank—I will try and keep to the point, Mr. Chairman, although I feel sorry for all the breath I wasted on the Morris clique last election. I mean to make amends next time. As to the enormous sum of $2-500.00 being spent on an Agricultural Exhibition in this district, I would like to say that the sum of $10,000.00 was granted by the Government for the different districts exhibitions this year.

Loud shouts of Oh! oh!! oh!!!
Yes, gentlemen, this willful waste of public monies may seem to some people all right, but it must be admitted that this money had to be wrung from the poor fishermen who are the backbone of the country.
Look here, gentlemen and ladies, what's a going to be the end of it when the time comes to pony up. I am afraid to think of the result.
Willful waste makes woeful want, so they say, and I believe the Morris Party will want a woeful lot of votes to float them next time.

Mary—Gentlemen and Patience—This very enthusiastic meeting will have to be brought to a close, but before proposing an adjournment I would like to suggest to the gentlemen who had charge of that $2,500.00 that the public be given a statement of its expenditure, with the names of all who received any, and I hope we will see no "sundries" there, as that always makes me suspicious.

Before the committee rise I would also like to have a vote of sympathy passed to District Inspector Bailey, on account of the death of a valuable rooster, the last night of the exhibition. The poor bird had, no doubt, listened to the taunts and jeers of the crowd during the three days, and feeling that he could never again strut about the barn yard as of yore, he put his head up between the legs in his box and committed suicide by hanging himself. There was no compensation, as the committee holds that all exhibits are at the owner's risk. Vote passed unanimously.

Aunt Patience, whose patience had become exhausted, now proposed an adjournment.

Yours sincerely,
Mr. Grace, Nov. 16, 1911. MARY.

Shipping Arrivals.

BARQT. MAGGIE.

The barqt. Maggie, Capt. Connors, arrived yesterday morning at Jas.
Baird, Ltd., from Bahia in ballast after a run of 40 days. At the start the vessel had fine weather, but after making this coast it was stormy and she had a succession of gales for a while. The vessel sustained no damage.

S. S. MONGOLIAN.

The Allan liner Mongolian, Capt.
Peters, arrived here at 11 a.m. yesterday from Philadelphia via Halifax.
She left there at noon on Monday and on the run to Halifax had light winds and considerable rain. She reached Halifax Thursday morning, and left again at midnight. She had fair weather until Saturday night when she experienced the storm which prevailed all over the country. A gale of wind blew from the S. E. with sleet at first and then heavy rain. A mountainous sea ran and sprays constantly went over the ship's decks. The ship brought 150 tons of cargo and these passengers: Mrs. Piercey, Miss Pope, Mr. Schmidt and 7 steerage. The ship has in cargo for Glasgow 6,000 barrels and 1,000 boxes of apples, shipped at Halifax.

The s.s. Florizel, Capt. Smith, arrived here at 11.30 last night. She left New York at 4 p.m. Tuesday and had a fine run to Halifax, which port she left for here at midnight Friday. After leaving Halifax she had very stormy weather, especially so yesterday morning, when rain, sleet and sea impeded her. Her passengers were: Miss D. Hartigan, J. B.
Mitchell, H. Mitchell, J. R. Middleton, Mrs. A. Montgomery and child, J. Henley and 22 in steerage.

volent Irish Society took place at noon yesterday at the B. I. S. Hall. four applicants were admitted to membership. The reports of the officers were submitted and showed that the Society was in a prosperous condition. The L. and A. Committee will arrange for a series of concerts and debates during the winter months; there will also be billiard tournaments.

BEHIND TIME.—The express is

Sidewalk Sketches.

By H. L. RANN.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

Benjamin Franklin, who put the city of Boston on the map in 1706 by thoughtfully choosing it as a birthplace, was one of America's foremost literati. His father was the author of the tallow candle and a family of seventeen children, of whom Benjamin happened in as No. 15, the only instance of wilful tardiness charged up against him. Benjamin learned to set type in Philadelphia, and while there invented the italic thin space, which has been handed down from generation to generation, like a predisposition to the quinsy. Later he became an editor and took cordwood and aged fowls on subscription. He refused the postoffice at Philadelphia which caused him to be looked upon with suspicion, but later was made postmaster general and invented the general delivery clerk with a receding forehead. This is the only grudge posterity has against Benjamin. Benjamin was a fluent writer, and as he was of a very generous nature his autograph was much in demand on promissory notes negotiated by admiring relatives. His time was fully employed. He would go out and invent a few things in the daytime and then write for the papers at night.
After inventing the electric belt with the aid of a kite and a ten-penny nail, Benjamin signed the Declaration of Independence in a loud tone and emitted a few epigrams for his Almanac, which was translated into several different languages on a hand press. It is said that Benjamin was the only statesman in our history who could get shaved, have his shoes shined, dictate to a stenographer and direct a telephone conversation about the next caucus, all at one and the same time, without getting his wires crossed or inhaling a mouthful of lather. While not what you might call a society man, he was one of the patrons of the Boston tea party and always had his clothes made to order.
