THE HOLLOWAY STUDIO, LTD., Corner Bates' Hill and Henry Street, St. John's, Newfoundland.

At the Crescent.

The Crescent Picture Palace was well attended last night and patrons were delighted with the fine show presented. "The Menace to Carlotta" is a fine picture of Italian life. In a big American city, and held the audience from start to finish. The story is splendidly portrayed by the Rex Co., featuring Pauline Bush and Murdoch MacQuarrie. "Nugget Nell's Ward," a frontier Western melodrama full of interest and certainly a beautiful love story. A full reel of "Universal Animated Weekly" showing happenings of interest all over the world. "The Girl Bandit" is certainly some comedy; the girl, for a joke, turns bandit, but loses her nerve at the wrong time.

J. O'Neil Farrell sings "The Man Who Fights the Fire," and delighted patrons last night. This show will be repeated this afternoon and to-night, and big houses are assured. Don't miss seeing this and watch the Crescent ads. for our mid-week show.

Wonderful for the Blood.

Cures Sallow Skin, Headache, Languor and Tiredness.

You don't need to be told how you feel—blue, sort of sickish, poor appetite, vague pains, tired in the morning. This condition is common at this season.

Fortunately there is prompt relief in Dr. Hamilton's Pills which immediately relieve the system of all poisons and disease-producing matter.

Thousands have been so utterly depressed, so worn out as to be despondent, but Dr. Hamilton's Pills always cured them. "I can speak feelingly on the power of Dr. Hamilton's Pills," writes C. T. Fearman, of Kingston. "Last spring my blood was thin and weak, I was terribly run down, had awful headaches and a gummy, empty feeling about my stomach. I couldn't sleep or work until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they did me a world of good." At all dealers in 25c. boxes.

Hockey Notes.

On account of the mild spurt of weather, the Fiddian-St. Bon's inter-collegiate match and the Victoria-Fiddian League game set down for this forenoon and evening, respectively, have been postponed and will be played as soon as conditions are suitable. The League contest is being eagerly looked forward to, as the result will have an important bearing, the Fiddians not having lost a game thus far.

The Night School.

Under the direction of Rev. Dr. Greene and the Christian Brothers, the opening session of the night school was held at the Star of the Sea Hall last night, and was largely attended. The number of teachers who came forward to assist in the laudable work augurs well for its success.

After a few brief remarks by Rev. Dr. O'Connell the work of classification began, and in this respect it is pleasing to note the enthusiasm with which the adults took the places assigned them by the teachers who have sacrificed so much of their time in their interests. The lay staff is in charge of Mr. W. F. Trelogan, who has with him several teachers of many years experience.

At the close last night Rev. Bro. Kennedy addressed those present, emphasizing the importance of education, and exhorting them to attend regularly.

The school is undenominational and will be open from 7.30 to 9.30 on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Star Tournament.

Nearly two hundred players took part in the card tournament at the Star of the Sea Rooms last night. Five prizes: half ton of coal, box of cigars, tub of butter, leg of pork, and half barrel of potatoes were offered, and the competition was keen throughout. The winners were Messrs. Lettridge, Healey, Nottall, Power and Butt.

Labelled for $10,000.

Dernburg Denies He Made Statement

Requesting United States to Aid Germany in Attempt to Control Seas.

Minneapolis, Feb. 1.—That any idea of involving the United States in the present European war would be "quite criminal, and every well wisher of this country should be entirely foreign to that idea," was the assertion made to-night by Dr. Dernburg, former Colonial Secretary of the German Empire, who was a guest of honor at a banquet given by the Germanic Society of Minneapolis.

This statement was brought forth by published reports, quoting from Dr. Dernburg's address before the Civic Association here to-day to the effect that the combined fleets of the United States and Germany could curb Great Britain in her "arrogant policy" of controlling the seas. In reference to this, Dr. Dernburg issued the following statement:—"There is no truth in the statement purporting to come from me that I had asked the United States aid for freeing ocean traffic through the combining of the fleets of the United States and Germany. What I said was that Germany was engaged in a fight over Great Britain's control of the seven seas; a topic in which the United States also is interested. But I never suggested, nor hinted, that the United States should be dragged into the war."

When a man applies for a job, look at his eyes. More signs of character are expressed through the eyes than any other feature. The eye is the window to the brain, and through it an expert character reader can often see a tale that would be lost to the average person. A guilty eye has sent more than one criminal to meet his fate, and a steady, unflinching one has helped many a man through a serious difficulty.

No two pairs of eyes are exactly alike, and it would be impossible to give any fixed set of rules for reading character from the eyes. A person must rely upon his own keen judgment for that. However, here are a few general hints on the characteristics that usually accompany different types of eyes.

Large, clear, blue eyes usually denote sensibility of character, and a capacity and willingness for work. Their owner is also likely to be fond of enjoyment, jealous, and often inquisitive.

Deep-set eyes receive impressions accurately and definitely. Great thinkers usually have had cold gray eyes, for gray is the color of shrewdness and talent. Eyes of this description generally denote better heads than hearts.

Green eyes are rare, and are seen more frequently in women than in men. They denote courage, energy and pride. Occasionally they accompany a jealous, vengeful disposition. Black eyes are difficult to read. They often show a quick disposition, and sometimes are treacherous. Round-eyed persons are not great thinkers. They are open hearted, observant and often sensual.

People with narrow eyes see less, think more, and feel with greater intensity. Brown eyes denote a loving though judicious temperament. Women who have light-brown eyes are fond of gaiety, shrewd, and often coquette.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES BURNS, ETC.

The Search-Lights.

(By Alfred Noyes, in the "Times," London.)

"Political morality differs from individual morality, because there is no power above the State."—General Von Bernhardi.

Shadow by shadow, script for light.

The lean black cruisers search the sea.

Night long their level shafts of light

Revolve and find no enemy.

Only they know each leaping wave

May hide the lightning and their grave.

And, in the land they guard so well,

Is there no silent watch to keep?

An age is dying; and the bell

Rings midnight on a vaster deep;

But over all its waves once more

The search-lights move from shore to shore.

And captains that we thought were dead,

And dreamers that we thought were dumb,

And voices that we thought were fled

Arise and call us, and we come:

And 'Search in thine own soul,' they cry,

'For there, too, lurks thine enemy.'

Search for the foe in thine own soul.

The sloth, the intellectual pride,

The trivial jest that veils the goal

For which our fathers lived and died;

The lawless dreams, the cynic art,

That rend thy nobler self apart.

Not far, not far into the night

These level swords of light can pierce:

Yet for her faith does England fight.

Believing Truth and Justice draw

From founts of everlasting law.

Therefore a Power above the State,

The unconquerable Power, returns,

The fire, the fire that made her great,

Once more upon her altar burns.

Once more, redeemed and healed and whole,

She moves to the Eternal Goal.

WONDEROUS PERSONAGES—GOETHE.

By GEORGE FITCH,

Author of "At Good Old Siwash." Goethe is to the German people in literature what Shakespeare is to the English and what someone ought to be to America some day.

Goethe is most famous as a poet. Some men can produce good poetry by letting their hair grow long and neglecting their bills. But this was not Goethe's way. He prepared himself carefully in his youth for the business of writing poetry. He went to several universities and perfected himself in science, languages, art, architecture, drama, medicine, politics, law, history, geology and love. He was most thorough and painstaking in all these branches. He made important discoveries in anatomy and anticipated Darwin's theories. He practiced law and was director of a theatre. He published researches in comparative morphology which still remain authorities. Those young men who intend to leap lightly into the business of becoming one of the world's greatest poets should consider Goethe and reflect. This might encourage them to select some easier task, such as becoming president, or accumulating $100,000,000 and a torpid liver.

But all of Goethe's other labors were trivial compared with his researches in love. He was an ardent dreamer, romantic man with an imagination which carried him ruthlessly either and yon by the neck if necessary, and wherever he went he discovered the most beautiful woman in the world and wrote a series of the most beautiful lyrics in the world about her. Other poets have attempted similar careers and some of them have succeeded to some extent, but most of them have failed to produce poems of a sufficiently entrancing nature to keep them from becoming decadents in breach of promise suits. This is a very dangerous field of investigation and only a genius like Goethe, Shelly and Byron can get away with it.

Goethe was born in Frankfurt in 1749. The large comfortable Goethe
