Harbor Grace Notes.

Miss Elsie Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy, after spending six weeks or more visiting friends in the city, arrived home again by Saturday night's train.

Mr. M. Shears, of St. John's, went to Carbonear by the noon train of yesterday and returned to town again by the return, making a short business visit.

The heavy rain fall, which continued all day yesterday and for the greater part of the night, made the streets in very poor condition, and walking very difficult. It took away most of the snow, but left the roads quite slippery.

Mrs. A. Yetman, who has been running a Boarding House, formerly on Water Street, opposite the Court House, has now removed down to the house originally occupied by Mrs. R. Hyde at Bennett's lane. Since Mrs. Hyde's removal this Boarding House has been renovated and is in first-class condition. Its location is a fine one and, no doubt, Mrs. Yetman will now be kept busier than ever.

Mr. Tobias LeDrew, of Cupids, who spent yesterday here on a business visit, left town again by the afternoon's train.

Mr. A. A. French, representing Messrs. Soper & Moore, is in town today.—COR.

Hr. Grace, Dec. 1, 1921.

M. J. O'Brien

shall for this evening's remarks call attention to all readers of the wretched condition of our streets, which could at least be made passable by having a few crossings swept where traffic is heavy. Should he be privileged to have a voice in civic affairs he will see if any solution to this problem can be made by appointing or detailing a few men whose duty it shall be to keep back the liquid mud and filth in those particular places. He would further suggest that much could be done in improving the Southside if some of the graves were taken away from the hillside opposite Morey's; this could be used with good results for repairing the streets, much better than the yellow clay that now makes Gower Street such a filthy mess, and it would also after removal enable the Southside Road at this particular point to be widened and have a proper sidewalk placed as requested by one of the residents, to another candidate, in his letter as published. As the city revenue is one of no small importance, in the bringing of many improvements so desired by many of our citizens, O'Brien does not wish to place any planks in his platform that would perhaps look "too rosy" or that would entail extra civic debt for interest of any loans that such would entail, but there are other sources of revenue that might be tapped, if such were brought to the notice of the board, when they are in session devising "ways and means" for to run the affairs of our municipality. However, it is not at present judicious to point out those sources that may yet be drawn upon, suffice it to say they will not, in the least, effect taxpayers. There are many other subjects of importance that could be used as planks by O'Brien, but he believes he has covered the most important ones. He desires the public, however, to feel assured that if they honor him, his strongest plank shall always be to have a ready ear to listen to their wants and to try and remedy any complaints they may make, and assures them he shall not suffer from any swollen head or false pride, that very often such positions cause those who hold them to indulge in, at the cost of the citizen's comfort. How then can you sensible, intelligent voters do otherwise when you are filling out your choice of Councilors, than say "I must not forget to mark One Vote for O'Brien"?

LETTEN - ADDRESSES. - At St. Thomas's Church during the session of Lent, the Rector will deliver a series of addresses on Friday evenings, the subject being "Studies in the Psalms."

A Much-Travelled Prince

ROYALTIES CRUISES COMPARED.

London, Nov. 30.—(By Canadian Press)—So much of the world has the Prince of Wales seen already and is seeing on his present tour of India and Japan that it is possible, despite the set-back to his travels owing to the four and a half years of war, that he may reach the great record of his father, who is easily the most travelled of Sovereigns in this or any other age. A year after the armistice the Prince of Wales came to Canada and also visited the United States. Last year he toured Australia, New Zealand and Tasmania, and on the way out to the Antipodes and home again, he went through the Panama Canal, and made short stays at Hawaii, Fiji and in the West Indies. His journeys last year were to have included India, but the strain of travelling was too great, and so the visit to the East had to be postponed until this year. After four months in India, embracing a splendid series of entertainments at the hands of most of the Maharajahs, the Prince will sail on March 17th, next from Karachi for Japan, where preparations on a lavish scale have been planned for his reception. He will return to London next June.

Present King's Cruise.

King George V. was only fourteen years of age when he set out upon his travels and went around the world with his elder brother in His Majesty's Ship Bacchante. The two cruises of that vessel took the two Princes to the Mediterranean, the West Indies, South America, South Africa, Australia, Fiji, Yokohama, Hong Kong and Singapore. By Canada, three times to India and Ceylon, and twice to South Africa and Australia, while the only considerable parts of the British Empire that he had not seen were Uganda, British East Africa and Nigeria. Since his accession the King has been again to India and held the Coronation Durbar. His Majesty's last journey abroad was in the year before the war, when he attended the wedding of the Kaiser's only daughter at Berlin. King Edward VII. in addition to his frequent visits to the Continent, made two notable journeys of wider radius—the first in 1860, when he visited the principal cities of Canada and the United States, and the second in 1875-1876, when he made his memorable progress through India, Queen Victoria, in the course of her long reign, never went beyond the boundaries of Europe.

Home From Newfoundland.

L. Gower MacKay returned on Saturday from Newfoundland where he represented the Rotary Club of Sydney at the organization of a Rotary Club in St. John's. The Sydney Record of Nov. 28, talking to The Record, Mr. MacKay said that the St. John's club had got away to a fine start, with between 20 and 30 representative men of the city making up the charter membership and all enthusiastically interested in this expansion of the Rotary movement. The organization meeting was under the direction of R. Downing Paterson, of St. John's, N. B., district governor of Rotary. In addition to Mr. MacKay, Mr. Paterson had with him in St. John's C. Fred Bond and Harvey Smith, two members of the Rotary club at Halifax.

McMurdo's Store News.

FRIDAY, Dec. 2. A general pain remedy is a decided necessity in every household. One of the most potent remedies of this sort, and one with about the widest range of action, is Red Cross Oil. You can scarcely do better than have a bottle in the house. For pains, external or internal, for muscular or intestinal cramps, or as a quick remedy for colds and chills Red Cross Oil has no superior and few equals. Red Cross Oil too is highly concentrated, and is moderate in price, being sold at 25 cents a bottle. We can strongly recommend Red Cross Oil.

The Voters' List.

NEARLY 9000 IN ARREARS.

There are 9218 qualified voters in the city, according to the list which civic officials have been busily engaged in compiling during the past weeks. Of these, 1078 are women. So far, only about 5500 are fully paid up and eligible to vote in the forthcoming election. Most of the ineligible are in arrears. This applies to only a few women. A chance for the 3000 odd who are in arrears to pay up and so qualify themselves to vote at the election will be given. All who settle up their arrears between now and polling day, which is on the 15th of the month, will be provided with certificates qualifying them to register their votes. There are still a large number of people who have not paid their poll tax. The returning officials room are situated in the T. A. Hall, Duckworth Street, and not in the Planning Building as was at first intended. A telephone connection has been fitted up and Mr. Doyle, the returning officer, or Mr. P. Grace, will be there from now until polling day, and will give any information which voters may require. The Council office still presents a busy scene as several people come in daily to pay their arrears. It is probably not generally known that the nominators and witnesses in connection with the nomination of candidates must be voters in good standing, and it is understood that any candidate nominated by anyone not in good standing may be disqualified. Nomination day is on Monday next, and there may be several more candidates in the field by then.

Ireland Leads in Chimes and Carillons.

BELFAST.—(By Canadian Press).—Ireland now possesses two of the finest modern carillons in the world. Two years ago a fine set of forty-two bells was placed in Queenstown Cathedral, and on Sunday, November 6, 1921, another set of bells was inaugurated in St. Patrick's (Roman Catholic) Cathedral at Armagh. The latter consists of thirty-nine bells with clavier—three octaves, chromatic E. to E. with two extra lower tones—D, and G. The total weight of the bells is eleven tons. The smallest bell weighs only twenty pounds. The carillon in the Cathedral at Armagh is placed in the north-west tower, which, with its spire, rises to a height of 210 feet. Thus the bells are placed in a satisfactory position acoustically. Another fine carillon of bells is to be set up at Loughborough, where a war memorial campanile is being built at a cost of £10,000. It will contain a set of forty-five bells with clavier, with a great bell weighing four tons.

Wireless

The Career of

ROBERT DONALD, LL.B. John O'Leary's Weekly. No modern invention is so much of the glamour as wireless telegraphy. It is the imagination of a majority of people that it is something which they do not understand, and uncannily, unexplainable. One of the leading exponents of this science which is bridging continents and rapidly making smaller is Dr. W. H. Marconi. He is one of the great authorities on wireless telegraphy in this country. Mr. Marconi has not only shown that it is possible to send messages in some respects the rapid development of the modern airplane.

A LANCASHIRE MAN. Dr. Eccles is a Lancashire constructional engineer of sixteen he began work with his father. After practical experience he went to the College of Science with a view to training for a mechanical engineer. He broke away from a course and took up studies in his third year. He afterwards demonstrated his ability in this country. Mr. Marconi's establishment in England was the first wireless in the world, and was transmitting messages from Boulogne, to Dover.

MARCONI INSPIRED. With superb confidence in the future of his invention Marconi also started his own constructional engineering firm. The young graduate of the College of Science entered into an establishment in England, Marconi. "At that time," he says, "I was in a laboratory and with the aid of my father, who was perfecting the code of the high-frequency current into wireless. Marconi then was to communicate a distance of forty miles. He had had the idea of patient scientists and engineers, carried on at Whitehaven, was the start of which has provided the wireless system.

The year or so which Marconi was in his career. At that time a great deal of thought was carried away a lot of things he did not at once see. He joined the Marconi as assistant secretary of about £4 per annum. He had a few years' experience as a technical subject, especially in the wireless.

Dr. Eccles next occupied a position of lecturer on electronics at Chelsea. In 1908 he received his doctorate in Science from Chelsea. Dr. Eccles advanced rapidly in his attainments, and
