Forecasting Quakes Possible

DECLARES CALIFORNIA PROPHET

SANTA CLARA, Cal., (A.P.)—Earthquakes not only will be predicted in the future, but actually have been forecast in the past, said Father Jerome S. Ricard, S. J., director of the University of Santa Clara observatory, in answer to an assertion made in Washington recently by Dr. Thomas A. Jagger, Jr., government scientist, that continued study of seismological data will enable scientists to send out warnings of the approach of tremors.

Father Ricard, noted as a weather prophet, is known as "the Padre of the Rain" and his theory of the relation of sun-spots to the weather has attracted wide attention.

"Earthquakes," he contended, "were first predicted by Marchand, a French man, twenty-five years ago, by means of sun-spots. Unfortunately he died without perfecting his system, and as usual his idea was greatly ridiculed. We took up the same idea here at Santa Clara and tested it until 1914. Our findings were that a sun-spot crossing the central meridian, or happening in the vicinity, east or west, always synchronized with accounts of earthquakes somewhere on the globe given out by the press. Professor Albert Porta, of this observatory, became imbued with the findings and continued the study until his death last year."

Professor Porta's death determined Father Ricard to resume the study of predicting earthquakes.

Of the attitude of the public and even of the scientific world toward the theory advanced by Marchand, the Jesuit astronomer said: "It is hard for the layman, professed physicist though he be, to see a casual nexus, or connection, between sun-spots and earthquakes, or sun-spots and weather. But this proves only the limitation of the human mind and its great ignorance, even though among scientists."

According to Father Ricard, Marchand was not the only astronomer to see the relation between earthquakes and sun-spots. Some time before 1900 High Clements in London held, firmly, that earthquakes were caused by joint action of the sun and moon. On this idea Clements explained the great earthquakes, particularly the disastrous Lisbon tremor.

Father Ricard also announced that he had begun the study of the possible relation of the moon to the direction of storms. It is found, he explained, that the moon has influence on atmospheric tides capable of inducing hurricane elements, gully-chasing cyclonic lines of the earth; the new study should aid in long-range forecasting.

BANISHED.

WALT MASON

To-day I fled my angry niece from this my poor abode. I placed her bird-cage and valise and sunshade in the road. "You are too modern," I exclaimed, "we never could agree; you may be right, but I'll be blamed if you can live with me. You serve on juries in the courts, and think it not amiss; but I am of the old line sports who balk at things like this. You chase around in overalls upon the public street, and show yourself in turner-halls where Mike combats with Pete. I see you smoking coffin nails, you think your smoking smart; you may be right, but what avails the right that breaks my heart? I do not like you modern maids who toll not, neither spin, who cuss and spike your lemonades with anti-Volstead gin. I am old-fashioned, I allow, a relic of dead days; I wander gently with my cow along ancestral ways. But this poor shack is mine, I wot, from roof-tree to the sill, and while I own the hallowed spot I'll run it as I will. And so your baggage I have set outside the garden gate; your shaving kit, your cigar, your sport togs in a crate." My niece, she listened, not aghast, but with a harmless grin; "You represent," she said, "a past that is too dead to skin."

Hymn-Writer's Memorial

The well-known hymn, "The Church's One Foundation," was written by the Rev. S. J. Stone when he was curate at the Parish Church, Windsor. At the time he resided at Western Cottage, which adjoins the old burial ground at Windsor. The present tenant, Captain A. J. Willcocks, has just erected on the exterior wall of the house a tablet:

"Dedicated to the memory of S. J. Stone, who lived here whilst curate at the Parish Church, Windsor, 1863-1870. In this cottage he wrote the hymn, 'The Church's One Foundation.' Endowed with such a beautiful gift, this man has perpetuated a light that for ever should inspire and guide his fellowmen."
