The blouse waist, unlined, with sailor collar and vest piece, is becoming to every one, and when the dark serge is relieved by bands of color is exceedingly atractive. Serge and flannel have the preference over mohair, for though the last material is delightfully light and comfortable, it lacks warmth. A silk handkerchief knotted around the throat is a pretty touch of color which it is well to add, and as for the hat. well, a sailor or Alpine will do. They can be bought ready made and can be slipped on without any trouble.

After all there is nothing better for the growth of the hair than thorough brush-without hurting the natural oil. How often this is must be studied by each woman for herself. But, aside from this, she will find that giving each side of her head a brisk brushing of even only fifty strokes each night and morning, willsoon produce a new growth of short, strong fuzz springing up all over her head-that is, unless there is some diseased condition existing. This new growth has been seen too many times as a direct consequence of the hard brushing not to be implicitly

MERELY A MYTH.

The Story of the Missing Yacht Sunbeam Is Foundationless.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 1.-It transpires that the missing yacht Sunbeam is a myth, and that the so-called Commodore English, who represented himself to be the yacht's anxious owner, is apparently a humbug. A Toronto gentleman now in the city states that the only son of Judge Kingsmill of Toronto, who was represented to be aboard the mythical yacht, is now at sea in command of H. M. S. Blenheim, and that the other guests of the anxious commodore are as mythical as his yacht. One of the incidents of English's anxiety was his failure to settle with the hotel at which he was a guest while in this city.

FOND FREAKS

Two Heavy-Weight Hearts that Beat as

Chenango Falls, N. Y., Aug. 1.-Oscar Crouse, known as the Kansas Giant, vesterday married Miss Heath, known as the Broome county Fat Woman. Crouse is 6 feet 11 inches in height, and weighs 206 pounds. His wife is only 5 feet high, but weighs 345 pounds. Their union was the result of love at first sight. Crouse has been all over the world, appearing once before Queen Victoria. He returned to this country, and, with the varying fortune of the average freak, was walking from Syracuse to Binghamton last week. The night was cool and he stopped at a warm himself. His remarkable stature was the cause of much comment from the railroad men about the fire, and one of them remarked, "You should see Miss Heath.

A description of the young woman followed. Although spoken in jest, Crouse's mind turned strongly in the direction of the fat girl. He determined to find her and he succeeded. Twenty-four hours from the time the couple saw each other they had called on a minister and were married.

THE MONTREAL MURDER. Montreal, Que., Aug. 1.-The preliminary inquiry into the Bonsecourse street rendezvous murder was commenced before Judge Desnoyers this morning. Azarie Gauthier, the mur-derer, is defended by E. J. St. Jean, who will put in a plea of insanity. THE SHERIFF OF NEW YORK IN-DICTED. New York, Aug. 1.—Indictments were found this afternoon by the grand jury against Sheriff Tamsen, ex-Warden Raabe and former keepers, Schneer and Schoen, of Ludiow street jail. The indictments grow out of the escape of the postoffice thieves, Killoran, Allen and Russell.

AS GOOD AS A FISH STORY. Ottawa, Aug. 1 .- An Interesting relic is about to be added to the military museum at the drill hall. It is a curved sabre of the pattern of 1812, and has an interesting history. The sword was presented to the Government by F. P. Austin, of Sorel, Que., formerly of the Militia Department. He says: "This sword was handled by one Jackson, a man of six feet three Inches in height, and built in proportion. At the battle of Waterloo he killed seven men with it in one day. When my father in 1837 raised five troops of cavalry this Jackson was the drill instructor, and a magnificent swordsmen he was.

Sojourners in a country house, or in a summer hotel, often get up small entertainments of tableau for which some hints may be of assistance. The stage should be raised above the audience, about three feet. The platform should be framed like a picture, and between performers and spectators should be stretched black gauze. At the back of the stage should be a high screen draped with hangings to throw out the picture arranged before them. The stage should have a dark covering, and carriage-lamps, for lighting, should be carefully placed at the sides of the stage, not as footlights; four or six of these will be required. The curtain

Refrigerators are now made to look so like a buffet that their real use is completely disguised. This adds much to their usefulness, permitting them, as it does, to occupy some more prominent position than was once accorded them, and fitting them for a place in a diningroom. The emptying the water pan underneath, and the bringing in the ice to fill the chest are the only things now that militate against the refrigerator's standing in one's diningroom if that is
