William's Petty Game Laws.

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—There is something very unroyal and petty about the rule which has recently been instituted at the hunt to which Emperor William invites his guests, and which takes place in the immense game preserves and vast forests that form part of the Prussian crown property. No matter whether the guest be a prince of the blood or a mere nobleman, he is strictly debarred from appropriating any of the game that may have fallen to his gun. The whole of the game killed at these imperial shoots is sold en bloc to game dealers, under the superintendence of the chief forester in whose district the shoot takes place, and if a guest wants to obtain the body of any animal or bird which he may have shot, he is obliged to pay its full market value to the treasury of the department of the grand master of the hunt.

ALMA, Kan., Jan. 12.—Two factions in the United Brethren Church here long been at war. Last night one set put wheels under the church building and started to carry it off bodily. The leaders of the other faction rushed to the home of the district judge, secured an injunction, and waking up the sheriff, had it served at once. At the time the injunction was served the building was in the middle of the street, and there it stands.

Cut Off His Head.

COVINGTON, La., Jan. 11.—A horrible case of Indian barbarity came to light near Madisonville yesterday. Chief Jim, an Indian, who has lived in a hut in that locality for many years, and is a relic of the Natchez tribe, got into a quarrel with a brother Indian over a shotgun. Blows were exchanged and then Willis fired a load of buckshot into Jim, killing him instantly. Not satisfied with this, Willis picked up an axe and chopped the head from the body, and then, with a blow, crushed the skull. Willis made his escape before the sheriff heard of the crime. A posse is on his track.

Big Money in Cabbage.

ELWOOD, Ind., Jan. 12.—One of our leading citizens purchased a head of cabbage of a well known grocer, for which he paid 20 cents. He took it home and his wife proceeded to make it into "cold slaw." Upon cutting the knife it came against some hard. After dividing it a $20 gold piece was revealed. The cabbage was carefully dissected, and three more $20 gold pieces, two $10 and a $5 piece were found hidden there while the cabbage was being eaten and the hider had forgotten the fact.

HIS WIFE RAN AWAY.

A Toronto Man's Misfortune—An Interesting Love Story.

TORONTO, Jan. 12.—H. A. Giles, a manufacturing jeweler of Queen street east, is looking for his wife Edie, who left him to see the world with W. O. Chute, tailor, 49 King street west. Mrs. Chute had previously entered action for $10,000 against Mrs. Giles for alienating her husband's affections.

Chute came to this country from England four or five years ago, and conducted business as a fashionable tailor. Within the last few months he lived with Mr. Giles in rooms at 99 King street west. Chute is a man about 30 years old and of medium height. It was during his stay in the Giles home that Mrs. Giles is said to have developed an infatuation for him, and it is claimed by Mrs. Chute in her action that the couple took a trip on the Rochester boat one day last summer and that the meetings of the two which took place on the public streets of this city became the subject of criticism and caused intense injury to her (Mrs. Chute's) feelings. Mrs. Chute blames Mrs. Giles for the alienation of her husband's affections, while Mrs. Giles, in her defense, denies any conduct of a compromising character. Mrs. Giles said the time of the origin of the trouble that her sympathy with Mr. Chute, as she was convinced his wife never loved him in the slightest. On one occasion, she said, Mrs. Chute deliberately cut Chute's coat to pieces with the scissors.

IN TERRIBLE DISTRESS.

Sad Condition of the Unemployed in Australia.

Murder, Suicide and Burglary Frequent—Measles Carrying Off Blacks by Hundreds—Drunk Cricketers.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 12.—Australian papers by the last steamer are full of accounts of the great distress in Australia among the unemployed. Murders, suicides and burglaries occur with shocking frequency. Co-operative settlements are being formed, aided by the Government, colonies. Monster processions parade the street with banners bearing this inscription: "Work; not charity." Ministers of all denominations are joining in the large cities to raise a poor fund. Labor men are organizing thoroughly in the country, and nominating candidates for the coming election.

New Guinea Government papers declare Australia an infected country, measles being a dreaded disease which carries off blacks by hundreds.

The Australian cricketers have arrived home. They were met by curious crowds owing to rumors of inter-team unpleasantness. Manager Cohen stated that members of the team were continually drunk on the tour and attempted violence against him. Blackham had pulled his nose in the presence of royalty. The first match at Philadelphia was lost because the players were intoxicated. The men complained bitterly of the dividend, which was only £50 each for the trip.

DIED ON HIS WEDDING DAY.

Strange Case in Care, Mich.—Took Morphine and Never Rallied.

CARO, Mich., Jan. 12.—After a continuous sleep of 48 hours, George Burgess passed away yesterday morning. It was his wedding day. For several months he had been engaged to Miss Bessie Wickman, an estimable young lady of this village. The trousseau had been purchased, guests had been invited and everything had been done to making the linking of the two young lives a scene of festivity and joy.

On Tuesday morning Burgess went to the dental parlors of Dr. Arnold to have four teeth extracted. Upon two previous occasions, Dr. Arnold says, the young man took chloroform, but this did not seem to produce the desired effect, so morphine was administered by Dr. Livingstone.

Burgess was under the influence of the drug but a short time. There seemed to be no trouble. The young man was aroused, paid his bill and walked to his father's house as usual. In a few minutes he took to his bed. All efforts since that time to break the stupor have been fruitless, and at 7 o'clock yesterday morning he died. The affianced bride was with him to the last. The young man was 26 years old and seemingly possessed of a strong constitution.

WANTS FREE TRADE STRAIGHT.

Tom Johnson, the Steel Rail Manufacturer—He Attacks His Own Party.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Mr. Hopkins, of Illinois, completed yesterday in the House the speech against the Tariff Bill, begun by him Wednesday, and was followed by "Tom" Johnson, of Ohio, the free trader and single-taxer, who raised the flag of free trade and made a sharp attack upon the committee's bill, not radical enough to please him, and upon the Democratic party because it has not acted earlier. Mr. Johnson is a steel rail manufacturer, but he declared in favor of free rails, and made an onslaught upon the steel rail and other trusts. His thrusts at the Democrats were applauded warmly by the Republicans, and his attacks upon the trusts by the Democrats.

Mr. Johnson said that when the Democratic party went before the country in 1892 it charged that protection was robbery, that it created trusts, throttled industry and impoverished labor, and promised to abolish it if the people gave the party authority. "They did give me authority," said Mr. Johnson, "and then our haste to repeal oppressive taxes subsided, and instead of flying at the throat of protected brons and robber trusts, the great Democratic party began, as it were, to wag its tail and look for crumbs."

"A HIGH ROLLER"

Spent $10,000 on One Spree—A Chicago Man's Fast Life.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Affidavits in the divorce bill of Maud C. McRoberts against Mortimer McRoberts, filed yesterday, say that the defendant spent $10,000 on one spree of three weeks, and that he "blew in" $3,500 in one night. The court was asked to compel the defendant to pay $2,000 in solicitor's fees and $300 in weekly alimony pending the hearing. The affairs of the McRoberts family have been talked of in the swell set for some time. They were married on Feb. 3, 1887, and lived together until last September. In her affidavit Mrs. McRoberts says that when they lived at 1350 North Clark street their living expenses were $5,000 yearly. Later they moved to 10 Hawthorne Place, where it cost them $7,000 to live. Two female servants, a coachman and three horses were among their luxuries. Referring to her husband's financial condition, she says that he was able to boast of spending $3,500 in one night's debauch and $10,000 for a three weeks' spree.

McRoberts is the Western agent for the Plume & Atwood Manufacturing Company, of Waterbury; president of the Mortimer McRoberts Company, at 230 Lake street, at $5,000 a year, and is interested in several well-paying ventures. His wife says it was not strange for him to kiss her good-bye in the morning and disappear for weeks. On one occasion his desertion lasted 22 weeks.
