TORONTO HAY MARKET.

Toronto, Sept. 30 .- Baled hay-The market is steady and offerings are more plentiful; cars on the track here are quot-ed at $$ 50 to $9. The hay crop of the United States for this year amounts to about 51,000,000 tons, being slightly larger than last year's, but under those of 1899 and 1898. The latter crop (1898) was the fargest on record, exceeding 66,000,000 tons. The crop gathered this year has been exceeded only seven times in the last 26 years, but it is 4,000,000 tons less than the average for the past ten years. One feature of interest is that this year New York State leads all others with a yield of 5,263,000 tons. Baled straw-Steady; cars on the track here are quoted at $5

EVIDENCE FOR CROWN HAS BEEN COMPLETED

COURT RESUMED. On the resuming of court a few minutes after 2 p.m., Dr. John D. Wilson was recalled, and Mr. Riddell continued his cross-examination. Witness said that in his experience he had found that almost invariably a contused wound of the scalp bleeds freely. Witness thought that unless the handle of the axe was on the floo the wound found on the back of the head could not be made by the axe.

DR. McCAW. Dr. McCaw, of Parkhill, thought that the condition of the skull was entirely incompatible with Herbert's ev-The top of the skull would be entirely knocked in were Herbert's 11:46-The light wind has shifted to story true. 1:20. p.m.—Both boats seem to have either a fall or blows, if the blows were moderate ones.

DR. ANGUS GRAHAM. Angus Graham, of London, would expect, from Herbert's story, that the skull would be crushed at The wounds in the scalp would bleed freely.

To Mr. Riddell, witness said that contused wounds bled almost as freely as do incised ones. The amount of bleeding depends on the extent of the crushing of the vessels. The injuries might have been caused by blows, but not in the manner described by Herbert. In witness' opinion it did not appear reasonable that the injuries could be made by the axe produced Witness could understand the wounds being produced, but could not understand the fractures being produced.

The opening concert of the St. James' Presbyterian Literary Society, given last evening in the lecture room, was a gratifying success, and was much enjoyed by the large number present. Mr. Gray acted as chairman. The principal feature of the programme was a debate: "Resolved, that money has more influence over man than woman," Messrs. Anderson and Brown taking the affirmative, and Messrs. Omond and Dickson the negative. Both sides were ably championed by their respective supporters. Mr. W. C. Ferguson acted as critic, and decided in favor of the negative. Instrumentals were nicely rendered by the Misses Brock, Miss Shoebottom and the Pinney brothers, and Miss Nena Burke had to respond to an encore to her recitation, while a couple of male quartets by Messrs. Maynard, Gilmore, Froggett and Stockwell were well received. Miss Mowatt's and Mr. Jack Wilson's songs were heard to advantage, while Mr. Phil Barter's "Heroes and Gentle-men," and Mr. Stockwell's "Armorer's Song" won hearty and deserved en-
