Market Sidelights

BRITISH PREFERENCE.

A rather important decision is said to have been made in England regarding certain Canadian preferences which will include meats. This antonuncement is looked upon by those in touch with the situation as of very great importance to the Canadian packing industry and a quiet demand has grown up for the shares of some of these companies not listed on the stock exchanges. Details of any new tradewithin-the-empire preferences have not tyet been fully made public so it is premature to go into discussion of them, but advance information received in Canada points to an interesting arthese companies not listed on the stock exchanges. IRON AND STEEL TRADE.

Improvement in the iron and steel industry, which developed during the last quarter of 1924, has continued practically unabated, and prospects for the maintenance of present operating schedules well into the current year are favorable. Mills are running at from 90 to 98 per cent, of capacity, as compared with 70 per cent. several months ago, according to reports to Dun's Review. Producers already have more specifications than can be handled in the first quarter, it is understood, and many are booked well into the second quarter. Output in general is 20 per Ind. Local Market

Bad roads, made worse by the rains of the past few days, have cut the market to such an extent that trading is almost negligible. Monday's market was the slowest in weeks, and this morning three loads of hay and a few vegetables comprised the offerings.

Hay is living its balmiest days at the present moment, when supplies are rather scarce. Only those living close to a concrete highway will risk the treacherous mud with a heavy load. This morning's top price was $16 a ton, a record for two months or more. The market will drop to the $11 to $14 level when roads harden and suplies increase, buyers say.

Cabbages are enjoying a well-deserved popularity among vegetables, as the general size and quality this year are exceptionally fine. Prices are steady at 50 and 10c each, or 60c a dozen.

Mid-winter rhubarb is selling fairly
