The doctor said I had consumption. I was terribly weak, had night-sweats, cough, no appetite, and lost flesh. I saw Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery' advertised, and thought it would do no harm if it did no good. It has cured me. I am a new man because I am a well one."

—Mr. Thos. Bell, of Messrs. Scott, Bell & Co., proprietors of the Wingham furniture factory, writes: "For over one year I was not free one day from headache. I tried every medicine I thought would give me relief, but did not derive any benefit. I then procured a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and began taking it according to directions, when I soon found the headache leaving me, and I am now completely cured."

In Lord Salisbury the house of Cecij has achieved the unique distinction of giving three prime ministers to England. Burleigh, indeed, may fairly be considered as the first layman who ever attained to a position at all comparable to that of a moving the cause. Try it and make the improvement in your child. position at all comparable to that of a modern premier; and he remained in office for forty consecutive years, during the last twenty-six of which he was lord treasurer. The second Cecil held the white staff for four years, having been previously twelve years secretary of state and five years sole secretary. Almost as splendid a fortune was vouchasfed, in the eighteenth century, to the Pelhams, of whom Henry was first lord of the treasury from 1743 till his death in 1754, when his brother Newcastle succeeded him and retained the pest (with a break of a few months) for the next eight years. The duke was also post (with a break of a few months) for the next eight years. The duke was also secretary of state for nearly thirty years. But no third Pelham was destined to equal success, though a Duke of Newcastle of our own times, who won no mean political fame, could claim descent from a daughter of Henry. The only other family which has furnished two first lords of the treas-ury since the office acquired its present importance is that of Grenville.

What is Catarrh?

Catarrh is a muco-purulent discharge caused by the presence and development of the vege table parasite ameeba in the internal limings ambient of the nose. This parasite is the simplest living form known that lives upon simplest living form known that lives upon organs and is only developed under favorable circumstances, and these are: Morbid state of the blood, as the blighted corpuscle of tubercle, the germ poison of syphilis, mercury, the references, from the retention of the effect of the blood, as the blighted corpuscle of tubercle, the germ poison of syphilis, mercury, the reference of the second of the se toxomea, from the retention of the effete matter of the skin, suppression, perspiration, badly ventilated sleeping apartments, and other poisons that are germinated in the blood. These poisons keep the internal lining membrane of the nose in a constant state of irritation, ever ready for the deposit of the seeds of these germs, which spread up the aostrils and down the fauces, or back of the throat causing ulceration of the throat; up the eustachian tubes, causing dearness; burrowing in the vocal cords, causing hoarseness; usurping the proper structure of the bronchial tubes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death.

in bes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death.

Many attempts have been made to discover a cure for this distressing disease by the use of inhalents and other ingenious devices, but mone of these treatments can do a partitle of good until the parasites are either destroyed or removed from the mucus tissue.

Some time since a well known physician of forty years' standing, after much experimenting, succeeded in discovering the necessary combination of ingredients which never fail in absolutely and permanently eradicating this horrible disease, whether standing for one or forty years. Those who may be suffering from the above disease, should without delay, communicate with the business managers. Messrs. A. H. Reindeer by the Thousand.

Lieutenant Schwatka, in New York Times.

The approaching cold weather of the winter of 1879 has sent the reindeer in numerous bands on their southward migranumerous bands on their southward migrations until they came to the narrow strate which separates King William's land from the mainland. The strait not being frozen over, the number of deer which congregated at the narrowest point must have been well up into the thousands. The Arctic deer is an almost amphibious animal, and takes to the water as if he were web-fooded, swiming across the lakes in summer when the ice is off, if they lie in his way, rather than go twice the distance around them. When chased on to points of land jutting into the sea the deer have been known to swim into the water until lost to sight, and nothing was ever afterward known of them. But it is somewhat different when they approach the straits, migrating southward, for the weather at zero is about cold enough to convert the salt water into a sort of mush lee, about the same as would be produced by throwing twoor three feet of snow into the water. This would retard the animal's swimming, so that it would fall an easy prey to the many Netschilluk Esquiinto the water. This would retard the animal's swimming, so that it would fall an easy prey to the many Netschilluk Esquimaux who congregate there to slay the deer. My party killed twenty-six deer in a day. Toolooh, my best hunter, managed to secure twelve of them. He could have easily doubled or even trebled the number, but a dozen was the most he could slay and properly butcher. disposing of their ber, but a dozen was the most he could slay and properly butcher, disposing of their mest and alloting proper attention to the skins that were destined for our winter bedding and clothing. During the last few days of September and the early part of October there were many times when a thousand reindeer could be seen, looking from the top of the hill back of our snow house on the edge of a large lake. One clear, cold night in early October the straits were frozen over sufficiently solid to bear them, and within forty-eight hours wast multitudes of deer that had been swarming around us everywhere vanished southward like a fog swept away by a northern wind, and we saw no more live reindeer until December 12, two months later, when we had reached Back's Great Fish river on our winter sledge journey to Hudson's bay.

Seldom dees a popular remedy win such a strong hold upon the public confidence as has HALL'S HAIR RENEWER. The cases in which it has accomplished a complete restoration of color to the hair, and vigorous health to the scalp, are innumerable.

Old people like it for its wonderful power to restore to their whitening locks their original color and beauty. Middle-aged people like it because it prevents them from getting bald, keeps dandruff away, and makes the hair grow thick and strong. Young ladies like it as a dressing because it gives the hair a beautiful glossy lustre, and enables them to dress it in whatever form they wish. Thus it is the faverite of all, and it has become so simply because it disappoints no one. scalp, are innumerable. because it disappoints no one.

No 305 King St TURONTO CANADA Opinions of the Press.

Perhaps the most extractinary success that has been achieved in modern science has been attained by the Diron treatment for catarth. Only of 2000 patients treated during the past six months, fully righting to cent, have been cured of this stubbern malady. This is none the less starting when it is remembered that set five or search of the patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefitted, while the patent medicinas and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the oldin naive generally believed by the most scientification and, the size as is due to the presence of living parasites in the disues, Mr. Dixon at ence adapted his cures to their lexic ministion; this accomplished, the catarth is practically cured, and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by Min six years age, are cures still. No one size has ever stempted to our catarth. The application of the remedy is simple and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent they, the majority of cases being our deat one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Messrs, A. H. DIXON & SON 355 King street west, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for their treaties on catarth. Mentreal Star.

OBSERVE—Our remedy is easily applied—it; is used only once in twelve days, and its application does not interfere with business or ordinary duties. We give every case our special attention.
