Gossip from Chicago.

Counselman & Day to J. J. Dixon & Co.: The grain markets suffered to-day from liquidation by overloaded buils who had bought on frost news, and at no time did it sell up to the closing price of yesterday, although one rally in December from $1 to $1.01 occurred on impression among short sellers that decline had been sufficiently rapid to warrant a reaction, weakness in late cables and light clearances and heavy estimated receipts for Monday caused active selling and closing was very weak.

Kenneth, Hopkins & Co. to R. Cochran: Corn was hammered hard at times, but rallied easy just when it seemed about to break. To show how nervous it is, the closing for Oct. was 56½ but the bell had hardly struck when 56½ was bid without an offer. The papers are full of alleged details concerning the Sept. deal, but they are doubtless greatly exaggerated. Oats yielded slowly in sympathy with other markets.

Dupee & McCormick to Drummond & Brown: In spite of the fact that hogs were 5c higher than yesterday provisions opened weak under heavy pressure of September stuff. It looks as if the buils were changing their holdings from September to the later months. There was some good buying for long account during the early part of the seasion, but not enough to correct the weakness in the market.
