

CHAP. II.

The Range from Botany Bay to Trinity Bay; with a farther Account of the Country, its Inhabitants, and Productions Page 91

CHAP. III.

Dangerous Situation of the Ship in her Course from Trinity Bay to Endeavour River - - - - - 127

CHAP. IV.

Transactions while the Ship was refitting in Endeavour River. — A Description of the adjacent Country, its Inhabitants, and Productions - - - - - 139

CHAP. V.

Departure from Endeavour River. — A particular Description of the Harbour there, in which the Ship was refitted, the adjacent Country, and several Islands near the Coast. — The Range from Endeavour River to the Northern Extremity of the Country, and the Dangers of that Navigation - - - 170

CHAP. VI.

Departure from New South Wales. — A particular Description of the Country, its Products and People. — A Specimen of the Language, and some Observations upon the Currents and Tides 202

CHAP. VII.

The Passage from New South Wales to New Guinea, with an Account of what happened upon landing there - - - 228

CHAP. VIII.

The Passage from New Guinea to the Island of Savu, and the Transactions there - - - - - 240

CHAP. IX.

A particular Description of the Island of Savu, its Produce and Inhabitants, with a Specimen of their Language - - - 258

CHAP. X.

The Run from the Island of Savu to Batavia, and an Account of the Transactions there while the Ship was refitting - - - 280