INTERPROVINCIAL TRUCKING SAFETY—
BRAKINGQuestion No. 1,306—Mr. Mather:

What action is being taken at the federal level to ensure safety in performance of interprovincially operated trucks and buses, such as braking performance of commercial vehicles, brake tubing and hose connections, coupling devices and towing methods?

Hon. Paul Hellyer (Minister of Transport): Following discussions with the provinces the federal government is presently considering legislation for the enforcement of safety standards for new motor vehicles, including trucks, and parts manufactured in, or imported into Canada.

The provinces are enforcing safety regulations on trucks and buses operating intra-provincially and extra-provincially. These regulations include safety requirements for braking systems.

HEIGHT OF REAR BUMPERS

Question No. 1,324—Mr. Noble:

Would the government take the necessary action to require all trucks to be equipped with rear bumpers, low enough to prevent cars from going underneath them in a rear-end collision?

Hon. Paul Hellyer (Minister of Transport): The federal government is now considering legislation to enforce safety standards for motor vehicles, including trucks, and parts manufactured in, or imported into Canada. A standard for rear bumper under-ride guards for trucks is now being developed by the United States Department of Transportation. A similar standard would likely be included in safety regulations adopted under the proposed federal legislation for new motor vehicles.
