

SNAP-SHOTS AT VARIOUS SPORTS

Wow! Did you hear those Cubs land yesterday? Those poor white feet coverings were walloped unmercifully. Such is life—baseball life. One day it is milk and honey, and the next day it is—snowballs.

Jabez White, the English lightweight, has reconsidered his recent announcement to the effect that he would come over to American and Canadian shores to do battle in the squared arena.

George Stone is the champion batsman of ballroom. His tidy figure of 353 for 154 games will not be equaled by the leading slugger in the National League by many points. Thus a youngster whom Jimmy Collins turned down, leads the John-M body for the first time since it was founded, Lajoie and Deleahanty were the leaders other years. The peerless Larry batted hard enough to easily win the crown in the National League, but Stone's wonderful hitting form was too much for the veteran Nap. Thirteen batters are above the 300 mark. Six of this number, Stone, Clark, Congalton, Cobb, Chase and Chalmers may be rated as youngsters. The rest are veterans. Larry made more hits than Stone and was oftener at bat, although he played in two less games than the new champion. The summary finds three Yankees, four Naps, one St. Louis, two Detroit, one Philadelphia and one Boston player above the margin. Looking down the list appears Willie Keeler, with the lowest mark of his big league career. He 'hit 'em where they ain't' only at a .293 pace. Keeler has hit for a grand batting average of .361 for his last ten years on the diamond.

The White Sox wore new uniforms in the first contest. They will probably don their old togs again now that they were massacred yesterday.

According to the Toronto papers there is liable to be some trouble in selecting officials for next Saturday's lacrosse test between the Capitals and the Tecumsehs. After carefully perusing the accounts of last Saturday's game, we respectfully suggest the names of the following: Tim Hurst, Eddie Graney and George Siler.

The rumors which have been floating around to the effect that there would be no ice rinks in London this winter, and consequently no hockey games, were effectually vetoed last night, when the management of the Jubilee Rink informed the writer that, weather permitting, there would be ice at the rink on or about Christmas.

Sam Berger and Al Kaufman, the rival California heavies, have signed articles of agreement for a 20-round punch picnic on Oct. 31. Were dope to be relied on, Berger could whip "Big Al" in easy fashion; however, the man who bets on a scrapper on the strength of the comparative forms shown by two fighters when up against the same opponent generally comes in at the wrong end of the horn. Jack O'Brien whipped Kaufman, and Berger had the better of the "Jumping Jack"—at least so the New York papers claimed. The Philadelphia (O'Brien's home town) scribes said the go was a draw.

Form is a mighty poor thing to lean against, especially in regard to fighters. When Frank Erne, of Buffalo, who held the lightweight title for years, was in his prime, Martin Flaherty, one of the greatest in-and-out scrappers of his day, went to Buffalo and whipped the Bison City idol to a standstill in 20 rounds. On form, Erne should have punched 40 different kinds of holes through the New Englander.

The Ramblers rambled against the current last night and dropped a pair of glasses to the Orientals from Citytenpinleagueville.

Clipper, Dr. Wood's game horse, won yesterday at Ingersoll. Keep pestering, "Doc."

The Horse World says: Mr. Alex Darrach, St. Thomas, Ont., has some of the best bred young trotters in the Dominion of Canada. In the lot is the 2-year-old brown colt by Margrave, 2:15½, dam Moorish Damsel, by Stamboul; also some nice spring foals by the young sire, King Melrose, by Margrave, dam Melrose, by George Wilks, out of high-bred dams.

Picton, Ont., will be in the ice racing circuit this winter, as usual. Capt. B. R. Hepburn has a couple of crack winter racing prospects in Bob Medium and Alf. There are several racers in this beautiful little city which will be heard from down the line when the bell tingles for the ice racing circuit.

Everybody down the Canadian racing pike knows General Phil Davey, of Toronto. He formerly owned Helen R., 2:08½, and other swift steppers. During the past season Mr. Davey has been in poor health, but is rapidly improving, which is gratifying indeed to his many friends.

Mr. Russell McGirr, a star reinsman of Meaford, Ont., is preparing a stable of good ones for the ice races next winter. The bay horse Red Top, bred by Sphinx, dam by Onward, will be entered in the slow stake events and is bred well enough to be in the money division. Mr. McGirr is one of the most popular young drivers in Canada and his many friends wish him success.

There was a slightly better turnout of football players for practice with the Forest City team last night at the quelling grounds, corner of Fall Mall and Richmond streets. Get together, knights of the pigskin. Help the boys along all you can. Past performances count for little; encouragement and support will do wonders for a team. A team without support is like a house without a foundation—it falls flat.

The impossible has happened. Penn's mighty line-up was punctured for a touchdown by little Franklin Marshall. Of course Penn won, but the fact that the smaller college team even scored on its mighty opponents should offer some encouragement to the small fry.

Another post-series struggle today. Can you pick the winner? SOUTHPAW.

GLOVER WELL UP AT CLINTON SHOOT

Clinton, Oct. 10.—The second day of the Clinton gun tournament opened under the most unfavorable conditions possible. Over six inches of snow fell during the night, and at 9 o'clock, when the shooters put in an appearance, a blinding snowstorm was in progress, and it continued almost all day long. Notwithstanding this, the shooting went on, and some splendid scores were made. In fact, the scores are ahead of last year's scores. Nine events of 20 targets each were completed. Roy Luck of Sarnia, won high average with the score of 187; G. Beattie, Hamilton, second, 184; A. Day, London, third, 163; Galbraith, Ridgeway, and Glover, London, next high. The scores follow:

DAN STEWART TOOK CHAMPION'S TEN SPOT

Dan Stewart, of the Windsor fire department, formerly of this city, is a swift one on roller skates, as he thoroughly emphasized the fact at the Washington boulevard roller skating rink in Detroit Monday night. Dan heard that a fellow who claimed the roller skating championship of Michigan was offering $10 in gold to the person who would beat him. Dan resolved to "take a whirl at him and his ten dollars," as he expressed it.

The race constituted a mile, being seventeen laps on the rink track. It was nip and tuck for the first half, but Stewart had it all the way in the latter half, defeating the champion of Michigan over two laps and one-half.

The champion of Michigan was very sore and did not take his defeat gracefully. His manager appeared to feel more badly about it than the champion and was heard to exclaim that "you ought to know better than to rub up against a Canadian." They can defeat us on ice and they can do it on roller skates.

FOOTBALL

MIDDLES MOTHER MARYLAND. Annapolis, Md., Oct. 10.—The naval academy football team this afternoon defeated the Maryland Agricultural College eleven 12 to 0. The football has been increased by the arrival of Burr Chamberlain of Yale, who coached the midshipmen two years ago.

RAMBLERS FELL BY THE WAYSIDE

Tripped Up for a Pair of Games by Orientals in Tenpin League.

The Ramblers fell by the wayside last night when the Orientals tripped them up for a pair of games in the City Tenpin League struggle. The roaming ones lost the last game by a hair, one pin doing the trick. O'Brien (not Philadelphia Jack) made 202 for high individual effort, and A. Sheere chipped off 183 1-3 for high average.

Cubs Turn Tables on Sox; Wallop Them by 7 to 1

Second Game of World's Series Played With Thermometer Near Freezing Point.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—With the thermometer marking just five points above the freezing figure—the official dope at 2 o'clock showed 38 degrees—with the players protesting and 12,595 reckless rooters looking on, indifferent to whether they played or protested as long as they hurried it to a finish, the Cubs turned the tables on the White Sox this afternoon, making it an even break in the world's championship series to date. The score was 7 to 1, and the victorious team beat the American Leaguers fully as far as those figures indicate. Commy's boys performed in just about as impressive a manner as a ball club should perform when it is taking the play from the ice carnival. The National Leaguers, on the other hand, could not have worked much more smoothly if Fourth of July were had been on tap.

It was yesterday reversed, with one single exception, where the Cubs looked bad in the opener—behind the bat, that is—the Sox were frightfully weak today. Sullivan's throwing being all to the credit of the infield, a tower of strength on Tuesday, and the whole team showed a lack of ability to bat when hits would start something. The Cubs, on the other hand, shone where the Sox had floundered the day earlier. The infield was brilliant, and Kling caught a swell game. Also, support at the time the Sunday supplement occurred, the psychological moment.

Miss Davis Very Much. In just one point there wasn't any reversing. Isbell was just as shaky as he was on Tuesday, and as stated his side over the hills to the porches. Without George Davis he is a dead one. The infield needs its leader badly now. Unless Davis can come back the American cause looks bad. To an outsider it looked as if a mistake was made in sending Doc White after the Cubs. They had seen him handed pitching yesterday, and a change was advisable. Moreover, it was exactly the sort of weather in which a man recovering from sickness should not be working. The doctor was far from himself, and could not have won with perfect success, which, by the way, he did not get. He retired after three innings, and four runs were chalked against him. Frank Sullivan succeeded him. They marked three tallies against the Ypsilanti boy. Sullivan's wretched work was responsible, directly or indirectly, for each of the trio.

With the exception of one point, that's the game summed up. The single point is Reulbach's pitching. On this is a question whether to give the twirler great credit or to flail the Sox for their lack of head work. Reulbach, who, by the way, is a former Detroit boy, is touted as strictly a hot weather pitcher. Figure from today he must be a marvel. On Oct. 7, July. The best the Sox could do with him was to make one clean hit and one suspicious one. Two or three times they had chances to score runs, but one cheap one was the best they could do. Reulbach made them look like bush leaguers in tight places.

Sox Were Too Eager. Reulbach's weakness is his wildness. On this the Sox hopes were balked. The Cub twirler walked five men, hit one and had a wild pitch. Four of his passes opened innings. Yet with this showing of his weakness, the Sox insisted on chasing bad bats, and trying to hit wild ones, who, in meant another walk. They were over-eager and it cost them dearly. Hahn showed his lack of judgment along these lines when, in the sixth, after walking, he was pegged out at second, trying to steal a base when his side needed four runs to tie. The Sox played bad ball, and the Cubs deserved to win.

On Tuesday, when the Cubs failed to find Altrick, the experts wondered why they did not begin bunting at Reulbach and the pitcher. Apparently Chance thought of this last night, for he bused his boys at the stunt today, after the top of his list had made a fruitless effort to flail White's curves. And, on well-supplied buntation, mixed with lacy idiosyncrasies, the Nation-

THREE CHAMPIONS DOWN AND OUT

Second Round of Woman's Golf Match Was Rough on Title-Holders.

West Newton, Mass., Oct. 10.—It was a day of blasted hopes for three women golf champions in the national event at the Brae Burn Club today. Miss Pauline Mackay, the present holder; Miss Georgianna Bishop, the winner of the 1904 tournament, and Miss Frances C. Osgood, the eastern champion, were all dropped in the second round of match play today, and by players who are generally regarded as the best in the game.

One former champion, Miss Frances Griscom, of Philadelphia, withstood the ordeal, and will meet Miss Mary B. Adams, of Boston, tomorrow in what is thought will be one of the best matches of the week.

Both Miss Mackay and Miss Bishop were beaten on the putting greens. Mrs. Morgan, in her contest with Miss Mackay, was erratic in her long game, but once on the green she ran down the hole. Miss Mackay played with her usual steadiness throughout the contest, and made the 17 holes that were played in two strokes better than her opponent.

White stayed another inning. One silly run scored on him in the third. Chance forced Schulte, who had passed ball, continued to third when Sullivan's throw went through Isbell, and scored on Steinfield's rap to Dougherty.

Owen began business in the fourth. He walked Tinker, and Kling hit for a short double. But Reulbach was sent home. Sullivan's throw went through Isbell, and scored on Steinfield's rap to Dougherty. For three innings for Sox. he of a pass, made first. The fourth was opened by Jones' scratch double in right. Isbell's out put him at third, he was doubled at the plate when he tried to score on Rohe's fly to Sheppard. In the fifth Donohue walked, and Dougherty forced him. Sullivan fouled. A wild pitch put Pat down and he scored by getting in front of Tannehill's grounder, blocking Tinker's view, so that the shortstop let the ball go through him to left field.

Hahn walked in the sixth and died stealing. Rohe opened the seventh with a stroll, and Donohue followed with the one bona fide hit that the Sox got. But the next three were reached in order by the careful Reulbach. He walked a man in the eighth with two down. In the ninth he hit Rohe and a double play followed. Then he walked Dougherty, and a fly by Sullivan ended the game.

SEE-SAWED HEATS FOR FIRST MONEY

Dr. Wood's Clipper Won the Free-For-All at Ingersoll Yesterday.

Ingersoll, Oct. 10.—The racing here today was strenuous and fast, and was witnessed by a fair crowd in spite of the threatening weather. The free-for-all was a split heat affair and went to Clipper, the London horse, after five heats, being chased out by Madison G. and Gug Rex. The time was fast considering the slow track.

Bon Ton won the 2:50 pace after losing the first heat. The three-minute class was a splendid race. Summary: Clipper, Dr. Wood London... 1 2 1 2 1 Madison G. (Hobson)... 2 3 1 2 3 Guy Rex, H. ARMOUR MAY GET FRANCHISE. Toledo, O., Oct. 10.—Every indication at this time points to the fact that before twenty-four hours the controlling interest in the Toledo baseball club will be the property of Bill Armour, of Detroit, or at least in the hands of financiers he represents. Garry Herman, of Cincinnati, who controls the team, gave Armour an option some days ago, which fact just leaked out. This afternoon Armour came over to Toledo and had a conference with some officers of the Toledo Exposition Club, which owns the franchise. The company's directors are free to admit that the deal seems likely to be closed, but say that it will not be completed before today. It is pretty certain that with the closing of the deal Grillo severs his connection with the team.

QUEEN OF CLUBS OUT OF THE MONEY

Fifth in Pace at Lexington—Nut Boy Takes $3,000 Trotting Event.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 10.—During a snowstorm at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' course, Nut Boy, the champion aged trotter of the year, won the famous Walnut Hall Farm cup today. Miss Lotta Crabtree, his owner, was present to receive the cup.

Nut Boy had no trouble in winning this event in straight heats. At no time did the other horses in the race make him extend himself. He took the lead in each heat and retained it, winning as he pleased. Turley, driven by E. F. Geers, won the McDowell stake for 2:08 trotters after losing the first heat. Turley had no trouble in winning the next three heats.

Lucille Marlowe won the Lexington Kentucky Todd, the crack two-year-old of the year. Talpa won the 2:14 class trot, after contesting seven heats with Betty (Childs), Charlie T. J. J. M. Jun., and others. This race was the best of the day from a spectacular standpoint, as each heat drew close and exciting finishes.

TIGERS EAT 'EM ALIVE. Princeton, N. J., Oct. 10.—Although without the services of Capt. McCormick, Princeton overwhelmed Lehigh today by the score of 62 to 0. Princeton played poorly in the first half and fumbled frequently, but in the second half they made a furious attack on the visitors and scored six touchdowns, from which Cooney kicked all the goals. The Tigers' gains were made chiefly by long end runs, the scrimmages between ends, and tackles. At Annapolis, Md.—Naval Academy defeated the Maryland Agricultural College 13 to 0. At Providence—Brown 17, Massachusetts Agricultural 0.
