

were near? As God heareth prayer, we hope more efforts will be used to spread the Redeemer's Kingdom.

The loan of tracts from door to door has been through the blessing of God, productive of much good, we therefore ask our friends if there are not fields of usefulness around you in some localities and if you ought not to enter them? The enemies of religion have often been active in spreading the poison of immorality, and infidelity; try to counteract the leaven of evil by carrying the doctrines of the gospel.

We approve of the exertions of many of our people in connection with our Sabbath Schools and sigh to see such more general. We urge all engaged in the work to aim at the spiritual good of the children. Would it not be well to urge the childrens' attendance at Public Worship on the Lord's day? We desire to address all who are heads of families, and beg that you who have servants will pay strict attention to their spiritual instruction. Give them proper opportunities for attendance on the Worship of God—reading the scriptures and other duties. Your servants and children, should be viewed as under your care, and you feel yourselves bound to labour for their eternal welfare. Daily read the Scriptures and pray with them. A plan of catechetical instruction pursued in a family might be very beneficial. See that they attend the public worship of God with you. A well ordered family together in God's house is one of the most pleasing sights under heaven. It is of importance to train our families in habits of regular attendance on public worship.

As a number of our members are, and may be, a valuable part of the community, in the station of servants, we advise you, as well as heads of families to take a scriptural view of your duty. You can be useful. Paul said to Philemon, "but now profitable to thee and me." If any of you are with ungodly masters, live religiously before them, and at all times be faithful and show yourselves worthy of trust.

Our Conference is now about closed. Our meeting has been profitable; we are about to separate from each other to come to you. It may be to see some of you suffer and die—to see families in affliction and bereavement. It may be to die with you. Our bodies may ere long rest in your grave-yards; be this as it may, we trust while we live we shall continue to pray for an outpouring of God's spirit, and revival of his work; and together may we see God's work prosper. Amen.
