The Harvard Crew and Cambridge Crew on the Thames River

HARVARD-CAMBRIDGE RACE

English and American Oarsmen in Exciting Race on Thames

Race Will Probably Decide Superiority of English or American Style of Rowing --- Cambridge was Slight Favorite Before the Contest.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The newspapers this morning devote many columns to the Harvard-Cambridge boat race, giving their readers all the information possible...

The race was brought about by the efforts of R. C. Lehman, a member of parliament, who acted as instructor to the Harvard crew for two years, his last visit to Harvard being in 1888.

The difference in weight between the two boats is 105 pounds in favor of the Harvard shell.

The following are the latest weights, that of the Americans being stripped, and that of the Englishmen in rowing costume:

Table with 2 columns: Name and Weight. Includes names like Row-R. M. Tappan, No. 2-S. M. Nash, etc.

The race between Harvard and Cambridge today, over the famous old Putney Mortlake course on the Thames, a narrow, winding waterway, four and three-eighths miles in length, was the first dual inter-collegiate race rowed between English and American crews in thirty-seven years.

In 1869 Harvard sent a four to Putney to meet Oxford in a dual contest. The English crew was victorious by nearly four lengths. Today's race was the first between British and American university eight and apparently has opened the way for many similar contests in the future.

Interest in the rowing event has been heightened by the fact that Harvard's crew earned a decisive victory over Yale at New London in June last, while Cambridge was this year's winner of the race with Oxford.

BRUTAL ATTEMPT AT MURDER
VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 8.—(Special.)—Goaded to madness by continual teasing, William McLaren, a section worker on the Canadian Pacific, near Albergo, attempted to murder Foreman Albert Dow, stabbing the latter nine times with a pocket knife.

THE ELECTION OF THE "BLACK POPE"

Rev. Fr. Wernz a German Was Chosen as Head of Jesuit Order Today--No Crowned Sovereign Wields More Power Than He--History of the Order

ROME, Sept. 8.—Francis Xavier Wernz, a German, was today elected general of the society by the congregation of the company of Jesus, in succession to the late Father Martin, who died last May.

Following the election, a messenger was immediately dispatched to the Vatican to inform the pope of the choice, which, to become effective, requires the papal sanction.

(New York Evening Post.) The most important religious event of the present moment, and one of the most significant to be recorded during the year, is the election of a new head of the Jesuit order, which will take place in Rome some time during this week.

There are many reasons why the Catholic world should watch expectantly the gathering in the German College, which is the point from where the whole order is ruled and directed.

The present Pope does not seem to have sought or followed the advice of the chief militant body of the church to the same extent as his immediate predecessors, and to this fact many people ascribe the recent vacillating attitude assumed by the Holy See toward several of the most important problems of the day, and notably toward the crisis in France.

There is no reigning monarch who holds powers so far-reaching as those entrusted to the Jesuit general. He is subordinate to none but the Pope, as has been pointed out already. Every member of the order is bound to obey his slightest word implicitly and unquestioningly.

The orphans of the various institutions have been invited by the management to the single carriage horses for a prize of a piece of silver plate will commence a parade of the prize winners in the largest hall of the exhibition at 10 o'clock, and from 2 to 4 p. m. the Boston Ladies' Orchestra will give their first performance in Industrial Hall.

Thieves entered A. H. Hanington's garden on Sydney street, between Saturday and Monday last, and took away the croquet set, as well as destroying some fine dahlias and rose bushes. The police have the matter in hand.

An important meeting of the Marathon A. A. Association will be held in the Canada Permanent building on Monday evening at 8 p. m. All members are requested to attend.

HIRAM AT THE FAIR. Mr. Hiram Hornbeam had the time of his life on the Pike last evening. He visited the merry-go-round with Senator Ellis, looked in the laughing mirrors with Mr. Parley, M. P., had his picture taken in an auto with Mayor Sears, ate dulse with Ald. Willet, and told Ald. Tilly how to get rid of the rats that had gnawed holes in the door of the ladies' cabin on the Leeward.

Not that Hiram is parsimonious—or too much given to thrift. But the less he spends the more he has to show off this evening.

All the indications this morning pointed to a large crowd being present at the exhibition today. This is children's day, and it is expected that the little people will turn out in large numbers.

The children started going to the building at an early hour and prospects looked good for a record breaking attendance.

members of the newspaper profession will assemble at the press room a few moments before the supper.

THE HARBOR RACES. This afternoon there will be two boat races on the harbor. At 2.30 W. J. Coates and Hilton Belyea will row for the harbor championship, and at three the motor boat race will be held.

ATTENDANCE WAS GOOD. Although yesterday promised very well in the early part of the day, yet later it clouded over and those who predicted that the attendance at the fair would be comparatively small, felt sure they were right.

The shooting gallery was exceedingly attractive to many of the visitors, and the proprietor of the booth played the part of the averaging angel by handing out to the successful ones a cigar that almost made the recipient wish he had tempered his accuracy with mercy.

HE WAS HARD UP. The "Cat Man" at the exhibition had a very busy time yesterday, due to the fact that he was not quite square with the world. He came here from Moncton but forgot to straighten things out before he left.

MANAGER MULLIGAN TALKS. C. J. Milligan, general manager of the exhibition, wore a genial smile when a Times representative approached to solicit his views on the success of the fair to date.

Are you satisfied? said the Times man. I am well satisfied with the Industrial buildings, said Mr. Milligan, and I feel that if we can beat the industrial show at the next exhibition we will have indeed done well.

One thing I am not satisfied with and that is the way in which the season tickets have been switched on us. When the directors decided to issue books of thirteen tickets for one dollar each it was with the understanding that these tickets were not transferable and were good only for the persons to whom they were issued.

Mrs. Rodney McLeod, of Roxbury, Mass., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. G. B. Colwell, left on the Boston train yesterday morning for her home.

ONE GIRL STOLE FROM OTHER. Fifteen year old Mabel Cameron was in court today charged with stealing a watch, a bracelet and fancy waist from Clara McCarthy, aged 14, and daughter of the late John Callahan McCarthy.

The little McCarthy girl said she had been living with Mr. Cooper, 47 Sewell street, and the Cameron girl, who had been employed in one of the laundries where Mr. Cooper was also working, came to the house several weeks ago and remained there only a short time. They occupied the same room, and it was at the Cameron girl left that she had mislaid the articles referred to.

Mabel Cameron admitted her guilt, and his honor, after asking her a few questions, asked her if she would take a place in a Church of England family (her denomination) if procured for her.

The matter was allowed to stand for the present. The stolen articles were recovered. Detective Kill-

POLICE COURT

A pair of drunks faced the police magistrates at this morning's session of the court, and at his hands received punishment for their misdeeds.
